assuring him that no one could have survived a fall from that altitude And even if pilot Francis Gary Powers had survived he had been supplied with a poison pin with which to commit suicide But against all odds Powers emerged from the wreckage and was seized by the KGB He confessed to espionage charges revealing to the world that Eisenhower had just lied to the American people and to the Soviet Premier Infuriated Nikita Khrushchev slammed the door on a rare opening in Cold War relations In A Brotherhood of Spies award winning journalist Monte Reel reveals how the U 2 spy program principally devised by four men working in secret upended the Cold War and carved a new mission for the CIA This secret fraternity made up of Edwin Land best known as the inventor of instant photography and the head of Polaroid Corporation Kelly Johnson a hard charging taskmaster from Lockheed Richard Bissell the secretive and ambitious spymaster and ace Air Force flyer Powers set out to replace yesterday's fallible human spies with tomorrow's undetectable eye in the sky Their clandestine successes and all too public failures make this brilliantly reported account a true life thriller with the highest stakes and tragic repercussions

The Cold War Defense of the United States John E Bronson, 2019-04-26 During the Cold War as part of its defense strategy against the Soviet Union the U S was forced to establish means of massive long range attack in response to Soviet advancements in weaponry These defenses detected and tracked manned bomber aircraft hostile submarines and missiles launched from the other side of the world This book shows how these defenses evolved from fledgling stop gap measures into a complex fabric of interconnected combinations of high tech equipment over 40 years Maps illustrate the extent of the geographic coverage required for these warning and response systems and charts display the time frames and vast numbers of both people and equipment that made up these forces

The Landscape of History John Lewis Gaddis, 2002-11-14 What is history and why should we study it Is there such a thing as historical truth Is history a science One of the most accomplished historians at work today John Lewis Gaddis answers these and other questions in this short witty and humane book The Landscape of History provides a searching look at the historian's craft as well as a strong argument for why a historical consciousness should matter to us today Gaddis points out that while the historical method is more sophisticated than most historians realize it doesn't require unintelligible prose to explain Like cartographers mapping landscapes historians represent what they can never replicate In doing so they combine the techniques of artists geologists paleontologists and evolutionary biologists Their approaches parallel in intriguing ways the new sciences of chaos complexity and criticality They don't much resemble what happens in the social sciences where the pursuit of independent variables functioning with static systems seems increasingly divorced from the world as we know it So who's really being scientific and who isn't This question too is one Gaddis explores in ways that are certain to spark interdisciplinary controversy Written in the tradition of Marc Bloch and E H Carr The Landscape of History is at once an engaging introduction to the historical method for beginners a powerful reaffirmation of it for practitioners a startling challenge to social scientists and an effective skewering of post modernist claims that we can't know anything at all about the past It will be essential reading for anyone who reads writes teaches or cares about history An International History of the Cuban Missile Crisis David Gioe, Len Scott, Christopher Andrew, 2014-06-05 This edited volume addresses the main lessons and legacies of the 1962 Cuban Missile Crisis from a global perspective Despite the discoveries of recent research there is still much more to be revealed about the handling of nuclear weapons before and during the Cuban Missile Crisis CMC Featuring contributions from a number of eminent international scholars of nuclear history intelligence espionage political science and Cold War studies An International History of the Cuban Missile Crisis reviews and reflects on one of the critical moments of the Cold War focussing on three key areas First the volume highlights the importance of memory as an essential foundation of historical understanding and demonstrates how events that rely only on historical records can provide misleading accounts This focus on memory extends the scope of the existing literature by exploring hitherto neglected aspects of the CMC including an analysis of the operational aspects of Bomber Command activity explored through recollections of the aircrews that challenge accounts based on official records The editors then go on to explore aspects of intelligence whose achievements and failings have increasingly been recognised to be of central importance to the origins dynamics and outcomes of the missile crisis Studies of hitherto neglected organisations such as the US Defense Intelligence Agency DIA and the British Joint Intelligence Committee JIC both extend our understanding of British and American intelligence machinery in this period and enrich our understanding of key episodes and assessments in the missile crisis Finally the book explores the risk of nuclear war and looks at how close we came to nuclear conflict The risk of inadvertent use of nuclear weapons is evaluated and a new proposed framework for the analysis of nuclear risk put forward This volume will be of much interest to students of intelligence studies international history foreign policy security studies and IR in general

The Cuban Missile Crisis Len Scott, R. Gerald Hughes, 2015-04-10 This volume brings together a collection of leading international experts to revisit and review our understanding of the Cuban Missile Crisis via a critical reappraisal of some of the key texts In October 1962 humankind came close to the end of its history The risk of catastrophe is now recognised by many to have been greater than realised by protagonists at the time or scholars subsequently The Cuban missile crisis remains one of the mostly intensely studied moments of world history Understanding is framed and informed by Cold War historiography political science and personal experience written by scholars journalists and surviving officials The emergence of Soviet later Russian and other national narratives has broadened the scope of enquiry while scrutiny of the operational especially military dimensions has challenged assumptions about the risk of nuclear war The Cuban Missile Crisis A Critical Reappraisal brings together world leading scholars from America Britain France Canada and Russia to present critical scrutiny of authoritative accounts and to recast assumptions and interpretations The book aims to provide an essential guide for students of the missile crisis the diplomacy of the Cold War and the dynamics of historical interpretation and reinterpretation Offering original ideas and agendas the contributors seek to provide a new understanding of the secrets and mysteries of the moment when the world went to the brink of Armageddon This book will be of great interest to students of the Cuban missile crisis Cold War Studies nuclear proliferation international history and International Relations in general and the challenges of organizing their efforts the profound impact of the non yellow press in the run up to the Spanish American War the increasingly sophisticated machinery of propaganda and censorship that surfaced during World War I and the golden age of foreign correspondence during the interwar period when outlets for foreign news swelled and a large number of experienced independent journalists circled the globe From the Nazis intimidation of reporters to the ways in which American popular opinion shaped coverage of Communist revolution and the Vietnam War Hamilton covers every aspect of delivering foreign news to American doorsteps Along the way Hamilton singles out a fascinating cast of characters among them Victor Lawson the overlooked proprietor of the Chicago Daily News who pioneered the concept of a foreign news service geared to American interests Henry Morton Stanley one of the first reporters to generate news on his own with his 1871 expedition to East Africa to find Livingstone and Jack Belden a forgotten brooding figure who exemplified the best in combat reporting Hamilton details the experiences of correspondents editors owners publishers and network executives as well as the political leaders who made the news and the technicians who invented ways to transmit it Their stories bring the narrative to life in arresting detail and make this an indispensable book for anyone wanting to understand the evolution of foreign news gathering Amid the steep drop in the number of correspondents stationed abroad and the recent decline of the newspaper industry many fear that foreign reporting will soon no longer exist But as Hamilton shows in this magisterial work traditional correspondence survives alongside a new type of reporting Journalism s Roving Eye offers a keen understanding of the vicissitudes in foreign news an understanding imperative to better seeing what lies ahead
