Behavioral and neuroscientific analysis of economic decision making in animals Tobias Kalenscher, Marijn Van Wingerden, The experimental analysis of animal behavior has a rich tradition in psychology behavioral ecology and many other scientific branches dedicated to the study of decision making However it has never enjoyed a similar popularity in economics This has recently changed with the dawn of neuroeconomics a discipline combining the analytic and experimental tools of psychology and economics with the technologies available in neuroscience to unravel the neurobiological mechanisms underlying economic behavior Since many of the sophisticated neuroscientific techniques can only be used on animals neuroeconomists have come up with a large and ever growing repertoire of animal models to probe economic decision making Besides the value of using animals as model systems to emulate human economic behavior the discipline of animal economic decision making exists in its very own right an abundance of animal species at various evolutionary stages show behavior that complies with many of the predictions of economic theory whilst at the same time demonstrating violations of optimal choice models that are reminiscent of similar anomalies found in human behavior Hence the analysis of animal choice does not only offer insights into the evolutionary origins of economic decision making it also testifies that the analysis of animal behavior is a convenient economical and sound way to test competing economic decision models in optimally controlled experimental environments to probe their neural implementation and to yield common denominators in choice behavior In short economic theory provides more than just an alternative language to describe animal psychology its combination with biology psychology and neuroscience gives way to synergy effects that open up new venues for studying economic choice In this special issue we would like to gather the latest results from this cross disciplinary topic address the overlap and discrepancies in the neurobiology of economic decision making found between species and identify the challenges that lie ahead in translating results from species to species and ultimately to humans The exclusive focus on non human animals makes this Research Topic unique and distinct from previous special issues which covered a broader range of matters and subjects in the neurobiological analysis of decision making

Birth of Modern Facts James W. Cortada, 2023-01-09 For over twenty years James W Cortada has pioneered research into how information shapes society In this book he tells the story of how information evolved since the mid nineteenth century Cortada argues that information increased in quantity became more specialized by discipline e g mathematics science political science and more organized Information increased in volume due to a series of innovations such as the electrification of communications and the development of computers but also due to the organization of facts and knowledge by discipline making it easier to manage and access He looks at what major disciplines have done to shape the nature of modern information devoting chapters to the most obvious ones Cortada argues that understanding how some features of information evolved is useful for those who work in subjects that deal with their very construct and application such as computer scientists and those exploring social media and most recently history The Birth of Modern Facts builds on Cortada s prior books examining how information became a central feature of modern society most notably as a sequel to All the Facts A History of Information in the United States since 1870 OUP 2016 and Building Blocks of Society History Information Ecosystems and Infrastructures R L 2021

The Top Books of the Year Economic Choice Theory An Experimental Analysis Of Animal Behavior The year 2023 has witnessed a remarkable surge in literary brilliance, with numerous engrossing novels captivating the hearts of readers worldwide. Lets delve into the realm of bestselling books, exploring the engaging narratives that have charmed audiences this year. Economic Choice Theory An Experimental Analysis Of Animal Behavior : Colleen Hoover's "It Ends with Us" This touching tale of love, loss, and resilience has gripped readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover expertly weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can succeed. Economic Choice Theory An Experimental Analysis Of Animal Behavior : Taylor Jenkins Reid's "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This spellbinding historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reid's captivating storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Economic Choice Theory An Experimental Analysis Of Animal Behavior : Delia Owens "Where the Crawdads Sing" This captivating coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens weaves a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, captivating readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These popular novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of captivating stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a masterful and gripping novel that will keep you speculating until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
