Education from the Multi-level Perspective J. K. Oosthoek, Pieter van den Eeden, 1984 The effects of the learning environment and its effects on students      The Multilevel Design Harry Jm Huttner, Pieter van den Eeden, 1995-01-30 In the social sciences phenomena tend to be hierarchically structured so that individuals belong to groups and groups belong to larger organizations and societies Multilevel research stresses this hierarchical structure of social life and necessarily assumes the existence of a particular organization of the procedures of investigation This organization which is fundamental to the research is called a research design Because the research is hierarchical it uses a multilevel design This book provides a detailed overview of the theoretical and methodological aspects of multilevel research based on the multilevel definition of social structure Six chapters discuss the foundations of multilevel research and the applications of its research in the social sciences An annotated bibliography follows which is divided into eight sections on theoretical and methodological issues and on applications of multilevel research Included are books and articles published from 1980 through 1993      Learning Environments Jules M. Pieters, Klaus Breuer, P. Robert-Jan Simons, 2012-12-06 In view of the present attempts to broaden the scope of educational research as far as learning is concerned there has been increased interest in the functional environment of the learner Since this environment includes psychological pedagogical sociological and even cultural anthropological variables the term learning environment is more often used Traditionally this environment has consisted of the teacher and students in a situation similar to the real context for instance in an apprenticeship Although the apprenticeship form of learning has almost disappeared in Western educational systems its characteristics can now be designed within intelligent learning environments that have the computation and storage capacity of modern technological innovations The different perspectives regarding learning environments have been bundled into this book in an overview of Dutch and German research These perspectives pertain to various system levels learning activities class room and school and to various disciplinary views pedagogical psychological sociological      Methodology for Multilevel Modeling in Educational Research Myint Swe Khine, 2022-04-10 This edited volume documents attempts to conduct systematic and prodigious research using multilevel analysis in educational settings and present their findings and identify future research directions It showcases the versatility of multilevel analysis and elucidates the unique advantages in examining complex and wide ranging educational issues This book brings together leading experts around the world to share their works in the field highlighting recent advances creative and unique approaches and innovative methods using multilevel modeling and theoretical and practical aspects of multilevel analysis in culturally and linguistically diverse educational contexts      Early Parenting and Later Child Achievement Arnold Honig, 1991-02-04      Optimizing Early Child Care and Education Alice S. Honig, 1990 Quality preschool programs to serve the needs of dual career families and of youngsters at risk need to be recorded and disseminated This collection does just that A wide variety of successful intervention prevention and remediation programs for young children is described in a collection of research reports that are aimed at a more general audience such as teachers and practitioners who will want to know about the research foundations and techniques and the program materials that they use The researchers represent a variety of cultural backgrounds including England France and the USA Work in training intervenors and in implementing a wide variety of programmatic modes is presented Some of the research reports present programs others introduce new ideas in little known programs

An Introduction to Multilevel Modeling Techniques Ronald H. Heck, Scott L. Thomas, 2015-03-05 Univariate and multivariate multilevel models are used to understand how to design studies and analyze data in this comprehensive text distinguished by its variety of applications from the educational behavioral and social sciences Basic and advanced models are developed from the multilevel regression MLM and latent variable SEM traditions within one unified analytic framework for investigating hierarchical data The authors provide examples using each modeling approach and also explore situations where alternative approaches may be more appropriate given the research goals Numerous examples and exercises allow readers to test their understanding of the techniques presented Changes to the new edition include The use of Mplus 7.2 for running the analyses including the input and data files at www.routledge.com/9781848725522 Expanded discussion of MLM and SEM model building that outlines the steps taken in the process the relevant Mplus syntax and tips on how to evaluate the models Expanded pedagogical program now with chapter objectives boldfaced key terms a glossary and more tables and graphs to help students better understand key concepts and techniques Numerous varied examples developed throughout which make this book appropriate for use in education psychology business sociology and the health sciences Expanded coverage of missing data problems in MLM using ML estimation and multiple imputation to provide currently accepted solutions Ch 10 New chapter on three level univariate and multilevel multivariate MLM models provides greater options for investigating more complex theoretical relationships Ch 4 New chapter on MLM and SEM models with categorical outcomes facilitates the specification of multilevel models with observed and latent outcomes Ch 8 New chapter on multilevel and longitudinal mixture models provides readers with options for identifying emergent groups in hierarchical data Ch 9 New chapter on the utilization of sample weights power analysis and missing data provides guidance on technical issues of increasing concern for research publication Ch 10 Ideal as a text for graduate courses on multilevel longitudinal latent variable modeling multivariate statistics or advanced quantitative techniques taught in psychology business education health and sociology this book's practical approach also appeals to researchers Recommended prerequisites are introductory univariate and multivariate statistics

Journal for Research in Mathematics Education, 1992      Multilevel Analysis Joop J. Hox, Mirjam Moerbeek, Rens van de Schoot, 2010-09-13 This practical introduction helps readers apply multilevel techniques to their research Noted as an accessible introduction the book also includes advanced extensions making it useful as both an introduction and as a reference to students researchers and methodologists Basic models and examples are discussed in non technical terms with an emphasis on understanding the methodological and statistical issues involved in using these models The estimation and interpretation of multilevel models is demonstrated using realistic examples from various disciplines For example readers will find data sets on stress in hospitals GPA scores survey responses street safety epilepsy divorce and sociometric scores to name a few The data sets are available on the website in SPSS HLM MLwiN LISREL and or Mplus files Readers are introduced to both the multilevel regression model and multilevel structural models Highlights of the second edition include Two new chapters one on multilevel models for ordinal and count data Ch 7 and another on multilevel survival analysis Ch 8 Thoroughly updated chapters on multilevel structural equation modeling that reflect the enormous technical progress of the last few years The addition of some simpler examples to help the novice whilst the more complex examples that combine more than one problem have been retained A new section on multivariate meta analysis Ch 11 Expanded discussions of covariance structures across time and analyzing longitudinal data where no trend is expected Expanded chapter on the logistic model for dichotomous data and proportions with new estimation methods An updated website at <http://www.joophox.net> with data sets for all the text examples and up to date screen shots and PowerPoint slides for instructors Ideal for introductory courses on multilevel modeling and or ones that introduce this topic in some detail taught in a variety of disciplines including psychology education sociology the health sciences and business The advanced extensions also make this a favorite resource for researchers and methodologists in these disciplines A basic understanding of ANOVA and multiple regression is assumed The section on multilevel structural equation models assumes a basic understanding of SEM      Analytic Methods for Educational Productivity Herbert J. Research in Classrooms Lorin W. Anderson, Robert Bounds Burns, 1989 This book is the only one to date which takes up epistemological issues concerning classroom research and pursues them in relation to design and methodological matters with depth and balance It deals with all of the perennial issues that have divided scholars in the field and contributes more to achieving points of reconciliation than has previously been available This is not yet another substantive review of the findings of classroom research It makes no attempt to portray the current state of knowledge of such topics as teacher praise student initiations teacher interactive decision making student deviance homework student engagement and the like This is more a book about classroom research for those who want to learn how to teach by digesting the products of research and it does not justify its existence in the deficiencies of the past Indeed it sees strengths and shortcomings in many different approaches This book gives students tremendous potential to capitalise on the experience and accumulated wisdom of decades of scholars so as to emerge from it with high levels of understanding and knowledge of the field It also contains historical material which provides an excellent record of developments over time and gives many fully descriptive examples of earlier achievements      Resources in Education , 2001-10
