that graduated from integrated schools In Race Mixing Suzanne Jones offers insightful and provocative readings of contemporary novels the work of a wide range of writers black and white established and emerging Their stories explore the possibilities of cross racial friendships examine the repressed history of interracial love reimagine the Civil Rights era through children s eyes herald the reemergence of the racially mixed character investigate acts of racial violence and interrogate both rural and urban racial dynamics Employing a dynamic model of the relationship between text and context Jones shows how more than thirty relevant writers including Madison Smartt Bell Larry Brown Bebe Moore Campbell Thulani Davis Ellen Douglas Ernest Gaines Josephine Humphreys Randall Kenan Reynolds Price Alice Walker and Tom Wolfe illuminate the complexities of the color line and the problems in defining racial identity today While an earlier generation of black and white southern writers challenged the mythic unity of southern communities in order to lay bare racial divisions Jones finds in the novels of contemporary writers a challenge to the mythic sameness within racial communities and a broader definition of community and identity Closely reading these stories about race in America Race Mixing ultimately points to new ways of thinking about race relations We need these fictions Jones writes to help us imagine our way out of the social structures and mind sets that mythologize the past fragment individuals prejudice people and divide communities

Armstrong,2015-03-02 This Companion brings together leading scholars to examine the significant traditions genres and themes of civil rights literature The Fictions of Language and the Languages of Fiction Monika

Fludernik,2003-12-16 Monika Fludernik presents a detailed analysis of free indirect discourse as it relates to narrative theory and the crucial problematic of how speech and thought are represented in fiction Building on the insights of Ann Banfield s Unspeakable Sentences Fludernik radically extends Banfield s model to accommodate evidence from conversational narrative non fictional prose and literary works from Chaucer to the present Fludernik s model subsumes earlier insights into the forms and functions of quotation and aligns them with discourse strategies observable in the oral language Drawing on a vast range of literature she provides an invaluable resource for researchers in the field and introduces English readers to extensive work on the subject in German as well as comparing the free indirect discourse features of German French and English This study effectively repositions the whole area between literature and linguistics opening up a new set of questions in narrative theory Contemporary American Women Fiction Writers Laurie Champion,Rhonda Austin,2002-11-30

oral storytelling in literature Tracing Southern Storytelling in Black and White is a study of the historical use of oral storytelling by southern writers in written works In each chapter Sarah Gilbreath Ford pairs a white and an African American writer to highlight points of confluence in black and white southern oral traditions She argues that the connections between white and African American southern writers run deeper than critics have yet explored and she uses textual comparisons to examine the racial mixing of oral culture On porches in kitchens and on the pages of their work black and white southerners exchanged not just stories but strategies for telling stories As a boy Joel Chandler Harris listened to the stories of African American slaves and he devised a framework to turn the oral stories into written ones Harris s use of the frame structure influenced how Charles Chesnutt recorded oral stories but it led Alice Walker to complain that her heritage had been stolen Mark Twain listened to African American storytellers as a child His use of oral dialects then impacts how Ralph Ellison and William Faulkner employ oral storytelling and how Toni Morrison later writes in response to Faulkner The interactions are not linear not a chain of influence but a network of interactions borrowings and revisions Ford s pairings lead to new readings that reveal how the writers employ similar strategies in their narratives due in part to shared historical context While Zora Neale Hurston and William Faulkner for example use oral storytelling in the 1930s to examine the fear of racial mixing Ellen Douglas and Ernest Gaines use it in the 1970s to build bridges between the races Exploring the cultural crossing that occurs in the use of oral storytelling Ford offers a different view of this common strategy in southern narrative and a new perspective on how culture is shared
