Theoretical and Methodological Topics in the Institutional Economics of European Agriculture Martin Petrick, 2008

European Agricultural Research in the 21st Century Guy Paillotin, 1998-07-20 Jointly published with INRA Paris What will people eat in the future and how can the food requirements in terms of quantity and quality be met This EU based study elucidates the need for a productivity level that will make agriculture competitive on the market and yet is reconciled with the need to manage natural resources and lands wisely In this book the necessary changes for European agriculture from the biological medical economic and political perspective are discussed

The Economics of European Agricultural Policy Nick Adams, 1987

The Reality for Agricultural Economics Within the European Union Vítor João Pereira Domingues Martinho, 2017-08-21 The objective of this study is to analyze several dimensions of the agricultural economics reality for the representative farms of the European Union countries by using microeconomic data available in the Farm Accountancy Data Network from 1989 2009 To support this research several ratios and efficiency indicators were calculated across several variables relative namely to the agricultural output and the utilized agricultural area These ratios and indicators were analyzed further through econometric models associated with the convergence approaches presenting with more detail the Portuguese case Furthermore it is important to design a set of strategies that are more suited to the European Union realities

European Agriculture Frank Fuller, 2007 This book provides an in depth look at Europe s changing agricultural and food markets focusing on the impacts of recent policy reforms enlargement of the European Union EU and trade liberalisation The papers included in this book braid together four important themes in European agriculture and food markets the impacts of EU enlargement on productivity growth and catching up in the Central and Eastern European countries CEECs the influence of food quality standards on market structures in the CEECs and on trade the impacts of common agricultural policy CAP reforms on EU and world markets and the costs of adjusting to CAP reforms in specific sectors The insights provided in these papers into the empirical interactions between policies institutions and market outcomes both domestically and internationally are valuable to policy makers and researchers interested in the future of European agriculture

Central and Eastern European Agriculture in an Expanding European Union

Stefan Tangermann, M. Banse, 2000-01-01 The problems caused by the proposed enlargement of the EU to include the associated Central and Eastern European countries CEEC are discussed in this book The two main agricultural issues raised by this are the relative competitiveness of CEEC agricultural policies

European Agriculture Brian Gardner, 2006-04-10

The Common Agricultural Policy CAP is central to both economic and environmental developments in Europe But with the advent of new environmental legislation and political change in Europe the CAP faces increasing pressure to reform European Agriculture provides a comprehensive breakdown of the workings of the CAP and its impact on farming in Europe The author discusses every aspect of European agricultural policy production and trade from environmental constraints and the impact of biotechnology to the role of European farming in the world food supply system Posing direct questions about the recent 1992 agricultural reform the 1994 GATT agreement and the reasons for the expensive continuation of the CAP European Agriculture analyses the economic political and environmental implications of pursuing present farming policy and provides a provocative commentary on the agricultural future of Europe

Distortions to Agricultural Incentives in

Europe's Transition Economies Kym Anderson, Johan Swinnen, 2008-06-05 The vast majority of the world's poorest households depend on farming for their livelihood During the 1960s and 1970s most developing countries imposed pro urban and anti agricultural policies while many high income countries restricted agricultural imports and subsidized their farmers Both sets of policies inhibited economic growth and poverty alleviation in developing countries Although progress has been made over the past two decades to reduce those policy biases many trade and welfare reducing price distortions remain between agriculture and other sectors as well as within the agricultural sector of both rich and poor countries

Comprehensive empirical studies of the disarray in world agricultural markets first appeared approximately 20 years ago Since then the OECD has provided estimates each year of market distortions in high income countries but there has been no comparable estimates for the world's developing countries This volume is the first in a series other volumes cover Africa Asia and Latin America that not only fill that void for recent years but extend the estimates in a consistent and comparable way back in time and provide analytical narratives for scores of countries that shed light on the evolving nature and extent of policy interventions over the past half century Distortions to Agricultural Incentives in Europe's Transition Economies provides an overview of the evolution of distortions to agricultural incentives caused by price and trade policies in the economies of Eastern Europe and Central Asia that are transitioning away from central planning The book includes country and subregional studies of the ten transition economies of Central and Eastern Europe that joined the European Union in 2004 or 2007 of seven other large member countries of the Commonwealth of Independent States and of Turkey Together these countries comprise over 90 percent of the Europe and Central Asia region's population and GDP Sectoral trade and exchange rate policies in the region have changed greatly since the dissolution of the Soviet Union in 1991 but price distortions remain. The new empirical indicators in these country studies provide a strong evidence based foundation for evaluating policy options in the years ahead.

Towards a Sustainable European Agricultural Policy for the 21st Century Johan F. M. Swinnen, 2002. The debate on agricultural policy in the EU has been very lively and politically prominent over the past months. The Common Agricultural Policy (CAP) of the EU has undergone major changes since it was first implemented at the end of the 1960s. Commentators suggest that the CAP changes made in the Agenda 2000 reform package were insufficient to address the problems facing the CAP in the coming years. These include enlargement, new trade negotiations and the demand by European society for a safe, sustainable agri-food system, to name but a few. This report highlights the most pressing challenges to creating a sustainable CAP for the 21st century. It focuses on strategic policy options that are closely linked to the CAP system, to be hands-on, but the report refrains from becoming too specific on policy details, focusing instead on the important strategic questions. It offers six recommendations for good governance that aim to remove bureaucratic constraints from the food industry, yet strengthen consistency and good practice.

New Limits on European Agriculture François Duchêne, Edward Szczepanik, Wilfrid Legg, 2023-07-26. Until about 1970, Western Europe was regarded as the great food importing region of the world. Over the next 15 years, it also became a major food exporter. This study, originally published in 1985, analyses the expansionary policies of individual nations as well as those of the Community itself, which have helped produce this momentous reversal of Western Europe's traditional role. The phenomenon in the international food market is reviewed within the context of the economic and political forces responsible for changes in Western European agriculture during the late 20th Century.

Bibliography of European Economic and Social History Derek Howard Aldcroft, Richard Rodger, 1993. This bibliographical guide contains 10 000 references to the economic and social history of 30 European countries during the period 1700-1939. More than 3000 periodicals have been consulted to obtain references, as well as books, edited collections and conference proceedings. The information is listed in categories such as industry, agriculture, finance, migration, labour, conditions, urban communities and organizations. Full publication details are included so that references may be located easily.

Income stabilisation in European agriculture Miranda P.M. Meuwissen, Marcel A.P.M. van Asseldonk, Ruud B.M. Huirne, 2023-08-28. International trade agreements and reforms of the European Common Agricultural Policy increase the importance of agricultural risk management as a means to stabilise farm incomes. Income stabilisation in European agriculture addresses farm income and risk management issues from various perspectives. A cohesive work is brought together on historic income data, quantitative analyses of future policy scenarios, actual farmers' perceptions and an updated view on various risk management instruments. In-depth analyses focus on Germany, Hungary, the Netherlands, Poland and Spain. Overall findings are synthesised in policy recommendations for agricultural risk management in European agriculture. For academia, this publication brings together an interesting variety of quantitative and qualitative methods to understand and interpret risk management concepts in agriculture For public and private stakeholders analyses and reflections can be used in debating the domain of policy reforms risk exposure and risk management in European agriculture

The Political Economy of the Common Agricultural Policy Fernando Collantes, 2020-03-19 What is the balance of the European Union's Common Agricultural Policy more than half a century after its birth Does it illustrate the virtues of the European model of coordinated capitalism as opposed to US style liberal capitalism Or is it an incoherent set of instruments that exert diverse negative impacts and like Frankenstein's monster seems to have escaped the control of its designers The Political Economy of the Common Agricultural Policy does not criticize the CAP from the liberal standpoint that views most public interventions in the economy as bad for efficiency and welfare The CAP has been costly to Europeans both as consumers and as taxpayers and has also generated a number of negative impacts upon third countries but these costs and impacts have been more moderate than is suggested This book proposes that the issue with the CAP is not a generic problem of coordinating capitalism but instead a more specific problem of low quality coordination The text argues that profound reform of the European Union's institutions and policies is required to counter the rapid rise of a more Eurosceptical state of mind but in the case of agricultural policy history casts serious doubts on the capacity of the European network of agriculture related politicians to lead such a reform This key work is essential reading for researchers graduate students and master's level docents of the Common Agricultural Policy and more broadly European Union policy and reform
