Political Leadership and the Northern Ireland Peace Process C. Gormley-Heenan, 2006-11-14 By providing a critical interpretation of political leadership during the Northern Ireland peace process Gormley Heenan shows the leadership lens offers insights not offered by conventional analyses of peacemaking processes The book discusses the confusions contradictions and chameleonic nature of leadership and its role capacity and effect

South Africa's Brittle Peace P. Toit, 2001-03-13 South Africa has succeeded in establishing a democracy but has yet to eliminate public violence from society This book takes up the issue of post settlement violence and ways of consolidating the newly found democratic peace The role of negotiated institutions such as the new police force economic factors relevant to the anticipated peace dividend external factors such as arms smuggling networks popular responses to rising threats to physical safety and symbolic factors in enhancing the capacity of the state to deal with this issue are examined

Civil Society, Post-Colonialism and Transnational Solidarity Marie-Violaine Louvet, 2016-06-28 Civil Society Post Colonialism and Transnational Solidarity originates from Louvet s observation of the strong commitment of a layer of Irish civil society from the man on the street to political parties associations and trade unions to the defence of one antagonist or the other in the Israeli Palestinian conflict beginning with the Six Day War in 1967 and increasingly so after the Lebanon Wars at the start of the 1980s and the Second Intifada 2000 2005 This book observes how this phenomenon is particularly striking in Northern Ireland where Israeli and Palestinian flags have been flown by Unionists and Nationalists as signs of solidarity and identification Louvet sheds light on the dynamics and strategies at play in the Middle East conflict in Northern Ireland but also in the Republic of Ireland a country considered to be widely sympathetic to the Palestinian cause With an overarching perspective highlighting the influence of Irish colonial history over the motives and discourse of the different levels of mobilization in civil society this book shows the global movement towards the fragmentation and specialization of transnational solidarity actions in Ireland

Restructuring South Africa John D. Brewer, 2016-07-27 The volume assesses whether or not South Africa can achieve peace and stability following the violence chaos and disorder that has accompanied the transition from apartheid Some chapters examine important aspects which define the current period of chaos in order to evaluate the prospects of the disorder coming to an end Others address key areas of reform by which peace and stability could be restored in order to assess the likelihood of this being achieved

Inclusion in Post-Conflict Legislatures Michael Potter, 2019-09-10 An excellent analysis of the complex dynamics of inclusion in post conflict societies theoretically grounded empirically rich and with a well informed set of policy relevant insights and recommendations with implications far beyond the cases of Kosovo and Northern Ireland Stefan Wolff University of Birmingham UK Does the promotion of political accommodation between the contending parties in an ethno nationalist conflict disadvantage other groups in society This important question is at the heart of Michael Potter's nuanced study of post settlement parliaments in Kosovo and Northern Ireland in which he probes their record of representativeness focusing on gender and ethnicity His meticulous research drawing on extensive fieldwork shows that the domination of the parliaments by parties aligned to the conflict does indeed tend to marginalise other identities His findings provide plenty of food for thought for practitioners in the field of conflict resolution In particular they underline the need for care in the design of institutional arrangements for deeply divided societies so as to minimise potentially negative consequences that priority for accommodation and reconciliation may have for other issues and for the practice of inclusion Adrian Guelke Queen's University Belfast UK Identity is a central organising principle of politics in the 21st century In this impressive book Michael Potter shows that a focus on gender and minority ethnic identities in newly formed post conflict assemblies provides a unique litmus test of the robustness of democratic politics He analyses the cases of Kosovo and Northern Ireland with rigour and considerable insight This book makes a highly original and lasting contribution to theory and practice in post conflict settings world wide Yvonne Galligan Dublin Institute of Technology Ireland This book examines inclusion in post conflict legislatures using Northern Ireland and Kosovo as case studies and gender and minority ethnicity as indicators The analysis uses an adapted framework developed by Yvonne Galligan and Sara Clavero to measure inclusion across a range of factors associated with deliberative democratic principles The logic is that political systems designed to accommodate communities in conflict will prioritise certain identities over others The aim of the book is to investigate how identities not directly associated with a conflict fare in a political system designed to manage identities in conflict The book looks comparatively at the conflicts in Kosovo and Northern Ireland then discusses approaches to conflict management describing how political institutions were designed in those contexts The themes of women and minority identities in those conflicts are then explored with a view to examining the extent of inclusion in the Northern Ireland and Kosovo Assemblies

From Conflict Resolution to Reconciliation Yaacov Bar-Siman-Tov, 2004-01-08 This volume represents an important new step forward in the fields of conflict resolution and peace studies Its essays argue that while conflict resolution is well equipped to bring about temporary settlements and brief periods of peace in volatile situations conventional conflict resolution techniques are not capable of building long term stability Instead the authors contend practitioners of conflict resolution need to focus more on reconciliation the restoration of confidence friendship and harmony between rivals than on mere conflict resolution Whereas traditional conflict resolution has focused primarily on halting quarrels with agreements between leaders on each side of a conflict reconciliation techniques shift the focus in two ways First they take more of a grassroots approach building agreement among the members of rival communities not only between leaders Second reconciliation takes a long term view of dispute resolution While the authors acknowledge that the role of traditional conflict resolution is important in stopping violence and tension they argue that in order to achieve stable peace negotiators and practitioners of conflict resolution must focus much more on what is to be done after an agreement among leaders is reached

Mobilizing for Peace Benjamin
Gidron, Stanley N. Katz, Yeheskel Hasenfeld, 2002-06-28 Mobilizing for Peace brings together the work of international experts to provide an in depth study of thirty three peace conflict organizations in Northern Ireland South Africa and Israel Palestine The contributors show how the sociopolitical and cultural context of the conflict in each region has shaped the type of resolution organizations that have emerged and their conception of the conflict and its resolution By promoting more humane images of the contestants and by offering alternative peaceful approaches to resolve the conflict the organizations have successfully galvanized previously weak or non existent pro peace political forces to become important players in the political struggle for peace

Literature, Partition and the Nation-State Joseph N. Cleary, 2002-01-03 The history of partition in the twentieth century is one steeped in controversy and violence Literature Partition and the Nation State offers an extended study of the social and cultural legacies of state division in Ireland and Palestine two regions where the trauma of partition continues to shape political events to this day Focusing on the period since the 1960s when the original partition settlements in each region were challenged by Irish and Palestinian nationalists Joe Cleary's book contains individual chapters on nationalism and self determination on the construction of national literatures in the wake of state division and on influential Irish Israeli and Palestinian writers film makers and public intellectuals Cleary's book is a radical and enthralling intervention into contemporary scholarship from a range of disciplines on nations and nationalism It will be of interest to scholars in Cultural and Post Colonial Studies Nations and Nationalism Irish Literature Middle East Studies and Modern History

Urban Peacebuilding In Divided Societies Scott Bollens, 2021-11-28 Urban Peacebuilding in Divided Societies explores the effects of urban policy and planning in the management of ethnic conflict in strife torn societies focusing on the cases of Belfast and Johannesburg It combines perspectives from urban geography political science social psychology and urban planning to study the relationship between ethnic ideologies and the urban strategies that affect ethnic territoriality in the form of urban land use housing economic development services and citizen involvement The book contrasts Belfast embedded within an uncertain shift from conflict to political settlement with Johannesburg engaged in post resolution reconciliation to analyze along different points of societal transition the contributions of urban policymaking to peacemaking and peacebuilding It describes the differing roles obstructive or facilitative that contested cities can play amidst broader peacemaking efforts consistent with Bollens contention that there are lessons in urban peacebuilding for constructing mutually tolerable living environments at the regional and national levels Effectively cities and urban policies are the locus for operationalizing national ideologies of ethnic coexistence Urban Peacebuilding in Divided Societies explores the effects of urban policy and planning in the management of ethnic conflict in strife torn societies focusing on the cases of Belfast and Johannesburg It combines perspectives from urban geography political science social psychology and urban planning to study the relationship between ethnic ideologies and the urban strategies that affect ethnic territoriality in the form of urban land use housing economic development services and citizen involvement The book contrasts Belfast embedded within an uncertain shift from conflict to political settlement with Johannesburg engaged in post resolution reconciliation to analyze along different points of societal transition the contributions of urban policymaking to peacemaking and peacebuilding It describes the differing rolesobstructive or facilitativethat contested cities can play amidst broader peacemaking efforts consistent with Bollens contention that there are lessons in urban peacebuilding for constructing mutually tolerable living environments at the regional and national levels Effectively cities and urban policies are the locus for operationalizing national ideologies of ethnic coexistence American Exceptionalism? Rick Halpern,Jonathan Morris,1997-08-12 The idea that American historical development is different from that of other nations is an old one yet it shows no sign of losing its emotive power Exceptionalism continues to excite beguile and frustrate students of the American past The essays in this volume explore the ways in which the process of class formation in the United States can be said to be distinctive Focusing upon the impact of liberal political thought race and immigration and the role of the war time state they challenge particularist and nation centred modes of explanation Comparing American historical development with Italian South African and Australian examples the essays reinvigorate a tired debate Recognition Theory as Social Research Shane O'Neill,Nicholas H. Smith,2012-07-30 Presents the case for an exciting new research program in the social sciences based on the theory of recognition developed by Axel Honneth and others in recent years The theory provides a frame for revealing new insights about conflicts and the potential of recognition theory to guide just resolutions of these conflicts is also explored The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish History Alvin Jackson,2014-03 Draws from a wide range of disciplines to bring together 36 leading scholars writing about 400 years of modern Irish history Nationalism and Rationality Villa Colombella Seminar,MARK GALEOTTI,1995-11-24 This collection of essays uses rational choice analysis to try to find the origins of nationalism Inside Out, Inside In R. Gregg,1999-09-20 Inside Out Outside In takes familiar historical narratives and provides alternative readings for them It endeavours to expand the parameters of comparative history by focusing on the economic social political and historiographical connections among societies and by observing these intertwined histories from different vantage points Iconoclastic provocative even quirky Inside Out Outside In takes us beyond culture and society into the imperial webs of association found inside and outside the discipline of history The Politics of Ethnic Conflict

Regulation John McGarry, Brendan O'Leary, 2013-06-17 This major and timely collection addresses one of the world's most visible and tragic problems: ethnic conflict and its regulation. It begins with a guide to the primary methods used to eliminate or manage ethnic conflict and is followed by a global sample of case studies written by leading authorities in their fields.

Policing and Crime Control in Post-apartheid South Africa Anne-Marie Singh, 2016-04-22 Once a marginal political issue, crime control now occupies a central place on the social, political, and economic agenda of contemporary liberal democracies. Nowhere more so than in post-apartheid South Africa, where the transition from apartheid rule to democratic rule was marked by a shift in concern from political to criminal violence. In this book, Anne Marie Singh offers a comprehensive account of policing transformations in post-apartheid South Africa. Her analysis of crime and mechanisms for its control is linked to an analysis of neo-liberal policies providing the basis for a critique of existing analyses of liberal democratic governance. Themes addressed in the book include the exercise of coercive authority, state and non-state expertise in policing, the rationally choosing criminal, and the importance of developing an active and responsible citizenship.

Political Science in South Africa Peter Vale, Pieter Fourie, 2016-01-13 In 2013 and in 2014 respectively, the South African Association of Political Studies (SAAPS) and Politikon, the South African Journal of Political Studies, celebrate their 40th anniversary. Also in April 2014, South Africa celebrates twenty years since the advent of the post-apartheid democracy and the birth of the rainbow nation. This book provides a timely account of the birth and evolution of South African politics over the past four decades but also of the study of Political Science and International Relations in this country. Fourteen political scientists contribute chapters to this volume, situating the study of politics within its global context and recounting the development of politics as a field of study at South African universities. The fourteen contributions evaluate the state of the disciplines and suggest conclusions that are surprising and in many instances unsettling, not only with regards to what and how politics is taught but also how its study has variously gained and lost pertinence for South Africans' understanding of their own polity as well as its place in the world. The implications are uncomfortable and pose interesting challenges for South African scholarship, pedagogy, and national self-reflection. This book was published as a special issue of Politikon.
