French Lessons A Memoir:

French Lessons Alice Kaplan, 1994-10-15 A professor of French Literature at Duke University Kaplan offers a passionate memoir of her life and its intricate involvement with the French language A rare and moving evocation of what it feels like and what it means to fall in love with a language not one's own New York Review of Books French Lessons Alice Yaeger Kaplan, 1994-08 Brilliantly uniting the personal and the critical French Lessons is a powerful autobiographical experiment It tells the story of an American woman escaping into the French language and of a scholar and teacher coming to grips with her history of learning Kaplan begins with a distinctly American quest for an imaginary France of the intelligence But soon her infatuation with all things French comes up against the dark unimagined recesses of French political and cultural life The daughter of a Jewish lawyer who prosecuted Nazi war criminals at Nuremberg Kaplan grew up in the 1960s in the Midwest After her father's death when she was seven French became her way of leaving home and finding herself in another language and culture In spare midwestern prose by turns intimate and wry Kaplan describes how as a student in a Swiss boarding school and later in a junior year abroad in Bordeaux she passionately sought the French r attentively honed her accent and learned the idioms of her French lover When as a graduate student her passion for French culture turned to the elegance and sophistication of its intellectual life she found herself drawn to the language and style of the novelist Louis Ferdinand Celine At the same time she was repulsed by his anti-Semitism At Yale in the late 70s during the heyday of deconstruction she chose to transgress its apolitical purity and work on a subject that made history impossible to ignore French fascist intellectuals Kaplan's discussion of the de Man affair the discovery that her brilliant and charismatic Yale professor had written compromising articles for the pro-Nazi Belgian press and her personal account of the paradoxes of deconstruction are among the most compelling available on this subject French Lessons belongs in the company of Sartre's Words and the memoirs of Nathalie Sarraute Annie Ernaux and Eva Hoffman No book so engrossingly conveys both the excitement of learning and the moral dilemmas of the intellectual life Transcultural Literary Studies: Politics, Theory, and Literary Analysis Bernd

Fischer, 2018-06-27 This book is a printed edition of the Special Issue Transcultural Literary Studies Politics Theory and Literary Analysis that was published in Humanities Life Stories Maureen O'Connor, 2011-08-23 Memoirs autobiographies and diaries represent the most personal and most intimate of genres as well as one of the most abundant and popular Gain new understanding and better serve your readers with this detailed genre guide to nearly 700 titles that also includes notes on more than 2,800 read-alike and other related titles The popularity of this body of literature has grown in recent years and it has also diversified in terms of the types of stories being told and persons telling them In the past readers advisors have depended on access by names or Dewey classifications and subjects to help readers find autobiographies they will enjoy This guide offers an alternative organizing the literature according to popular genres subgenres and themes that reflect common reading interests Describing titles that range from travel and adventure classics and celebrity autobiographies to foodie memoirs and environmental reads Life Stories A Guide to Reading Interests in Memoirs Autobiographies and Diaries presents a unique overview of the genre that specifically addresses the needs of readers advisors and others who work with readers in finding books Globalizing Literary Genres Jernej Habjan, Fabienne Imlinger, 2015-10-14 Focused on the relation between processes of globalization and literary genres this volume intervenes in the prevalent notions of globalization literary history genre and the novel Using both close reading and world history both literary criticism and political theory the book is a timely intervention in the debates about world postcolonial and transnational literature as they have been intensified by critical globalization studies world systems analysis Bourdieuan sociology and cosmopolitanism studies It contends that globalization far from starting in recent decades has a long and complex history not unlike the history of literature itself meaning that when we speak of globalization and literature we in effect invoke the entire history of literature Essays examine literary genres in relation to broader historical processes connecting the present state of globalization to such key world historic events as the early modern geographical and scientific explorations the Enlightenment the expansions of modernity in the long nineteenth and twentieth centuries postmodernity and postcoloniality and contemporary counter hegemonic movements The book offers innovative readings of the pastoral from Saint Pierre to Carpentier the novel in Kant and Wieland and in Diderot and Marx travel writing from Verne to Cort zar sports writing in James and Kahn entrelacement in Bola o Ghosh and Soderbergh and also the Mozambican ghost story Indian genre fiction fake autobiographies Sephardic language memoirs the postcolonial Gothic Irish chick lit and counter hegemonic novels Making important theoretical contributions to a renewed discussion about genre especially genres of narrative fiction this volume addresses global studies the history of the novel and debates over periodization and nationalism in literary history

Bilingual Minds Aneta Pavlenko, 2006-01-01 Do bi and multilinguals perceive themselves differently in their respective languages Do they experience different emotions How do they express emotions and do they have a favorite language for emotional expressions How are emotion words and concepts represented in the bi and multilingual lexicons This ground breaking book opens up a new field of study bilingualism and emotions and provides intriguing answers to these and many related questions Displacements Angelika Bammer, 1994-12-22 Essays in this volume examine the effects of leaving one's native culture or experiencing the imposition of a colonising culture My Memoirs Alexandre Dumas, 1907

Confessions of the Critics H. Aram Veaser, 2014-05-01 The Confessions of the Critics shatters a certain silence Autobiographical criticism has until now skated relatively free from the challenges that usually assail a new literary critical method It has had this immunity from critique largely because feminists and third world liberation fighters such as Alice Walker Adrienne Rich and Jane Gallop ushered it to the North American academic stage Other women and men including Rigoberta Menchu Nawal al Sadawi Mahasweta Devi and Malcolm X wrote in the tradition and genre of testimonio These and other unimpeachably militant backgrounds gave confessional criticism a certain cache among the largely liberal community of literary scholars We have hesitated to express misgivings about a form that seemed intrinsically tied to the most vital powerful strivings Telling stories about one's own past is probably our culture's richest way of characterizing the effects of social injustice and developing what it takes to resist various kinds of victimage writes contributor Charles Altieri Confessions of the Critics provides a revealing look into the thoughts and experiences of some of the most influential and important critics of the 20th century The writers included avoid pretention and gross self misrepresentation giving way to raw sometimes embarrassing always wholly believable emotion Describing cumulative literary shocks and episodes of self recognition contributors offer insights to their ruling passions and works Powerful sensations emotions recognitions and revelations make up the heart of Confessions of the Critics It is a book that none will put aside or easily forget Contributors Charles Altieri William Andrews Michael F Berube Timothy Brennan Gillian Brown Cathy Davidson Elizabeth Fox Genovese Diane Freedman Marjorie Garber Gerald Graff Stephen J Greenblatt Michael Hill Marianne Hirsch Alice Yeager Kaplan Amitava Kumar Candace Lang Louis Menand Judith Lowder Newton Linda Orr Vincent Pecora David Simpson Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak Madelon Sprengnether Jane Tompkins Marianna Torgovnick H Aram Veesser Jeffrey Williams Elizabeth Young Bruehl Intimate Reading Janet Mason Ellerby, 2001-06-01 Janet Mason Ellerby offers an analysis of the tragic events which have most influenced her writing and explores the relationship of her own narrative to others like it

Sociology Meets Memoir Margaret K. Nelson, 2024-12-17 This innovative book offers a discussion of how memoirs might be useful for sociologists By reading the guide students and teachers alike will gain an understanding of how they might approach the current outpouring of memoirs and incorporate them into their teaching learning writing and research

Susan Sontag Carl Edmund Rollyson, Lisa Olson Paddock, 2000 Delves beneath the surface to examine the forces that made Sontag an international icon exploring her public persona and private passions including the strategies behind her meteoric rise to fame and her political moves The Double Life of Paul De Man Evelyn Barish, 2014-03-10 A landmark biography that reveals the secret past of one of the most influential academics of the twentieth century Over thirty years after his death in 1983 Paul de Man a hugely charismatic intellectual who created with deconstruction an ideology so pervasive that it threatened to topple the very foundations of literature remains a haunting and still largely unexamined figure Deeply influential de Man and his theory driven philosophy were so dominant that his passing received front page coverage suggesting that a cult hero if not intellectual rock star had met an untimely end Yet in 1988 de Man's reputation was ruined when it was discovered that he had written an anti Semitic article and worked for a collaborating Belgium newspaper during World War II Who was he really and who had he been No one knew Still in shock few of his followers wanted to find out Once an admirer although never a theorist the biographer Evelyn Barish began her own investigation Relying on years of original archival work and interviews with over two hundred of de Man's circle of friends and family most of them now dead Barish vividly re creates this collaborationist world of occupied Belgian and France Born in 1919 to a rich but tragically unstable family Paul de Man a golden boy was influenced by his uncle Henri de Man a socialist turned Nazi collaborator who became the de facto Belgian prime minister By the early 1940s Paul while seemingly only a reviewer for Nazi newspapers was secretly rising in far more important jobs in Belgium's and France's collaborationist regimes Postwar barred from the university de Man created a publishing house but stole all its assets then facing jail he fled to New York abandoning his family his opportunistic anti-Semitic writing seemed the least of his crimes Arriving penniless he quickly rose again befriendng an entire generation of American writers in New York including Dwight Macdonald Elizabeth Hardwick and Mary McCarthy Barish sketches de Man's renowned careers at Bard and Yale as well as the circumstances surrounding his loving but bigamous second marriage to former Bard student Patricia Kelley who created the tranquillity he so lacked Juxtaposing this personal story to his meteoric rise through American academia Barish traces the origins of the philosophical deconstructionism that he later created with Jacques Derrida showing how de Man attracted followers with his attack on the hypocrisy of society that attempts to cover up the essential alienation of art from the system While focusing on the biographical facts this commanding and psychologically probing biography reveals as much about human behavior and the cross currents of twentieth century intellectual thought as it does about the man who held an entire generation in his thrall

What's France got to do with it? Juliana de Nooy, 2020-07-30 While only one book length memoir recounting the sojourn of an Australian in France was published in the 1990s well over 40 have been published since 2000 overwhelmingly written by women Although we might expect a focus on travel intercultural adjustment and communication in these texts this is the case only in a minority of accounts More frequently France serves as a backdrop to a project of self renovation in which transplantation to another country is incidental hence the question What's France got to do with it The book delves into what France represents in the various narratives its role in the self transformation and the reasons for the seemingly insatiable demand among readers and publishers for these stories It asks why these memoirs have gained such traction among Australian women at the dawn of the twenty first century and what is at stake in the fascination with France

Repossessing the World Helen M. Buss, 2006-01-01 Why does it seem as if everyone is writing memoirs and particularly women The current popularity of memoir verifies the common belief that we each have a story to tell And we do especially women Memoirs are not only representations of women's personal lives but also of their desire to repossess important parts of our culture in which women's stories have not mattered Beginning with her own motivations for writing memoirs Helen M Buss examines the many kinds of memoir written by contemporary women memoirs about growing up memoirs about traumatic events about relationships about work In writing memoirs these women publicly assert that their lives have mattered They reshape the memoir a form as old as the middle ages and as young as today into a social discourse that blends the personal with the political the self with the significant other literature with history and fiction with autobiography and essay Buss urges readers to use their reading experience to help themselves understand and write the significance of their own lives Repossessing the World is the first book length critical inquiry into women's use of a form that has often been dismissed as less important than autobiography less professional than the novel and less intellectual than the formal essay Buss demonstrates that the memoir makes its own art not only through selective borrowing from these genres but also through the unique way that the tripartite narrative voice of the memoir constructs the personal and public experience of the memorist as significant to our cultural moment

Memoirs Sir William Fraser, 1890 A Menopausal Memoir Anne C Herrmann, 2014-01-14 The only extended first person narrative about menopause A Menopausal Memoir Letters from Another Climate explores the connection between menopause mourning and memory through nine fictional letters written to different addressees The letters explain the author's own experience of having a hysterectomy without her permission during surgery for endometriosis and being thrown into instant menopause Herrmann expresses her experiences differently in each letter based on the recipient's gender sexual identity and age revealing the complexities of accepting menopause Psychotherapists psychologists physicians medical students academics and those interested in women's health and women's studies will receive insight into one woman's experience and will learn how our bodies mold our sexual identity and shape many aspects of our lives Writing these letters from the point of view of a scholar engaged in personal narrative but not in the familiar narrative of a woman married with children Herrmann examines her journey of loss recovery and healing through feminist theory The letters in A Menopausal Memoir reveal many other issues including the relationship between the female body and the meanings attached to it the different ways women tell their stories about difficult experiences negotiating the relationship between growing older and sexual identity the body's response to the loss of organs that form and inform its history the connection between body identity and disease A highly personal yet theoretical approach to the experience of menopause A Menopausal Memoir explores how changes in the body affect your sexual identity your relationships and your feelings as a woman
