Golden Nuggets Roadhouse Portraits Along The Cariboos Goldrush Trail:

Golden Nuggets Branwen Christine Patenaude, 1998 When gold was discovered on the Fraser River the rush was on By early spring of 1858 the need for shelter food rest stops and stores became very apparent as miners and would be miners made their way up into the hinterland From Yale to Barkerville roadhouses sprung up along the Cariboo s gold rush trail From their crude beginning the roadhouses soon grew to be more than just stopovers The roadhouses are gone but the communities villages towns and cities remain Golden Nuggets with pictures and written text brings the roadhouses back to life and gives us a glimpse of yesterday British Columbia and Yukon Gold Hunters Donald E. Waite, 2015 A look at the 19th century gold rushes in British Columbia and the Yukon Includes archival photographs and hand drawn maps The Trail of 1858 Mark Forsythe, Greg Dickson, 2007 A real treat for history buffs Annie Boulanger The Record Partial proceeds from sales will be donated to the BC Historical Federation Canadian Books in Print. The Cariboo Gold Rush Story Don Waite, 1988 These vivid stories describe the devastation of the Indians by the whiteman s disease Billy Barker the heart of the Cariboo and John Cameron who buried his wife four times The rugged men and women of BC s own gold rush stride off the impossible trails and out of the incredible scenery of the late 1800 s in this stirring account of the gold strikes the gigantic gains and the strike outs This book began in the fall of 1975 when I made my initial trip alone and by car to Barkerville to talk to the descendants of early miners and to photograph some of the original gold mining sites In order to capture the same thrill of adventure experienced by gold seekers I wanted to sleep out under the stars As my arrival at Barkerville occurred after dark I left the main highway and followed a dirt road in search of a place to bed down away from vehicular noises A short time after dozing off I was awakened by some loud banging of tin cans which sent me scurrying for the safety of my car I turned on the headlights to discover that the noisemakers were a couple of black bears I had camped in the hill overlooking the town dump En route to the one time gold capital of the world I stopped off at the museum at Clinton and departed from this treasure house with the understanding that I would pay the curator a longer visit on my way home As it turned out I found Barkerville so intriguing that I overstayed my allotted time resulting in a non stop drive homeward which had me passing through Clinton in the middle of the night Unfortunately other commitments took priority over the over the research and several years elapsed before I was able to carry on with the project which became this book I then realized the value of the interviews from that 1975 trip Wagon Road North Art Downs, 1980 The Lost Stagecoach Austin F.
