MATTHEW

The arrangement of the New Testament in the Bible is not English. It is a mixture of Greek and Latin. The first part of the Bible is the Old Testament, which is the story of the people of Israel. The second part is the New Testament, which is the story of Jesus Christ. The New Testament is divided into four parts: the Gospels, the Acts, the Epistles, and the Revelation. The Gospels are the first three books of the New Testament, and they tell the story of Jesus Christ's life and death. The Acts is the fourth book, and it tells the story of the early church. The Epistles are the next ten books, and they are letters from the apostles to the churches. The Revelation is the last book, and it is a prophecy about the end of the world.

The Gospel of Matthew is the first of the four Gospels, and it is the most widely read and studied of the four. It is the story of Jesus Christ's life and death, and it is the foundation of the Christian faith. The Gospel of Matthew is written in a simple, straightforward style, and it is easy to read and understand. It is the story of a man who came to earth to save the world, and it is the story of the love and grace of God.
