Freedom To Build Dweller Control Of The Housing Process

Robert B. Potter, Dennis Conway

Freedom To Build Dweller Control Of The Housing Process:

Freedom to Build Robert Fichter,1972 A Theology of the Built Environment Timothy Gorringer,2002-07-11 In this 2002 book Tim Gorringer reflects theologically on the built environment as a whole Spontaneous Shelter Carl V. Patton,1988 Using cross national political economic and environmental comparisons as well as case studies from all parts of the world this volume focuses on the increasing problem of providing shelter in underdeveloped countries The innovative solutions that have been applied To The problem And The prospects For The future Spontaneous Shelterexamines the contemporary and emerging issues that face homeless people in the Third World and suggests policy actions that can be taken Providing middle class as well as poverty level examples and considering environmental issues The contributors use case materials photographs and drawings to clarify the policy agenda for basic shelter provision Author note Carl V Pattonis Dean of the School of Architecture and Urban Planning at the University of Wisconsin Milwaukee Theorising Urban Development From the Global South Anjali Karol Mohan,Sony Pellissery,Juliana Gómez Aristizábal,2021-10-25 This edited volume brings together debates from the Global South and Global East to explore alternatives to conventional planning in Southern cities Embracing the evolving post colonial theory the volume offers fragments of the urban that provide clues to the larger often repeated ontological question that continues to hold Why and what does theory from the South mean The chapters derive from and speak to the simultaneously homogenous and heterogeneous South They focus on presenting the alternative realities of Southern cities as critical analytical lenses that can build up to the theorisation of the Southern urban with a potential to re understand the contemporary urban world The contributions explore locally rooted knowledge systems premised on social and cultural practices as possible conduits to evolving planning methods In doing so the volume breaks apart the linear modernity that urban theory from the North relies on Chapters Chapter 1 and Chapter 11 are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International License via link springer.com Situating Sustainability C. Parker Krieg,Reetta Toivanen,2021-11-22 Situating Sustainability reframes our understanding of sustainability through an emerging international terrain of concepts and case studies These approaches include material practices such as extraction and disaster recovery and extend into the domains of human rights and education This volume addresses the need in sustainability science to recognize the deep and diverse cultural histories that define environmental politics It brings together scholars from cultural studies anthropology literature law behavioral science urban studies design and development to argue that it is no longer possible to talk about sustainability in general without thinking through the contexts of research and action These contributors are joined by artists whose public facing work provides a mobile platform to conduct research at the edges of performance knowledge production and socio ecological infrastructures Situating Sustainability calls for a truly transdisciplinary research that is guided by the humanities and social sciences in collaboration with local actors informed by histories of place Designed for students scholars and interested readers the volume introduces the conceptual practices that inform the leading edge of engaged research in sustainability Spatial Agency: Other Ways of Doing Architecture Nishat Awan, Tatjana Schneider, Jeremy Till, 2013-09-13 This book offers the first comprehensive overview of alternative approaches to architectural practice At a time when many commentators are noting that alternative and richer approaches to architectural practice are required if the profession is to flourish this book provides multiple examples from across the globe of how this has been achieved and how it might be achieved in the future Particularly pertinent in the current economic climate this book offers the reader new approaches to architectural practice in a changing world It makes essential reading for any architect aspiring or practicing The Wiley-Blackwell Encyclopedia of Urban and Regional Studies Anthony M. Orum, 2019-04-15 Provides comprehensive coverage of major topics in urban and regional studies Under the guidance of Editor in Chief Anthony Orum this definitive reference work covers central and emergent topics in the field through an examination of urban and regional conditions and variation across the world It also provides authoritative entries on the main conceptual tools used by anthropologists sociologists geographers and political scientists in the study of cities and regions Among such concepts are those of place and space geographical regions the nature of power and politics in cities urban culture and many others The Wiley Blackwell Encyclopedia of Urban and Regional Studies captures the character of complex urban and regional dynamics across the globe including timely entries on Latin America Africa India and China At the same time it contains illuminating entries on some of the current concepts that seek to grasp the essence of the global world today such as those of Friedmann and Sassen on global cities It also includes discussions of recent economic writings on cities and regions such as those of Richard Florida Comprised of over 450 entries on the most important topics and from a range of theoretical perspectives Features authoritative entries on topics ranging from gender and the city to biographical profiles of figures like Frank Lloyd Wright Takes a global perspective with entries providing coverage of Latin America and Africa India and China and the US and Europe Includes biographies of central figures in urban and regional studies such as Doreen Massey Peter Hall Neil Smith and Henri Lefebvre The Wiley Blackwell Encyclopedia of Urban and Regional Studies is an indispensable reference for students and researchers in urban and regional studies urban sociology urban geography and urban anthropology Architecture, Participation and Society Paul Jenkins, Leslie Forsyth, 2009-09-10 For the first time this book defines how social participation can be incorporated into architecture in a successful and practical manner which will better serve both architecture and society International cases and past experiences are looked at to analyse what lessons have been learnt putting forward a set of recommendations for architectural practices and other key actors New Planning Histories Lauren Andres, Yasminah Beebejaun, Yvonne Rydin, 2025-08-17 This book brings new scholarship to students on the origins and development of planning thoughts theories policies institutions and practices outlining how these have shaped planning as a state and professional activity It showcases the work of leading scholars working to develop new histories of planning giving particular attention to the impact of colonisation and its approach to race which has significantly impacted planning processes as well as to the importance of women and people of colour as significant actors in the development of planning policy and practices The chapters bring a much needed global and comparative perspective including views from the Global South and from countries where planning remains an under resourced and under recognised profession This is an essential resource for advanced undergraduate and graduate students in planning architecture and urban studies

Self-help Housing, the Poor, and the State in the Caribbean Robert B. Potter, Dennis Conway, 1997 This collection of essays represents the first in depth scholarly treatment of housing policies and conditions throughout the Caribbean The contributors consider both the performance of the state and the autonomous activities of the poor making this volume an invaluable contribution to future planning and debate The essays each dealing with a specific island or group of islands collectively address four main themes the history of housing provision since colonization current housing conditions state policies toward housing provision and the changing relationships between governments international funding agencies the private housing sector and the peoples responses These investigations not only highlight the often alarming problems that Caribbean nations face in providing adequate housing for the poor but also implicate governments in past and present failures and poor performances However the essays are also filled with useful insights about the ways in which progressive housing policies can be formulated and implemented For example the volume suggests that the Caribbean s rich heritage of folk and vernacular architectural styles should be taken into serious account in future planning efforts In a concluding synthesis chapter the volume editors argue that a more progressive future is attainable if all parties exhibit the political will that the poor have already demonstrated

New Frontiers of the Capability Approach Flavio Comim, Shailaja Fennell, P. B. Anand, 2018-10-25 Leading scholars from a range of disciplines contribute to an inclusive discussion of the latest techniques and issues examined by the capability approach It will appeal to readers across academic backgrounds including development studies economics sociology education urban planning political science geography public policy and management

Housing and Finance in Developing Countries Kavita Datta, Gareth Jones, 2012-10-12 This book explores the linkages between formal and informal housing finance drawing upon the lessons of NGO and micro finance practices Both public and private formal finance institutions have experienced great difficulty in lending below a middle income client group and are often reluctant to lend for the purpose of housing at all This failure of formal finance to filter down to low income households and in particular to women has led various NGOs and community groups to create and adopt innovative finance programmes such as informal savings banks and credit rotating schemes The authors critically assess the impact of these schemes and evaluate links between gender housing and finance

Resource Sustainability and Caribbean Development Duncan F. M. McGregor, David Barker, Sally Lloyd-Evans, 1998 Resource Sustainability and Caribbean Development follows on from Barker and McGregor s earlier edited volume Environment and Development in the Caribbean Geographical Perspectives 1995 and aims to focus more specifically on the theme of sustainability and to examine research contributions of geographers to problems of sustainability in the Caribbean region While the problems of environmental degradation have increased in recent decades the ability of Caribbean governments to cope with the consequences appears to have been eroded There is however a growing recognition within the region of the need for development strategies that focus on the social needs of the people yet simultaneously protect the fragile natural environment It is hoped that the research presented here will serve to inform the wider research and decision making community of the main problems associated with resource sustainability in the region and of some of the major research directions crucial to the alleviation of these problems Preface Designing for Democracy Jennifer Forestal,2022 How should we fix digital technologies to support democracy instead of undermining it In Designing for Democracy Jennifer Forestal argues that accurately evaluating the democratic potential of digital spaces means studying how the built environment a primary component of our modern public square structures our activity shapes our attitudes and supports the kinds of relationships and behaviors democracy requires While many scholars and practitioners are attentive to the role of design in shaping behavior they have yet to fully engage with the question of what structures are required to support democratic communities and how to build them Forestal closes this gap by providing a new theory of democratic space Drawing from a wide range of disciplines including architecture psychology and the history of political thought she argues that democratic spaces must be designed with three environmental characteristics boundaries durability and flexibility that taken together afford users the ability to engage in fundamental civic practices Through extended analyses of Facebook Twitter and Reddit Forestal shows precisely how well these digital platforms meet the criteria for democratic spaces or whether they do so at all The result is a more nuanced analysis of the democratic communities that form or fail to emerge in these spaces as well as more concrete suggestions for how to improve them In connecting the built environment digital technologies and democratic theory Designing for Democracy provides blueprints for democracy in a digital age What Happened to Participation? Urban Development and Authoritarian Upgrading in Cairo's Informal Neighbourhoods Elena Piffero,2009 The City in the Developing World Robert B. Potter,Sally Lloyd-Evans,2014-09-25 The City in the Developing World is a comprehensive and up to date introduction to urbanisation in developing countries The goal of this text is to place an understanding of the developing world city in its wider global context First this is done by developing the concept of social surplus product as a key to understanding the character of the contemporary Third World city Second throughout this text the city in developing areas is centrally placed in the context of global social economic political and cultural change Thus the important themes of globalisation modernity and postmodernity are examined both in relation to the structure of sets of towns and cities which make up the national or regional urban system and in respect of ideas and concepts dealing with the morphology structure and social patterning of individual urban areas The City in the Developing World is a core text for second and third year undergraduates in the fields of geography development studies
