Edmond Jabès:

If There Were Anywhere But Desert Edmond Jabès, 1988 This book is the first bilingual selection from the poetic works of Edmond Jabès long acknowledged for the mastery of his work in the unique prose genre invented by him Jabès lives in the French language as if it were the Sea writes Robert Duncan in the afterword a truth accessible here both in the French originals and Keith Waldrop's extraordinary translations drawn from Jabès' earliest and most recent poems Poetry was Jabès' proving ground writes Paul Auster in the Introduction and as a careful reader of Keith Waldrop's translations will observe the styles and themes that characterize The Book of Questions and The Book of Resemblances were already being explored by Jabès in the poems he wrote as a young man One finds the same economy of reference the same passionate lyricism the same tendency toward aphorism and the same preoccupation with the act of writing itself Even the theme of exile which plays such a vital part in the later prose books is already present in these early poems Always in a foreign country the poet uses poetry as an interpreter It is impressive to see how much the whole oeuvre of Jabès stands as a continuity and a completion from its first moments to these very recent poems an inquiry into the nature of writing and being From the Desert to the Book

The Prostitute and the Prophet Yvonne Sherwood, 1996-01-01 The only consensus that has been reached on Hosea 1 3 is that it is a notoriously problematic text Sherwood unpicks this rather vague statement by examining the particular complexities of the text and frictions between the text and reader that conspire to produce such a disorientating effect Four dimensions of the problem are considered the conflict between text and reader over the improper relationship between

Hosea and Gomer the bizarre prophetic sign language that conscripts people into a cosmic charade the text's propensity to subvert its central theses and the emergent tensions between the feminist reader and the text Aiming to bring together literary criticism and biblical scholarship this book provides lucid introductions to ideological criticism semiotics deconstruction and feminist criticism and looks at the implications of these approaches not only for the book of Hosea but for biblical studies in general

The Little Book of Unsuspected Subversion Edmond Jabès, Rosmarie Waldrop, 1996 The late Edmond Jabès was a major voice in French poetry in the latter half of this century An Egyptian Jew he was haunted by the question of place and the loss of place in relation to writing He focused on the space of the book seeing it as the true space in which exile and the promised land meet in poetry and in question Jabès's mode of expression has been variously described a new and mysterious kind of literary work as dazzling as it is difficult to define cascading aphorisms a theater of voices in a labyrinth of forms The manner of his writing embodies the meaning of his writing Jabès's book is a manifesto not only of his own poetry but of the most advanced critical poetry written during this century one in which he engages in dialogue with some of its outstanding philosophers Blanchot Levinas and Derrida
