Requiem for Lovers S.R. Palumbo,2013-10-07 SUMMERWINDS If only I could love again Breathe in again The sweet smelling blind unconsciousness of youth and spring If only I could sing again Live half complete In every moment's expectation Knowing All of life itself was still ahead How less than dead The rest of all the rest would seem If only I could dream again THE PARABLE How easy it is to share nothing with nothing Hoping something will finally come of it While the anything of who were are Wanders here and there and everywhere Beyond all despairing parables Yet blinded still and mystified By sacrifice And the unconditional unrelenting Demands of love MOONGLOW We live in the immediacy of stifled dreams Discarded loves that circle the moon In the dead of winters benality The long ride home a safe way house Not far from Spring And a heartbeat away from reality SOULMATES True love needs only silence No words to speak No need to whisper cheek to cheek For everything that others might not understand Is understood emphatically With just one look One glance within a crowded room Or far from home Each talks to each incessantly And not alone Good Housekeeping ,1928

Publishers' Circular and General Record of British and Foreign Literature, and Booksellers' Record ,1890 Handbook of Interpersonal Commitment and Relationship Stability Jeffrey M. Adams, Warren H. Jones, 1999-09-30 A fundamental assumption underlying the formation of our most important relationships is that they will persist indefinitely into the future As an acquaintanceship turns into a friendship for example both members of this newly formed interpersonal bond are likely to expect that their interactions will become increasingly frequent diverse and intimate over time This expectation is perhaps most apparent in romantically involved couples who through a variety of verbal and symbolic means make explicit pledges to a long lasting relationship In either case it is clear that these relationships represent something valuable to the individuals involved and are pursued with great enthusiasm Virtually all close relationships are formed within the context of mutually rewarding interactions and or strong physical attraction between partners Friends and romantically involved couples alike are drawn to one another because of similarity of attitudes interests and personality and quite simply because they enjoy one another's company This enjoyment coupled with the novelty that characterizes new relationships almost makes the continuation of the relationship a foregone conclusion As relationships progress however their novelty fades conflicts may arise between partners negative life events may occur and the satisfaction that previously characterized the relationships may diminish
