Education And Values In Developing Nations:

Technical Education and Vocational Training in Developing Nations Okolie, Ugochukwu Chinonso, Yasin, Asfa M., 2017-01-31 Severe economic depression and the difficulty to acquire employment with adequate income have significant impact on a nation's social welfare. The need to provide ample educational opportunities is more imperative than ever particularly in emerging economies. Technical Education and Vocational Training in Developing Nations is a comprehensive reference source for the latest literature on optimizing the implementation of curriculum development and instructional design strategies for technical and vocational education. Featuring innovative coverage across a range of relevant topics such as curriculum deficiency, teacher competencies and accessible learning, this book is ideally designed for policy makers, academicians, researchers, advanced level students, technology developers and educators interested in the improvement of professional learning programs. Education and Values in Developing Nations John Oxenham, 1989

Education and Individual Modernity in Developing Countries Inkeles, Holsinger, 2022-03-28 The Progressive Education Fallacy in Developing Countries Gerard Guthrie, 2011-06-23 This book provides a provocative but carefully argued addition to the theory and practice of education in developing countries. The book provides an ethical and empirical justification for support of formalistic teaching in primary and secondary schools in developing countries. It also refutes the application of progressive education principles to curriculum and pre and in service teacher education in such contexts. The central focus of this book is the formalistic teaching prevalent in the classrooms of many developing countries. Formalistic teacher centred traditional didactic pedagogic teaching is appropriate in the many countries with revelatory epistemologies, unpopular and old fashioned though these methods may seem in some western especially Anglophone ones. Formalism has been the object of many failed progressive curriculum and teacher education reforms in developing countries for some 50 years.

Reforming Education in Developing Countries Izhar Oplatka, 2018-11-12 Underpinned in the stream of thought named communitarianism, Reforming Education in Developing Countries argues that developing countries need educational reforms that are tightly entwined into their cultural, social and organizational contexts. It questions the applicability of neoliberal reforms in developing societies through an analysis of the main elements of neoliberalism in education. It highlights the critical role of the community and suggests new and alternative lines of thought for the practice of reform initiation and implementation in developing countries. The book criticizes major neoliberal ideas in education, illuminates the distinctions between current neoliberal reforms and the characteristics of traditional societies, analyzes major educational ideologies in the developed world and emphasizes the key role of local communities in this world. It proposes a dynamic model of reforming education in these countries that includes three major phases and integrates both modern and traditional indigenous educational purposes and values. Evocative ponderings are outlined throughout the book to promote critical thinking and reframing of educators' views towards educational reform and change. This book will be of great interest to researchers and students in the fields of educational leadership educational policy educational change comparative education political science and sociology It will also appeal to educators supervisors and policymakers

Education Strategy in the Developing World Christopher S. Collins, Alexander W. Wiseman, 2012-03-06 Following the development of a Concept Note for the World Bank Education Strategy 2020 the World Bank engaged in a series of activities to garner feedback about the strategy In early 2011 a revised strategy was published Learning for All Investing in People's Knowledge and Skills to Promote Development This title deals with this topic

Capacity Building for IT in Education in Developing Countries Gail Marshall, Mikko Ruohonen, 2013-03-14 Deryn Watson CapBIT 97 Capacity Building for Information Technologies in Education in Developing Countries from which this publication derives was an invited IFIP working conference sponsored by Working Groups in secondary WG 3 1 elementary WG 3 5 and vocational and professional WG 3 4 education under the auspices of IFIP Technical Committee for Education TC3 The conference was held in Harare Zimbabwe 25th 29th August 1997 CapBIT 97 was the first time that the IFIP Technical Committee for Education had held a conference in a developing country When the Computer Society of Zimbabwe offered to host the event we determined that the location and conference topic reflect the importance of issues facing countries at all stages of development especially Information Technologies IT development Information Technologies have become within a short time one of the basic building blocks of modern industrial society Understanding IT and mastering basic skills and concepts of IT are now regarded as part of the core education of all people around the world alongside reading and writing IT now permeates the business environment and underpins the success of modern corporations as well as providing government with cost effective civil service systems At the same time the tools and technologies of IT are of value in the process of learning and in the organisation and management of learning institutions

International Copyright Law and Access to Education in Developing Countries Susan Štrba, 2012-08-22 In International Copyright Law and Access to Education in Developing Countries Exploring Multilateral Legal and Quasi Legal Solutions Susan Štrba demonstrates the challenge of access to printed copyrighted educational and research materials in developing countries and proposes institutional and normative solutions at national and international levels

Women's Education in Developing Countries Elizabeth M. King, M. Anne Hill, 1997-07-01 Why do women in most developing countries lag behind men in literacy Why do women get less schooling than men This anthology examines the educational decisions that deprive women of an equal education It assembles the most up to date data organized by region Each paper links the data with other measures of economic and social development This approach helps explain the effects different levels of education have on women's fertility mortality rates life expectancy and income Also described are the effects of women's education on family welfare The authors look at family size and women's labor status and earnings They examine child and maternal health as well as investments in children's education Their investigation demonstrates that women with a better education enjoy greater economic growth and provide a more nurturing family life It suggests that when a country denies women an equal education the nation's welfare suffers Current strategies used to improve schooling for girls and women are examined in detail The authors suggest an ambitious agenda for educating women It seeks to close the gender gap by the next century Published for The World Bank by The Johns Hopkins University Press      Perspectives on Global Development 2013
