New Directions in Educational Leadership Theory Scott Eacott, Colin Evers, 2018-02-02 Educational leadership has a rich history of epistemological debate From the Theory Movement of the 1950 1960s through to Greenfield's critique of logical empiricism in the 1970s the emergence of Bates and Foster's Critical Theory of educational administration in the 1980s and Evers and Lakomski's naturalistic coherentism from 1990 to the present time debates about ways of knowing doing and being in the social world have been central to advancing scholarship. However, since the publication of Evers and Lakomski's work, questions of the epistemological preliminaries of research have become somewhat marginalised. This is not to suggest that such discussions are not taking place but rather that they have been sporadic and piecemeal. In New Directions in Educational Leadership Theory the contributors sketch possible alternatives for advancing scholarship in educational leadership. The coherence of this volume comes not from the adoption of a single theoretical lens but rather from its engagement with epistemology, ontology and methodology. The choice of the plural alternatives is deliberate and its use is to evoke the message that there is more than one way to advance knowledge. The approaches adopted across this collection offer fruitful directions for the field and hopefully will stimulate substantive dialogue and debate in the interest of advancing knowledge. This book was originally published as a special issue of Educational Philosophy and Theory.

International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Administration Kenneth A. Leithwood, Judith Chapman, P. Corson, P. Hallinger, Ann Hart, 2012-12-06

EDITORS This introduction to the International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Administration describes some of the motivation for developing the book and several assumptions on which is based much of the work represented in its 31 chapters. A synopsis of the contents of those chapters is also provided.

SOME KEY ASSUMPTIONS It is sometimes suggested that the search for an adequate understanding of leadership is doomed to fail. After all, there is little evidence of agreement about the concept in spite of prodigious efforts dating back hundreds if not thousands of years. Such a view is captured for example in Bennis' observation that 'Of all the hazy and confounding areas in social psychology, leadership theory undoubtedly contends for top nomination. Probably more has been written and less is known about leadership than any other topic in the behavioural sciences' (1959, page 259). We do not find this state of affairs discouraging nor entirely accurate and of course it did not prevent Bennis from proceeding either. One reason for our desire to continue in the face of such discouraging words is that a great deal of leadership research aspires to develop a general theory, a theory which applies to all or most domains of organized human activity. This aspiration inevitably produces decontextualized and therefore abstract categories of practice.

Howard Gardner's 1995 depiction of leadership as story telling is a case in point.

Educational Administration Judith Chapman, 2020-08-04

Both the theory and practice of educational administration have undergone major changes in recent years. There is now more theoretical diversity in the field than at any other time, with influences from traditional and post-positivist science, subjectivism, ethics, critical theory and cultural studies. Similarly, social, political and economic factors have brought about new approaches to practice. Schools administration in particular is increasingly being dominated by decentralization and pressures for accountability on curriculum and educational outcomes. Educational Administration is the first Australian text to offer a comprehensive survey of theory, context and practice. It includes chapters from leading Australian scholars such as Richard Bates, Hedley Beare of leadership as a practice and what it can and should be offering a pedagogical and praxis informed approach to educational practice Drawing on research conducted at various Australian schools and education districts it argues for a reframing of educational leadership as pedagogical practice praxis to transform theorising and practice in the field The book provides a rich account of educational leading through a practice lens bringing into dialogue the theory of practice architectures with site ontologies Bourdieu s thinking tools and feminist critical scholarship The book tracks the practices and praxis of educational leaders as they grapple with the changing landscape and forces of educational policies that have informed Australian education It reimagines education leadership by integrating Continental and Northern European understandings of pedagogy and praxis as being morally and ethically informed as opposed to the narrower Anglophone notions of pedagogy as teaching and learning The book adds to the body of knowledge on the actual work of leadership as a distinct set of practices that is morally and ethically informed Readers will find a more holistic understanding of educational leadership practice and praxis based on the everyday accounts of educational leaders teachers and students in schools and education districts

A Socially Critical View Of The Self-Managing School John Smyth,2005-09-21 The shift from the model of central government educational control to school based management has been widely adopted and acclaimed and has created the general impression of increased democracy and participation The international contributors to this book tackle this important policy issue and look behind the scenes of the moves towards school self management They investigate the phenomenon of the self managing school Why It Is Happening Now What Is The Truth Behind This Notion And The problems which lie behind devolution and self management The self managing school it is claimed is not about grassroots democracy or parent participation but absolutely the reverse and this contradiction is best understood in terms of the ideology of the New Right Enlightened and informed perspectives of the reality behind school self management suggest that the devolution of power is only superficial Hierarchies continue to exist as unequally funded schools which perpetuate class gender and ethnic divisions The mechanism involved promotes the Survival Of The Fittest Through Notions Of Choice For Those Involved in school management and education generally this book should provide a useful insight into the struggle surrounding the control of schooling
