

it strikes its other face AC. Here again, the ray from glass gets refracted into air but bends away from the normal towards the face BC. The ray FG is the ray that emerges out of the glass prism at the glass-air boundary face AC. The ray FG that emerges out of the glass prism at the face AC after successive refractions is the emergent ray (Fig. 42.1). Usually the emergent ray is bent towards the base (BC) of the prism as shown. The angle $\angle IHG$ between the incident ray DE (when extended) and the emergent ray FG, when produced backwards to meet at a point H, is known as the angle of deviation ($\angle \delta$).

MATERIALS REQUIRED

A glass prism, drawing board, white paper, adhesive tape or drawing pins, pins, a measuring scale, and a protractor.

PROCEDURE

1. Fix a white sheet of paper on a drawing board. Draw a thin line XY at the middle of the paper.
2. Draw a thin line NEN' normal (perpendicular) to the line XY at point of incidence E (say). Also draw a line DE making any angle, preferably

Fig. 42.1: The emergent ray (FG) bends away from the normal (NEN') at point G. The angle of deviation ($\angle \delta$) is the angle between the incident ray (DE) and the emergent ray (FG) when produced backwards to meet at point H.

Manual on Conservation of Soil and Water, 1954 Handbook of Experimental Economic Methodology Guillaume R. Fréchette, A. Schotter, 2015 The Handbook of Experimental Economic Methodology edited by Guillaume R Fr chette and Andrew Schotter aims to confront and debate the issues faced by the growing field of experimental economics For example as experimental work attempts to test theory it raises questions about the proper relationship between theory and experiments As experimental results are used to inform policy the utility of these results outside the lab is questioned and finally as experimental economics tries to integrate ideas from other disciplines like psychology and neuroscience the question of their proper place in the discipline of economics becomes less clear This book contains papers written by some of the most accomplished scholars working at the intersection of experimental behavioral and theoretical economics talking about methodology It is divided into four sections each of which features a set of papers and a set of comments on those papers The intention of the volume is to offer a place where ideas about methodology could be discussed and even argued Some of the papers are contentious a healthy sign of a dynamic discipline while others lay out a vision for how the authors think experimental economics should be pursued This exciting and illuminating collection of papers brings light to a topic at the core of experimental economics Researchers from a broad range of fields will benefit from the exploration of these important questions Handbook of Experimental Development Economics Utteeyo Dasgupta, Pushkar

Maitra, 2025-07-15 This Handbook explores both established and emerging developments in experimental development economics It reviews recent developments and conventions of the experimental tools of research and highlights key topics of ongoing scholarly interest such as the measurement of social preferences in developing countries the impact of vocational and apprenticeship training programs and novel measures of learning outcomes Agricultural Index, 1927 Personality and Cognition in Economic Decision Making Aurora García-Gallego, Manuel I. Ibáñez, Nikolaos Georgantzis, 2017-08-22 Psychologists studying cognitive processes and personality have increasingly benefited from the wealth of theory methodology and decision making paradigms used in economics and game theory Similarly for the economists personality traits and basic cognitive processes offer a set of coherent explanatory constructs in economic behavior Given the debate on preference invariance and behavioral consistency across contexts and domains the papers in this topic shed light on the existence and effect of stable sets of idiosyncratic features on economic decision making While the effects of personality and cognition on economic decisions remain under explored the papers contributed in this topic offer more than a stimulus for further research The general message could be that personality and cognitive processes offer the stable idiosyncratic ground on which individual decisions are made Economic Problems of Underdeveloped Areas United States.
