Economics And Sociology Of Industry:

Economics and Sociology of Industry Philip Sargant Florence, 1964 UK Occupational sociology social research and industrial economics used to measure industrial development Markets and supply for industries Need for labour mobility and the recruitment of the woman worker to meet local level labour demand Economics of location of industry and urban sociology Capacities of factory organization Industrialization of developing countries The Sociology of Industry Stanley Parker, 1967 Composite work on occupational sociology covers social implications of the industrial structure and includes papers on industry and education industry and the family industry and the social structure industrial management human relations and the work group technological change and automation industrial interest groups labour mobility work and leisure etc Selected bibliography pp 172 to 176 and references Marshall, Marshallians and Industrial Economics Tiziano Raffaelli, Tamotsu Nishizawa, Simon Cook, 2011-03-28 This book focuses on both Marshall and the Marshallian tradition revisiting the 1920s and 1930s debates on business size external economies coordination and management costs including contributions from Roger Backhouse and Richard Arena Industries, Firms, and Jobs George Farkas, Paula England, What are the links among industrial structure segmentation the internal structure of firms job characteristics technology productivity labor markets and product markets The answers posited by a distinguished group of sociologists and economists have gained resonance as the field of economic sociology has grown In this expanded edition the editors and their economist colleague Kevin Lang explore the theoretical interstices and update the references Sociologists and economists have responded differently to work within the other discipline For some sociologists the typical economic assumption of basic actors engaged in rational action is both unrealistic and objectionable Other sociologists have not always agreed with everything economists do they have seen rational choice as a partially true description of human behavior and as a starting point for sociological theorizing Among economists the situation is quite different most have maintained their basic rational choice model while pushing aggressively into substantive areas previously addressed only by sociologists and political scientists Industries Firms and Jobs is a welcome reassertion of an old tradition of interdisciplinary research That tradition has recently weakened largely because of an enormous expansion of the domain of neoclassical economics The expansion has fed on two scientific developments human capital theory and contract theory This book is an invaluable resource for all economists sociologists labor specialists and business professionals Economic Ideology and Japanese Industrial Policy Bai Gao, 2002-05-16 A major addition to the literature on modern Japanese development emphasizing the role of ideas and ideology Industrial Innovation, Networks, and Economic Development Anant Kamath, 2014-11-27 This book offers an innovative examination of how low technology industries operate Based on extensive fieldwork in India the book fuses economic and sociological perspectives on information sharing by means of informal interaction in a low technology cluster in a developing country In doing so the book sheds new light on settings where economic relations arise as emergent properties of social relations This book examines industrial innovation and microeconomic network behaviour among producers and clusters perceiving knowledge diffusion to be a socially spatial as much as a geographically spatial phenomenon This is achieved by employing two methods simulation modelling and quantitative qualitative and historical social network analysis The simulation model based on its findings motivates two empirical studies one descriptive case and one network study of low tech rural and semi urban traditional technology clusters in Kerala state in southern India These cases demonstrate two contrasting stories of how social cohesion either supports or thwarts informal information sharing and learning This book pushes towards an economic sociology approach to understanding knowledge diffusion and technological learning which perceives innovation and learning as being more social processes than the mainstream view perceives them to be In doing so it makes a significant contribution to the literature on defensive innovation and the role of networks in technological innovation and knowledge diffusion as well as to policy studies of Indian small firm and traditional technology clusters

Industries, Firms, and Jobs George Farkas, Paula England, 2014 What are the links among industrial structure segmentation the internal structure of firms job characteristics technology productivity labor markets and product markets The answers posited by a distinguished group of sociologists and economists have gained resonance as the field of economic sociology has grown In this expanded edition the editors and their economist colleague Kevin Lang explore the theoretical interstices and update the references Sociologists and economists have responded differently to work within the other discipline For some sociologists the typical economic assumption of basic actors engaged in rational action is both unrealistic and objectionable Other sociologists have not always agreed with everything economists do they have seen rational choice as a partially true description of human behavior and as a starting point for sociological theorizing Among economists the situation is quite different most have maintained their basic rational choice model while pushing aggressively into substantive areas previously addressed only by sociologists and political scientists Industries Firms and Jobs is a welcome reassertion of an old tradition of interdisciplinary research That tradition has recently weakened largely because of an enormous expansion of the domain of neoclassical economics The expansion has fed on two scientific developments human capital theory and contract theory This book is an invaluable resource for all economists sociologists labor specialists and business professionals Provided by publisher

The Global Evolution of Industrial Relations Bruce E. Kaufman, 2006 Economics and Industrial History for Secondary Schools Henry Winfred Thurston, 1899 Brokerage and Production in the American and French Entertainment Industries Denise Bielby, Violaine Roussel, 2015-04-09 Invisible Hands in Cultural Markets shines unprecedented light on the activity of talent representatives and production professionals in the American and French film and television industries Agents and other talent brokers studio executives independent producers casting directors and film offices all operate and interact behind the scenes in ways that are consequential to the making of artistic careers and cultural products But even as these professionals play a crucial role in the entertainment industry their activity is usually invisible and relatively unknown This collection of empirically grounded contributions by established and up and coming American and French scholars reveals their day to day reality It presents how entertainment industry professionals work and what they experience demonstrates the ways in which they build relationships with artists and other counterparts and examines the role they play in shaping the content of film and television projects Taken together the chapters put the brokerage of talent and content in comparative perspective They also challenge taken for granted approaches to the study of cultural industries and explore the complex intertwining between commercial and artistic logics Gunton's Magazine of American Economics and Political Science, 1895 Complexity and Industrial Clusters Alberto Quadrio Curzio, Marco Fortis, 2012-12-06 This volume contains the proceedings of the international conference Complexity and Industrial Clusters Dynamics and Models in Theory and Practice organized by Fondazione Comunita e Innovazione and held in Milan on June 19 and 20 2001 under the aegis of the Accademia Nazionale dei Lincei founded in Rome in 1604 one of the oldest and most famous national academies of science in the world Fondazione Comunita e Innovazione encourages research and the dissemination of knowledge about social economic cultural and civil issues It promotes research and innovation related to local production systems and industrial districts with special reference to the interactions between large companies and SMEs small and medium size enterprises the effects of industrial districts on the development and welfare of their communities and of neighbouring areas the effects of globalisation on these local systems of productions Fondazione Comunita e Innovazione was created in Milan in 1999 It supports studies publications and events both on its own and in cooperation with corporations research institutes foundations associations and universities It also grants scientific sponsorship to research that is in line with its mission as set forth in its by laws The founding member of the Fondazione is Edison formerly Montedison The other subscribing members in historical order are Ausimont Tecnimont Eridania Accenture and PricewaterhouseCoopers Catalog State Teachers College at Bridgewater (Mass.), 1919 Ibss: Economics: 2001 Compiled by the British Library of Political and Economic Science, 2002-12 IBSS is the essential tool for librarians university departments research institutions and any public or private institution whose work requires access to up to date and comprehensive knowledge of the social sciences The Rise and Fall of the Italian Film Industry Marina Nicoli, 2016-12-08 Italian cinema triumphed globally in the 1960 with directors such as Rossellini Fellini and Leone and actors like Sophia Loren and Marcello Mastroianni known to audiences around the world But by the end of the 1980s the Italian film industry was all but dead The Rise and Fall of the Italian Film Industry traces the rise of the industry from its origins in the 19th century to its worldwide success in the 1960s and its rapid decline in the subsequent decades It does so by looking at cinema as an institution subject to the interplay between the spheres of art business and politics at the national and international level By examining the roles of a wide range of stakeholders including film directors producers exhibitors the public and the critics as well as the system of funding and the influence of governments author Marina Nicoli demonstrates that the Italian film industry succeeded when all three spheres were aligned but suffered and ultimately failed when they each pursued contradictory objectives This in depth case study makes an important contribution to the long standing debate about promoting and protecting domestic cultures particularly in the face of culturally dominant and politically and economically powerful creative industries from the United States The Rise and Fall of the Italian Film Industry will be of particular interest to business and economic historians cinema historians media specialists and cultural economists Institutions & Innovation in the Manufacturing Industry of Colombia Ivan Dario Hernandez Umaña,2002 Restructuring Industry and Territory Anna Giunta,Arnoud Legendijk,Andy Pike,2016-02-04 Examining the current trends in regional economic development in Europe Restructuring Industry and Territory explores ways in which the restructuring of industry and territorial development relate to each other their emergent interdependency and role in economic development The book argues that the structural and cultural features of regions play an important part in helping or hindering concerted policies for regional development Using case studies from different industries in a variety of regions the contributors show that the pressures for restructuring such as internationalisation or even globalisation have been mediated by formerly nationally rooted industries in Europe becoming increasingly integrated due to the ongoing processes of technological and organisational innovation and political regulation Dictionary of Ecological Economics Brent M. Haddad,Barry D. Solomon,2023-02-14 This comprehensive Dictionary brings together an extensive range of definitive terms in ecological economics Assembling contributions from distinguished scholars it provides an intellectual map to this evolving subject ranging from the practical to the philosophical Creative Industries and Economic Evolution Jason Potts,2011-01-01 This insightful book offers a new way of looking at the arts culture and the creative industries from the perspective of evolutionary economics The creative industries are key drivers of modern economies While economic analysis has traditionally advanced a market failure model of arts and culture this book argues for an evolutionary market dynamics or innovation based approach Jason Potts explores theoretical and conceptual aspects of an evolutionary economic approach to the study of the creative economy Topics include creative businesses and labour markets social networks innovation processes and systems institutions and the role of creative industries in market dynamics and economic growth In Search of National Economic Success Lane Kenworthy,1995-05-02 Recent work in comparative political economy has generated a host of alternative explanations for variation in national economic performance institutional sclerosis flexible specialization governance relations etc In each case these explanations have trouble accounting for more than a handful of instances In Search of National Economic Success uses detailed case studies with statistical analysis to comparatively assess the market liberal belief in free markets limited government and the tradeoff between economic efficiency and social justice Lane Kenworthy argues that the key to economic success lies in combining competition with cooperation Among advanced industrialized nations the countries achieving the best economic performance results over the past three decades have been the most committed to combining competition and cooperation Those faring the worst rely predominantly on atomistic individualistic competition In the end the comparative record strongly supports a focus on cooperation inducing institutions This volume will prove invaluable to scholars and students in comparative politics international political economy and comparative economics This volume presents an alternative explanation of the cross national variation in performance arguing that national economic success lies in combining competition with cooperation Journal of Economic Literature
