Educating The Net Generation Black White Text Version:

Educating the Next Generation Wills Kalisha, Tomasz Szkudlarek, 2025-01-25 This book offers perspectives on how education as we know it is being challenged by the complexity of nextness that no longer allows for taking deeply grounded assumptions on the meaning of education as granted This book interrogates ontological ethical and political challenges that immigrant children face With the global situation in which more and more children are displaced direct intergenerational transmission is broken suspended or complicated and made incoherent and things of concern may be radically different for policymakers for teachers students or their parents Even the concept of the child as one who needs to be educated before they start participating in adult life cannot be taken for granted in this context What needs and what can be passed on and what is worth passing in this context How do we conceptualize education to encounter newcomers in their realities of being both native and strange inmate and neighbour or alien temporal and spatial and how do we address them all as worth of address These questions will shine through the authors reflections on crisis education and migration in the complex context of war climatic catastrophe displacement hospitality and institutionalised hostility This book suggests significant ideas for educational theory and practice responsive to the multi dimensional crisis of which massive migrations is the most pressing feature in school nowadays Chapters 2 9 10 and 12 are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International License via Springerlink “My Emancipation Don’t Fit Your Equation”: Critical Enactments of Black Education in the US Brian Lozenski, 2022-02-28 This book takes the reader through a complex and precarious journey to understand the multitude of educational experiences and perspectives of African Americans Weaving through nearly four hundred years of history beginning in pre colonial West Africa all the way to our current time will challenge the reader to consider the debates aspirations and risks that are inherent in all education Using hip hop theory as a metaphor the book explores how fugitivity abolition and accommodation have framed the educational contexts of millions of black folks in the US Absent the understanding of the history of the racialization of education any broader exploration of education in the US is insufficient A Trace for the Next Generation Chike McLoyd, 2022-01-01 Based on eighteen months of ethnographic research in a high school E L L classroom this study contributes to the fields of new literacies studies and critical pedagogy by showing how transnational Black youth theorize and negotiate intersections of racism justice and education Drawing on a multidimensional approach for understanding how racism is reproduced and resisted across various domains of power the author shows how two young men from Haiti theorize the U N and INGO occupation of post earthquake Haiti a disjuncture between how Africa and Haiti are mis known in the U S and students lived realities in their respective countries of origin and finally students analysis of structural racism in the U S through a Justice for Trayvon unit that was co taught from March May 2012 when Trayvon Martin George Zimmerman and Stand Your Ground became household names The author concludes by suggesting that we move toward a lessons against white supremacies framework for critical pedagogy This framework draws on centering counter narratives and thinking through the notion of decolonial love to reframe everyday classroom praxis Culturally informed antiracist pedagogies must begin with students theoretical work and experiential knowledge Such an approach transforms classrooms into spaces for students to not only interrogate racism but also create counter texts that represent their subjectivities as young Black people in the 21st century

The Politics of Curricular Change

M. Christopher Brown,Roderic R. Land,2005 The Politics of Curricular Change fills an important void in the literature regarding the relationship of multicultural curricular change to race hegemony and power as independent constructs Given the scant corpus of research on how these constructs s Understanding the Black Flame and Multigenerational Education Trauma June Cara Christian,2014-05-01 Unlike any text to date this revolutionary study surveys Black research and literature to determine the processes formal education uses to dehumanize Black students This is a socio historical analysis of the Black Flame trilogy BFT W E B Du Bois s unparalleled thirty year study of Atlanta Georgia from Black Reconstruction 1860 1880 to 1956 W E B

Du Bois is one of the most prescient sociologists of the twentieth century in his research of Black people in America. These ground-breaking novels establish racialization, colonization, and globalization as processes that continue to dehumanize Black students in education. Africana critical theory, ACT, critical race theory, CRT, and Post-Traumatic Slave Syndrome, PTSS, privilege the research voice and experiences of Blacks. These theoretical frames speak to the pain and effects of the impact of unchecked gross voyeuristic violence that helps define the White supremacist patriarchal culture in which we live. Straight forward and direct, this book shows how the processes of dehumanization contribute to the legacy of trauma. White supremacy exacts upon Black people and their humanity. This study is aimed at highlighting the stark disparities in Black and White education over time. This book offers a candid look at how the myth of Black inferiority and the metaphor of the achievement gap describe conscious economic deprivation, mob violence, and intimidation, and White supremacist curricula yet continues to imply long-standing cultural notions of Blacks' intellectual inferiority. This research is offered to help mitigate the multigenerational education trauma Blacks have experienced since Reconstruction to envision an educational system that is efficacious and socially just in the distribution of resources, expanding diversity in curricula, and exposing pedagogical biases that traumatize not only Black people but all people. Race, Curriculum, and the Politics of Educational Justice Wayne Au, 2025-09-26. This one-of-a-kind collection will help today's educators feel and understand the power that communities can harness through organizing and solidarity. This volume highlights some of Wayne Au's most impactful essays and articles across his 25 years as an educator, activist, and scholar. In this carefully curated collection, Au traces the development of his politics and analyses of schooling, education policy, curriculum, and racialization. Featuring concrete examples, chapters address antiracist education and the politics of knowledge, the racial politics of high-stakes testing, and neoliberal education reforms and the racialization of Asian Americans as a model minority and its connection to anti-Blackness. Importantly, this book illustrates the power of writing for different audiences by placing scholarly essays alongside those written for teachers, parents, and community members while also linking educational activism with educational research. In addition to providing a broad examination of the politics of curriculum and educational policy in America, the book features:

- Written by an internationally known scholar in the areas of curriculum, multicultural, and antiracist education, high-stakes testing, and neoliberal reforms, racial justice, and critical education.
- Provides a model for how to translate educational research and analysis between academic and public discourses, embodying the intersections of theory, practice, and justice.
- Combines searing political analysis of education with the hope offered through activism, solidarity, and educational justice.
