Research for the Developing World Bruce Currie-Alder, 2015-10-08 Research for the developing world can generate evidence on the effectiveness of foreign aid invent new technologies that serve poor people and strengthen research capabilities in poor countries How do countries determine which of these policy goals to pursue Examining the United Kingdom Canada and Australia reveals how each country established a unique approach to research funding Programs and grantmaking evolved in response to various expectations across government tempered by the need to remain credible in the scientific community This book explores the histories of the UK Department for International Development DFID Canada's International Development Research Centre IDRC and the Australian Centre for International Agricultural Research ACIAR Looking back changes in research governance encouraged a shift towards whole of government priorities shorter timeframes for realizing results and performance predicated on academic productivity and research impact Whereas funders used to encourage small is beautiful with local experiments in development today the emphasis is on getting to scale delivering innovation through self financing models Looking forward research for the developing world is fading as part of development assistance yet rising as collaboration on common global challenges Funders are adopting new definitions of performance and actively shaping policy to connect science and international development Leaders are brokering partnerships that connect research governance at home and abroad bridging the incentives towards academic productivity and research impact In short the future of research for the developing world is moving from foreign aid to science diplomacy

British Foreign and Defence Policy Since 1945 Robert Self, 2010-06-23 Foreign policy has dominated successive governments time in office and cast a consistently long shadow over British politics in the period since 1945 Robert Self provides a readable and incisive assessment of the key issues and events from the retreat from empire through the cold war period to Humanitarian Intervention and the debacle in Iraq

Donors, Democracy and Development in Africa Mark Simpson, 2024-12-07 Uganda Ethiopia and Rwanda have figured prominently in the post Cold War relations between Western donors and Sub Saharan Africa Their new leaders were embraced by Western countries as the antithesis of former Cold War era African strongmen and their countries became donor darlings benefitting from regular and significant inflows of Western development assistance To the dismay of African democracy activists and human rights defenders such aid enabled the regimes in these countries to strengthen the repressive political and economic governance systems over which they preside Using a multi disciplinary approach this book examines the role of Western development assistance in supporting these authoritarian African regimes It connects changing Western donor policies and priorities to developments within the three African countries to the past of these ruling parties as armed liberation movements to wider regional and global political economic and strategic shifts and highlights the skillful management by Kampala Addis Ababa and Kigali of Western aid and international aid architecture to ensure regime preservation

DFID's performance in 2008-09 and the 2009 White

Paper Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: International Development Committee, 2010-03-11 DFID is right to focus more resources on fragile states if global poverty reduction goals are to be met However this report highlights a number of concerns about DFID's capacity to meet this and other new policy directions set out in the 2009 White Paper Cm 7656 ISBN 9780101765626 based on analysis of the Department's performance in 2008/09 the Department's annual report 2008/09 published as HC 867 I II ISBN 9780102962154 Climate change another key White Paper focus area threatens progress on poverty reduction and will hit the poorest people first and hardest The outcome of the Copenhagen Conference in December 2009 was disappointing and real progress needs to be made before the next conference at the end of this year The White Paper also indicates that DFID will channel more funding through multilateral organisations including the EU the UN and the World Bank This offers the prospect of more coordinated delivery of aid but only if these bodies increase their effectiveness and their poverty focus The report also argues for speedier reform of the governance of the international financial institutions The recession has had a significant impact on developing countries It is estimated that an additional 90 million people will be affected by poverty as a combined result of the global food financial and fuel crises over the last few years Donors including the UK have responded and have sought to identify specific needs in developing countries though many donors are failing to meet the aid commitments they have already made War and Conflict in Africa Paul D. Williams, 2013-04-26 After the Cold War Africa earned the dubious distinction of being the world's most bloody continent But how can we explain this proliferation of armed conflicts What caused them and what were their main characteristics And what did the world's governments do to stop them In this fully revised and updated second edition of his popular text Paul Williams offers an in depth and wide ranging assessment of more than six hundred armed conflicts which took place in Africa from 1990 to the present day from the continental catastrophe in the Great Lakes region to the sprawling conflicts across the Sahel and the web of wars in the Horn of Africa Taking a broad comparative approach to examine the political contexts in which these wars occurred he explores the major patterns of organized violence the key ingredients that provoked them and the major international responses undertaken to deliver lasting peace Part I Contexts provides an overview of the most important attempts to measure the number scale and location of Africa's armed conflicts and provides a conceptual and political sketch of the terrain of struggle upon which these wars were waged Part II Ingredients analyses the role of five widely debated features of Africa's wars the dynamics of neopatrimonial systems of governance the construction and manipulation of ethnic identities questions of sovereignty and self determination as well as the impact of natural resources and religion Part III Responses discusses four major international reactions to Africa's wars attempts to build a new institutional architecture to help promote peace and security on the continent this architecture's two main policy instruments peacemaking initiatives and peace operations and efforts to develop the continent War and Conflict in Africa will be essential reading for all students of international peace and security studies as well as Africa's international relations Blair's

Successful War Andrew M. Dorman, 2016-04-08 Andrew Dorman introduces Sierra Leone as Blair's second great military adventure after Kosovo and the first he undertook on his own. It is tied to Blair's 1999 Chicago speech on the Doctrine of the International Community, his move towards humanitarianism and the impact of the Kosovo experience. The book links this move with the rise of cosmopolitan militaries and the increasing involvement of Western forces in humanitarian operations and their impact on the international system. Furthermore, it places it within the context of defence transformation and the emerging Western expeditionary capabilities, in particular the European Union's new battle group concept and developments in concepts such as Network Centric Warfare and Networked Enabled Capability. Examining the whole campaign and considering the impact on the Blair Government, this book will prove to be a key reader on the topic. The Work of the Committee in Session 2008-09 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: International Development Committee, 2009 work of the Committee in Session 2008-09 Second report of session 2009-10 report together with formal Minutes

Handbook of African Development Tony Binns, Kenneth Lynch, Etienne Nel, 2018-04-27 This handbook presents an extensive new overview of African development past, present and future. It addresses key core themes and topics that are pertinent to the continent's development, including sections on history, health and food, politics, economics, rural and urban development and development policy and practice. The volume draws on the expertise of over 60 of the world's leading scholars to provide a detailed and up-to-date analysis of the key opportunities and challenges that confront Africa and how such issues are being addressed. Arranged by key themes, the handbook provides not only a historical understanding of the past but also political perspectives on the future. The chapters provide critically informed analyses of their topics by drawing upon the latest conceptual viewpoints and applied experiences in Africa in the form of case studies to offer a comprehensive examination of the opportunities, challenges, key debates and future prospects. This handbook is an invaluable state-of-the-art overview and reference concerning many different aspects of Africa's development, which will be of interest to academics in all fields of African studies and also academics and students working in cognate disciplines such as development studies, geography, history, politics and economics. European Development Cooperation and the Poor A. Cox, J. Healey, P.

Hoebink, T. Voipio, 2016-01-05 What are the poverty reduction goals of the European development cooperation agencies? This book examines the credibility of their actual record in terms of their commitment and approaches to poverty reduction. The poverty impact of their aid programmes and their good and bad practices are assessed based on field studies in seven poor countries. Transformations on the Ground Anne M. O. Griffiths, 2019-08-09 A study of Botswana's dual face of prosperity and poverty and that relates to its land use policies. Transformations on the Ground considers the ways in which power in all its forms, local, international, legal, familial, affects the collision of global with local concerns over access to land and control over its use. In Botswana's struggle to access international economies, few resources are as fundamental and fraught as control over land. On a local level, land and control over its use provides homes, livelihoods and the economic security to help lift populations out of impoverishment Yet on the international level global capital concerns compete with strategies for sustainable development and economic empowerment Drawing on extensive archival research legal records fieldwork and interviews with five generations of family members in the village of Molepolole Anne M O Griffiths provides a sweeping consideration of the scale of power from global economy to household experience in Botswana In doing so Griffiths provides a frame through which the connections between legal power and local engagement can provide fresh insight into our understanding of the global Botswana is a darling of international donors and regularly praised as an upwardly mobile prosperous and successful country At the same time it is characterized by poverty and exclusion especially of women In her insightful case study on land politics Anne Griffiths effectively contrasts the image of a coherent state against myriad realities and confusion of competences on the ground Based on decades of ethnographic fieldwork this book masterfully demonstrates how in the realm of land and law international national regional and local domains intersect and overlap and come into conflict with one another Andreas Eckert Humboldt University Berlin Anne Griffiths ambitious and original book reveals how the global is always situated in specific places and times through her insightful analysis of how land in Botswana has figured in practices policy and politics from the standpoints of household family village district national and international levels Griffiths astute use of political and legal history legal documents observation of statutory and customary law settings multi generational life histories and detailed ethnography enable her to provide a rich and informative account that goes well beyond the mantra of the global in the local While insisting on foregrounding the voices perceptions and experiences of people s relationships with land Griffiths shows how these interact with national politics policies laws and legal practice and with the effects of international and global agencies and processes to produce inequality and class differences despite some improvement in gendered patterns of land entitlement Pauline Peters Faculty Associate Harvard Kennedy School and Center for African Studies

Human Rights: A Very Short Introduction Andrew Clapham, 2007-06-28 Today it is usually not long before a problem gets expressed as a human rights issue An appeal to human rights in the face of injustice can be a heartfelt and morally justified demand for some while for others it remains merely an empty slogan Taking an international perspective and focusing on highly topical issues such as torture arbitrary detention privacy health and discrimination this Very Short Introduction will help readers to understand for themselves the controversies and complexities behind this vitally relevant issue Looking at the philosophical justification for rights the historical origins of human rights and how they are formed in law Andrew Clapham explains what our human rights actually are what they might be and where the human rights movement is heading ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable

Cultivating Development David Mosse, 2004-11-20 What if development agencies and researchers are not driven by policy Suppose that the things that make for good policy policy that legitimises and mobilises political support in reality make it impossible to implement By focusing in detail on the unfolding activities of a development project in western India over more than ten years as it falls under different policy regimes this book takes a close look at the relationship between policy and practice in development David Mosse shows how the actions of development workers are shaped by the exigencies of organisations and the need to maintain relationships rather than by policy but also that development actors work hardest of all to maintain coherent representations of their actions as instances of authorised policy Raising unfamiliar questions Mosse provides a rare self critical reflection on practice while refusing to endorse current post modern dismissal of development Blair's Britain, 1997-2007 Anthony Seldon,2007-09-20 Tony Blair has dominated British political life for more than a decade Like Margaret Thatcher before him he has changed the terms of political debate and provoked as much condemnation as admiration At the end of his era in power this book presents a wide ranging overview of the achievements and failures of the Blair governments Bringing together Britain s most eminent academics and commentators on British politics and society it examines the effect of the Prime Minister and his administration on the machinery of government economic and social policy and foreign relations Combining serious scholarship with clarity and accessibility this book represents the authoritative verdict on the impact of the Blair years on British politics and society

The Politics of Aid Selectivity Wil Hout,2007-06-28 The first extended analysis of selectivity policies of important bilateral and multilateral aid donors this book combines a policy analytical with a quantitative empirical approach Bringing out the conflicts that may exist between foreign assistance agendas and the desire of governments in developing countries to set priorities for their national Research Handbook on International Competition Law Ariel Ezrachi,2012-01-01 The Research Handbook on International Competition Law brings together leading academics practitioners and competition officials to discuss the most recent developments in international competition law and policy This comprehensive Handbook explores the dynamics of international cooperation and national enforcement It identifies initiatives that led to the current state of collaboration and also highlights current and future challenges The Handbook features twenty two contributions on topical subjects including competition in developed and developing economies enforcement trends advocacy and regional and multinational cooperation In addition selected areas of law are explored from a comparative perspective These include intellectual property and competition law the pharmaceutical industry merger control worldwide and the application of competition law to agreements and dominant market position Presenting an overview of the current state of cooperation and convergence as well as a comparative analysis of substance and procedure this authoritative Handbook will prove an invaluable reference tool for academics competition officials and practitioners who focus on international competition law

Globalisation and Human Welfare Vic George,Paul Wilding,2017-03-14 This thematically structured text offers an ideal introduction to the positive and negative effects of globalization on human welfare in industrial and developing societies It

documents the effects of globalization on economic growth income distribution poverty education health social care and the environment It pays special attention to the effects of globalization on ethnic and gender issues and concludes with an assessment of the possibilities of global social policy It will appeal to undergraduates in the social sciences both as a basic text and a reference book

Transformational Diplomacy after the Cold War Keith Hamilton, 2013-04-12 This book examines the Know How Fund Britain's bilateral technical assistance programme in post communist central and eastern Europe devised in response to the end of the Cold War The Know How Fund KHF was the technical assistance programme which Margaret Thatcher's government launched in the spring of 1989 to encourage Poland's transition from communism to democracy and free market capitalism It was subsequently extended to other countries of central and eastern Europe and might be considered a novel experiment in what the US secretary of state Condoleezza Rice would later term transformational diplomacy Drawing upon still closed records of the Cabinet Office the Department for International Development DFID and the Foreign and Commonwealth Office this book explores the political origins of the KHF In particular the author examines its influence upon the transitional process in the lands of the former Soviet bloc its part in attenuating the potentially destabilising effects of revolutionary change in Europe the interdepartmental cooperation and rivalry to which its administration gave rise in Whitehall and the links forged between officials and the worlds of business finance and academe in project design and implementation The volume offers new insights into Britain's reactions to the collapse of communism in central Europe and the Soviet Union the role of aid in the making and conduct of British foreign policy and the significance of New Labour's establishment of DFID as a separate government department This book will be of much interest to students of British Foreign Policy Diplomacy Studies European history Post Communist Transitions and IR in general

Governance, Globalization and Public Policy Patricia Kennett, 2008 Governance Globalization and Public Policy is concerned with exploring the nature of the policy arena in the context of globalization and the reconstitution of the state The contributors to this book seek to broaden extend and integrate theoretical conceptual and substantive policy debates The book begins by exploring the concepts and perspectives associated with globalization and governance the relationship between them and the repercussions for public policy and the state It also considers developments at the global and regional levels and the implications of the emergence of new regulatory regimes in the context of liberalization and privatization The focus then turns to a broad range of substantive areas of public policy such as human rights health and health care housing markets poverty security and counter terrorism Together the chapters provide a thorough integrated insight into the relationship between global processes governance and public policy across a range of policy domains Providing a comprehensive analysis of patterns and processes of governance in specific areas of public policy this book will be of great interest to students undertaking programmes in social policy social administration public policy and political science as well as researchers and academics concerned with the policymaking process

Regulating Utilities and

Promoting Competition Colin Robinson, 2006-01-01 a treasure trove of valuable insight and commentary into the utility markets and how they are and should be regulated European Competition Law Review Regulating Utilities and Promoting Competition continues the series of annual books published in association with the Institute of Economic Affairs and the London Business School which critically review the state of utility regulation and competition policy With contributions by some of the leading figures in the field this important new book presents incisive chapters on a number of prominent topics These include amongst others the future of the railways the international trade in gas the economics and politics of wind power and the role of economics in merger reviews A key feature of the book is the careful examination of fundamental issues not only from the viewpoint of academic and other independent commentators but also by the regulators and heads of competition authorities themselves By addressing significant developments both in Britain and abroad the authors draw important lessons about the policy changes needed as well as their subsequent implementation This book will be of great value to practitioners policymakers and academics alike who are concerned with regulation deregulation and policies to promote competition

The Anthropology of Power Angela Cheater, 2003-12-16 An edited collection which examines the theoretical issues surrounding power and particularly empowerment which uses ethnographic analysis as its basis It takes material from the Middle East Canada Columbia Australasia and various parts of Europe and Africa It looks particularly at the extent to which traditionally disempowered groups gain influence in postcolonial or multicultural settings and at how power relates to economic development gender and environmentalism
