Quête ésotérique et création poétique dans Anabase de Saint-John Perse Laurent Fels,2009 Le poème Anabase 1924 constitue une réflexion approfondie sur la création poétique de Saint John Perse dont le présent ouvrage essaie de retracer les différentes tapes Autour de cette exploration des tendues d'un continent que l'on ne saurait localiser avec précision mais aussi d'un inconscient où germent les vers d'une poésie ambiguë se dégage un véritable rituel poétique que vient enrichir le goût pour cette nouvelle science apparue à la fin du XIXe siècle qui est la psychanalyse Le poème qui tire son originalité de ses richesses soit riches philosophiques psychanalytiques et scientifiques devient un véritable lieu de rencontre d'inspirations et de savoirs divers. L'étude que voici se donne un double objectif : analyser le parcours soit riche du poète, c'est-à-dire partir de l'anabase extérieure, chevaucher et traverser un continent puis destruction des terres par la violence et finalement création d'une nouvelle ville pour aboutir à cette anabase intérieure qui mène au Moi profond du poète, c'est le point sensible du front où le poète se stabilise. Quelle importance faut-il accorder à la dimension psychanalytique lorsque nous lisons Saint-John Perse ? Le poète peut-il être fini comme un miroir de l'inconscient ? Voilà quelques-unes des interrogations qui ont guidé l'auteur du présent livre dans sa lecture intéressante et originale de cette œuvre extrêmement riche.

Orphan Narratives Valérie Loichot, 2007. In Orphan Narratives Valérie Loichot investigates the fiction and poetry of four writers who emerged from the postslavery plantation world of the Americas: William Faulkner (USA), Édouard Glissant (Martinique), Toni Morrison (USA) and Saint-John Perse (Guadeloupe) to show how these descendants from slaves and from slaveholders wrote both in relation and in resistance to the violence of plantation slavery. She uses the term orphan narrative to capture the ways in which this violence severed the child, the text and history from a traceable origin. Black or white, male or female, Antillean or American, these writers share a common inheritance and transnational connection through which their texts maintain familial, temporal and narrative patterns without having any central authority figure. The author specifically cites Saint-John Perse's Loges (1911), Faulkner's Light in August (1932), Morrison's Song of Solomon (1977) and Glissant's La Case du commandeur (1981) as postslavery texts. Where the actual family is dismembered, these narrative accounts invent new familial links. Reciprocally, biological family ties endure despite the literal and discursive violence inflicted upon them. Breaking new ground in trans-American studies by juxtaposing texts from the francophone Lesser Antilles and the US South, Orphan Narratives will be a valuable addition to Caribbean, American and postcolonial studies, not to mention its appeal to scholars and students of Faulkner, Glissant, Morrison and Saint-John Perse.

Eloges Saint-John Perse, 1960. Postcolonial Francophone Autobiographies Edgard Sankara, 2011-08-03. Bringing a comparative perspective to the study of autobiography, Edgard Sankara considers a cross-section of postcolonial francophone writing from Africa and the Caribbean in order to examine and compare for the first time their transnational reception. Sankara not only compares the ways in which a wide selection of autobiographies were received locally as well as in France but also juxtaposes reception by the colonized and the colonizer to show how different meanings were assigned to the works after publication. Sankara's geographical and cultural coverage of Africa and its diaspora is rich, with separate chapters devoted to the autobiographies of Hampât B. Valentin, Mudimbe Kesso Barry, Patrick Chamoiseau, Raphaël Confiant and Maryse Condé. The author combines close reading, reception study and postcolonial theory to present an insightful survey of the literary connections among these autobiographers as well as a useful point of departure for further exploration of the genre itself, of the role of reception studies in postcolonial criticism and of the stance that postcolonial francophone writers choose to take regarding their communities of origin. Language Initiative Poesies, Saint John Perse Claude Puzin, 2002 Poetics of the Native Yosra Amraoui, Bootheina Majoul, 2021-02-01 Natives Aborigines Indigenous populations and First Nations are all appellations that assert the legitimacy of various antecessors despite the subordinate position granted to them by colonial postcolonial and neo colonial theories In a perpetual quest for agency the native has been framed within a set of representational practices that claim for a redress of grievances Cultural mediatized and historical representations of the native tend to fall within the boundaries of either a bottom up or a top down view that fits within a structuralist paradigm that rarely questions the individual let alone the marginalized However there is a need to examine the systems within which indigenous narratives operate from a post structuralist stance in order to re read indigenous discourses and to celebrate the multiplicity of meanings inherent in them The need for an intercultural pragmatic reading of native discourse therefore reveals itself to be of utmost relevance This volume discusses indigenous literary performances native history and cultural representations of natives and aboriginal discourse from around the world Topics pivot around historicizing the native the role of testimony and primary sources displacement and the denial of native legitimacy and literary mis representations of natives among other themes

The Letters of T. S. Eliot T. S. Eliot, 2011-01-01 The first volume of Eliot s correspondence covers his childhood in St Louis Missouri through 1922 when he married and settled in England Volume two covers the time period of Eliot s publication of The Hollow Men and his developing ideas about poetry

Second Finding Barbara Folkart, 2007-09-06 The translation of poetry has always fascinated the theorists as the chances of replicating in another language the one off resonance of music imagery and truth values of a poem are vanishingly small Translation is often envisaged as a matter of mapping over into the target language the surface features or semiotic structures of the source poem Little wonder then that the vast majority of translations fail to be poetry in their own right These essays focus on the poetically viable translation the derived poem that while resonating with the original really is a poem They proceed from a writerly perspective eschewing both the theoretical overkill that spawns mice out of mountains and the ideological misappropriation that uses poetry as a way to push agendas The emphasis throughout is on process and the poem to come Published in English
