Race, Gender, and Comparative Black Modernism Jennifer M. Wilks, 2008-12-01 Race Gender and Comparative Black Modernism revives and critiques four African American and Francophone Caribbean women writers sometimes overlooked in discussions of early twentieth century literature Guadeloupean Suzanne Lacascade dates unknown African American Marita Bonner 1899 1971 Martinican Suzanne Césaire 1913 1966 and African American Dorothy West 1907 1998 Reexamining their most significant work Jennifer M Wilks demonstrates how their writing challenges prevailing racial archetypes such as the New Negro and the Negritude hero of the period from the 1920s to the 1940s and explores how these writers tapped into modernist currents from expressionism to surrealism to produce progressive treatments of race gender and nation that differed from those of currently canonized black writers of the era the great majority of whom are men Wilks begins with Lacascade whom she deems best known for being unknown reading Lacascade's novel Claire Solange me africaine 1924 as a protofeminist proto Negritude articulation of Caribbean identity She then examines the fissures left unexplored in New Negro visions of African American community by showing the ways in which Bonner's essays plays and short stories highlight issues of economic class Césaire applied the ideas and techniques of surrealism to the French language and Wilks reveals how her writings in the journal Tropiques 1941 45 directly and insightfully engage the intellectual influences that informed the work of canonical Negritude Wilks close reading of West's The Living Is Easy 1948 provides a retrospective critique of the forces that continued to circumscribe women's lives in the midst of the social and cultural awakening presumably embodied in the New Negro To show how the black literary tradition has continued to confront the conflation of gender roles with social and literary conventions Wilks examines these writers alongside the late twentieth century writings of Maryse Condé and Toni Morrison Unlike many literary analysts Wilks does not bring together the four writers based on geography Lacascade and Césaire came from different Caribbean islands and though Bonner and West were from the United States they never crossed paths In considering this eclectic group of women writers together Wilks reveals the analytical possibilities opened up by comparing works influenced by multiple intellectual traditions

Les Ecrivains noirs et le surréalisme Jean-Claude Michel, 1900 Race, Culture, and Identity Shireen K.

Lewis, 2006-01-01 In this groundbreaking book Shireen Lewis gives a comprehensive analysis of the literary and theoretical discourse on race culture and identity by Francophone and Caribbean writers beginning in the early part of the twentieth century and continuing into the dawn of the new millennium Examining the works of Patrick Chamoiseau Raphaël Confiant Aimé Césaire Léopold Senghor Léon Damas and Paulette Nardal Lewis traces a move away from the preoccupation with African origins and racial and cultural purity toward concerns of hybridity and fragmentation in the New World or Diasporic space In addition to exploring how this shift parallels the larger debate around modernism and postmodernism Lewis makes a significant contribution by arguing for the inclusion of Martinican intellectual Paulette Nardal and other women into the canon as significant contributors to the birth of modern black Francophone literature Black, Brown, & Beige Franklin

Race and the Unconscious Celia Britton, 2017-12-02 Freud is often accused of eurocentrism of making unjustifiable generalizations on the basis of European family structures Although French Caribbean intellectuals such as Fanon Césaire and Glissant have joined in these criticisms they have also made strikingly positive use of psychoanalysis Much intellectual energy has been invested in notions of repression the Oedipus complex and the psychoanalytic cure while at the same time Freudianism has been no less vigorously criticized for its political quietism and its potential as a means of social control Thus Freudian theory and the controversies it arouses remains a surprisingly persistent cultural element The crucial issue is the link between the unconscious and race In this groundbreaking study Britton looks at the different ways in which Freudian psychoanalysis has been incorporated into arguments about racial identity and difference in the French Caribbean The Poetics of Ethnography in Martinican Narratives Christina Kullberg, 2013-11-04 Drawing on narratives from Martinique by Aimé Césaire Édouard Glissant Ina Césaire and Patrick Chamoiseau among others Christina Kullberg shows how these writers turn to ethnography even as they critique it as an exploration and expression of the self They acknowledge its tradition as a colonial discourse and a study of others but they also argue for ethnography's advantage in connecting subjectivity to the outside world. Further, they find that ethnography offers the possibility of capturing within the hybrid culture of the Caribbean an emergent self that nonetheless remains attached to its collective history and environment. Rather than claiming to be able to represent the culture, they also feel alienated from these writers explore the relationships between themselves, the community, and the environment. Although Kullberg's focus is on Martinique, her work opens up possibilities for intertextual readings and comparative studies of writers from every linguistic region in the Caribbean, not only francophone but also Hispanic and anglophone. In addition, her interdisciplinary approach extends the reach of her work beyond postcolonial and literary studies to anthropology and ecocriticism.

Manifestes et programmes littéraires aux Caraïbes francophones Michał Obszyński, 2015-10-27 Manifestes et programmes littéraires aux Caraïbes francophones étudie les textes manifestaires et programmatiques publiés aux Caraïbes francophones durant le XX^e siècle. Il fait apparaître les enjeux esthétiques et idéologiques qui sous-tendent les débats littéraires en Haïti et aux Antilles françaises. Il montre également l'évolution de ces manifestes au grès des mutations socio-politiques et intellectuelles de cette période. De la génération de La Ronde à la littérature mondiale en passant par entre autres l'indigénisme, la négritude, le réalisme merveilleux et le créolité. Michał Obszyński dresse un large panorama des principaux projets littéraires de la Caraïbe francophone. Son ouvrage permet de mieux comprendre l'émergence de ces courants littéraires et montre le rôle vital du manifeste dans leur formation et leur diffusion.

Manifestes et programmes littéraires aux Caraïbes francophones analyses the manifestoes and programmatic texts published in the French speaking Caribbean since the beginning of the twentieth century until present times. It uncovers the aesthetic and ideological issues underlying the literary debates in Haiti and the French West Indies. It also shows the evolution of these manifestos according to the socio-political and intellectual changes of that period. From the generation of La Ronde to the concept of littérature mondiale through inter alia indigénisme, négritude, réalisme merveilleux or créolité. Michał Obszyński provides a broad overview of the major literary projects of the French speaking Caribbean. His work sheds light on the emergence of these literary movements and shows the vital role of the manifesto in their establishment and propagation.

Le surréalisme et le mythe Annette Tamuly, 1995 L'objet de cette étude n'a pas tant de répertorier les mythes auxquels se réfèrent les surréalistes que de saisir le mythe comme principe intégrant confinant au surréalisme son orientation essentielle. Le mythe est la racine d'un surréalisme qui cherche à capter les désirs inconscients de l'individu et de la collectivité. Il est aussi ce vers quoi tend un surré alisme soucieux de participer la libération de l'homme D'une manière générale on a cherché suivre dans ce travail l'exercice d'une activité par laquelle le mythe est tant rejet tant réaffirmé et réinventé comme mythologie moderne En de plus cités les objets peuvent se faire les paradigmes du mythe et l'on voit chez Aragon ou Malcolm de Chazal s'instaurer une véritable mythologie des lieux L'œuvre d'André Breton a servi de référence principale pour montrer que le surréalisme en cherchant réaliser la triade essentielle de l'amour de la liberté et de la poésie se définit lui-même comme un projet mythique Aquila, 2012-12-06

Douglas, 2009-06-16 Rewriting in the context of critical work on Caribbean literature has tended to be used to discuss revisionism from a variety of postcolonial perspectives such as rewriting history or rewriting canonical texts By shifting the focus to how Caribbean writers return to their own works in order to rework them this book offers theoretical considerations to postcolonial studies on literariness in relation to the near obsessive degree of rewriting to which Caribbean writers have subjected their own literary texts Focusing specifically on Frank Ztienne this book offers an overview of how the defining aesthetic and thematic components of Frank Ztienne's major works have emerged over the course of his forty year writing career It reveals the marked development of key notions guiding his literary creation since the 1960s and demonstrates that rewriting illustrates the central aesthetic of the Spiral which has always shaped his oeuvre It is the book argues the constantly moving form of the Spiral which Frank Ztienne explores through his constant reworking of his previously written texts Frank Ztienne and Rewriting negotiates between the literary and material ends of the burgeoning field of postcolonial studies arguing that literary characteristics in Frank Ztienne connect with changing political social economic and cultural circumstances in the Haiti he rewrites Les représentations hybrides de la mort dans le roman africain
