The book uses rare archival photographs and sources to chronicle how the Nazis used these mythological foundations to develop Nazism as a political religion. While BLACK SUN documents the nationalist mystical beliefs that infused National Socialism, the book also reveals the disturbing perpetuation of these beliefs among certain political groups today in Germany and worldwide, reflecting an ongoing search for salvation, inspiration, and messianic leaders. This eye-popping expose juxtaposes the polarization in German national history between an obsession with capturing light in all its symbolic uses in order to battle the darkness of the Others. The final lesson that Black Sun implies and what makes it a provocative and interesting book for a number of audiences, whether scholars and students of history or iconography, is the danger of not knowing one's own history. In this sense, the title signals not only the recurrent theme of evil throughout history but also the need to shed light upon all its manifestations.

Italy in Early American Cinema Giorgio Bertellini, 2010. Giorgio Bertellini traces the origins of American cinema's century-long fascination with Italy and Italian immigrants to the popularity of the pre-photographic aesthetic, the picturesque. Once associated with landscape painting in northern Europe, the picturesque came to symbolize Mediterranean Europe through comforting views of distant landscapes and exotic characters. Taking its cue from a picturesque stage backdrop from The Godfather Part II, Italy in Early American Cinema shows how this aesthetic was transferred from 19th-century American painters to early 20th-century American filmmakers. Italy in Early American Cinema offers readings of early films that pay close attention to how landscape representations that were related to narrative settings and filmmaking locations conveyed distinct ideas about racial difference and national destiny.

Directory of American Scholars Xerox Education Publications, 1978. Jeanne Laraguay Eugénie Hamerton, 1864. American Theatre: A Chronicle of Comedy and Drama 1914-1930 Gerald Bordman, 1995. The American Theatre series discusses every Broadway production chronologically, show by show and season by season. It offers plot summaries, production details, names of leading actors and actresses, the roles they played, as well as any special or unusual aspects of individual shows. This second volume in the series covers what is probably the richest period in American theater, the years 1914 through 1930. Bordman includes most of Eugene O'Neill's work along with playwrights as diverse as Elmer Rice and George Kaufman. Among the era's stars, one finds John and Ethel Barrymore, Helen Hayes, Katherine Cornell, and Lynn Fontaine, and Alfred Lunt. Considering the sheer number of productions, American theater climbed to its all-time high in the 1920s; by mid-decade, nearly 300 new plays appeared on Broadway each year. America saw more theatrical activity in every sense of the word than any time before or since.
