Raquiza, 2013-06-17 Why do some small developing countries industrialize and others don't? What factors account for different economic performance among states that are vulnerable to external shocks, crony capitalism and political instability? This book argues that the answer lies in the structuring of state power specifically the way different sets of governing elites, political leaders and economic technocrats are embedded in political organisations and state institutions and the way these elites relate to each other in the economic development policy process. Conducting a comparative historical analysis of Thailand and the Philippines, the book argues that the institutional settings of governing elites influence economic outcomes. In Thailand, political power traditionally connects to state institutions in ways that has limited the impact of political turnovers and global downturns conducive to long term industrial activities. In contrast, Philippine state power derives from family networks that merge social and political power suited to fast moving short term commercial interests. In focusing on this political and institutional story the author analyses the current development dilemmas of countries weighed down by historical legacies of unstable regimes dependency and social conflict and how they are likely to develop in the future The Thai Economy Chris Dixon,1998-12-03 This volume looks at the origins and consequences of the accelerated growth of the Thai economy since the mid 1980s and explores the factors that set Thailand apart from other Asian African and Latin American countries Thailand's Industrialization and its Consequences Medhi Krongkaew,1995-06-12 Professor Krongkaew is one of Thailand's best known academic economists and he has brought together an impressive number of authorities on the modern Thai economy The resulting book should be of great value to anyone wanting an authoritative and comprehensive overview of recent developments in one of Asia's most dynamic economies Anne Booth School of Oriental and African Studies University of London The book is divided into 4 parts Part 1 gives an overview of Thai industrialization and the roles of agriculture manufactured exports direct foreign investment and tourism as major contributors to recent fast economic growth Part 2 analyses the impact of industrialization on government finance monetary policy urbanisation and household welfare Part 3 further investigates impact on political development social values the environment and education health and science and technology Part 4 looks at a future role of Thailand as a newly industrialized country in Asia
