On the Edge of the Global Niko Besnier, 2011-03-02 Life in twenty first century Tonga is rife with uncertainties Though the postcolonial island kingdom may give the appearance of stability and order there is a malaise that pervades everyday life a disquiet rooted in the feeling that the twin forces of progress and development and the seemingly inevitable wealth distribution that follows from them have bypassed the society Niko Besnier's illuminating ethnography analyzes the ways in which segments of this small scale society grapple with their growing anxiety and hold on to different understandings of what modernity means How should it be made relevant to local contexts How it should mesh with practices and symbols of tradition In the day to day lives of Tongans the weight of transformations brought on by neoliberalism and democracy press not in the abstract but in individually significant ways how to make ends meet how to pay lip service to tradition and how to present a modern self without opening oneself to ridicule Adopting a wide angled perspective that brings together political economic cultural and social concerns this book focuses on the interface between the different forms that modern uncertainties take exploration of lyrical texts has not yet come. Since the late 1970s the acknowledgement of and the commitment to difference has been foundational for feminist theory and activism. This investigation promotes a differentiated locational feminism. Friedman. The comprehensive theoretical discussion of feminism's different concepts of gender, race, ethnicity, and mothering builds the foundation for the main part, the presentation and analysis of the poems. The issue of mothering foregrounds the communicative aspect of women's experience and wants to bridge the gap between theory and practice. This study, however, does not intend to specify mothering as a universal and unique feminine characteristic. It underlines a metaphorical use and discusses the concepts of nurturing, maternal practice, and social parenthood. Regarding the extensive material, this study understands itself as an explorative, not concluding investigation placed at the intersections of gender studies, postcolonial, and classical literary studies. Most of all, it aims at initiating a dialogue and interchange between scholars and students in the Western and the Third World.
