Elder Abuse And Its Recognition Among Health Service Professionals:

Elder Abuse and Its Recognition Among Health Service Professionals Emma T. Lucas,1991 Selected Resources on Elder Abuse Billie H. Frazier,1991 Understanding Elder Abuse in Minority Populations Toshio Tatara,2021-10-30

First published in 1999 Research on elder abuse in the United States has made great strides in recent years As a result we have been able to define and discover the causes of elder abuse design tools to assess the risk of abuse develop and implement treatment and prevention strategies and evaluate programs for victims and perpetrators However this research has been derived from studies whose subjects were primarily Caucasian This is not because elder abuse does not take place in minority communities but rather because researchers wanted first to study the issue in its broadest sense Crime, Abuse and the Elderly Mike Brogden,Preeti Nijhar,2013-01-11 This book examines and analyses the experiences of older people as both victims and perpetrators of crime Drawing upon a wealth of research from British and North American sources the authors detail the historical experience of the elderly as victims the extent of present day criminal victimisation in the home and institutions the social theories which attempt to explain that experience and the types of resolution available The book also addresses the experiences of elderly people in the criminal justice process the offences to which they are prone and the implications for penal policy of an increase in the elderly penal population Crime Abuse and the Elderly breaks new ground in its focus on the experiences of elderly people as criminal victims in private space its insistence on a proper engagement of criminology with crimes involving older people and in its argument that much so called abuse can be explained criminologically and should be dealt with by the criminal justice system rather than by treatment and welfare agencies It will be essential reading for students academics and professionals concerned with the experiences of the elderly
