Fabulous Geographies Catastrophic Histori:

The Lost Land of Lemuria Sumathi Ramaswamy, 2004-09-27 During the nineteenth century Lemuria was imagined as a land that once bridged India and Africa but disappeared into the ocean millennia ago much like Atlantis A sustained meditation on a lost place from a lost time this elegantly written book is the first to explore Lemuria's incarnations across cultures from Victorian era science to Euro American occultism to colonial and postcolonial India The Lost Land of Lemuria widens into a provocative exploration of the poetics and politics of loss to consider how this sentiment manifests itself in a fascination with vanished homelands hidden civilizations and forgotten peoples More than a consideration of nostalgia it shows how ideas once entertained but later discarded in the metropole can travel to the periphery and can be appropriated by those seeking to construct a meaningful world within the disenchantment of modernity Sumathi Ramaswamy ultimately reveals how loss itself has become a condition of modernity compelling us to rethink the politics of imagination and creativity in our day

A Cultural History of Race in the Age of Empire and Nation State Marina B. Mogilner, 2023-06-01 This volume covers the cultural history of race in the long 19th century the age of empire and nation state a transformative period during which a modern world had been forged and complex and hierarchical imperial formations were challenged by the emerging national norm The concept of race emerged as a dominant epistemology in the context of the conflicting entanglement of empire and nation as two alternative but quite compatible forms of social imaginary It penetrated all spheres of life under the novel conditions of the emerging mass culture and mass society and with the sanction of anthropocentric and positivistic science Allegedly primeval and parasocial race was seen as a uniquely stable constant in a society in flux amid transforming institutions economies and political regimes But contrary to this perception there was nothing stable or natural about race The spread of racializing social and political imagination only reinforced the need for constant renegotiation and readjustment of racial boundaries Therefore avoiding any structuralist simplifications this volume looks at specific imperial nationalizing and hybrid contexts framing the semantics and politics of race in the course of the long 19th century In different parts of the globalizing world various actors were applying their own notions of race to others and to themselves embracing it simultaneously as a language of othering and personal subjectivity Consequently the cultural history of race as told in this volume unfolds on many levels in multiple loci and in different genres thus reflecting the qualities of race as an omnipresent and all embracing discourse of the time

Hidden History (Volume 2 of 2) (EasyRead Super Large 18pt Edition) , The Bloomsbury Handbook of the Philosophy of the Historical Sciences and Big History Aviezer Tucker, David Cernín, 2025-08-21 This handbook examines the philosophy of the historical sciences and their synthesis in concepts like Big or Deep History Written by interdisciplinary philosophers historians and scientists it acts as a valuable guide for anybody interested in scientific knowledge of the deep past Big History and the philosophy of science The Bloomsbury Handbook of the Philosophy of the Historical Sciences and Big History is the first philosophical reference work to recognize that History is not what it used to be the historical sciences Deep History Big History and even the history of the Anthropocene have now expanded the scope of historiography beyond that of literate civilizations to cover all scientific inferences about the past from the Big Bang through the history of the planet and the history of life to the history of humanity Different views about the scope of History have ontological epistemic methodological explanatory ethical and educational reasons and implications The historical sciences and the knowledge they have generated are founded on theories of knowledge of the past epistemology of history The contributions in this book consider whether there are common epistemic properties to all the historical sciences that distinguish them from non historical or theoretical sciences The first part of the handbook examines the recent expansion of the scope of the historical sciences in Big History natural history global history and environmental history and older broader concepts of history like universal history and philosophy of history The second part of the handbook addresses the ontology and epistemology of the past including the basic concepts of the historical sciences such as origins the end of history determination and underdetermination contingency and necessity historical predictions and counterfactuals and historical pseudoscience The third part examines the philosophies of the special historical sciences historical linguistics textual criticism geology evolutionary biology systematics archaeology cosmology history of the environment and most significantly their integrations and combinations for example how genetics archaeology and historical linguistics have generated a whole new knowledge of deep human history This collection offers an overview of what the philosophy of the historical sciences is and is becoming for students and experts alike

Where Histories Reside Priya Jaikumar, 2019-10-31 In Where Histories Reside Priya Jaikumar examines eight decades of films shot on location in India to show how attending to filmed space reveals alternative timelines and histories of cinema In this bold spatial film historiography Jaikumar outlines factors that shape India's filmed space from state bureaucracies and commercial infrastructures to aesthetic styles and neoliberal policies Whether discussing how educational shorts from Britain and India transform natural landscapes into instructional lessons or how Jean Renoir's The River 1951 presents a universal human condition through the particularities of place Jaikumar demonstrates that the history of filming a location has always been a history of competing assumptions experiences practices and representational regimes In so doing she reveals that addressing the persistent question of what is cinema must account for an aesthetics and politics of space

Schooling Passions Véronique Bénéï, 2008 This book explores how regional and national senses of belonging are produced and transmitted in elementary schools in western India

Cosmopolitan Cultures and Oceanic Thought Dilip M Menon, Nishat Zaidi, 2023-03-29 This book imagines the ocean as central to understanding the world and its connections in history literature and the social sciences Introducing the central conceptual category of ocean as method it analyzes the histories of movement and traversing across connected spaces of water and land sedimented in literary texts folklore local histories autobiographies music and performance It explores the constant flow of people material and ideologies across the waters and how they make their presence felt in a cosmopolitan thinking of the connections of the world Going beyond violent histories of slavery and indenture that generate global connections it tracks the movements of sailors boatmen religious teachers merchants and adventurers The essays in this volume summon up this miscegenated history in which land and water are ever linked A significant rethinking of world history this volume will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of history especially connected history and maritime history literature and Global South studies

Monuments and Memory in Africa John Sodiq Sanni, Madalitso Zililo Phiri, 2024-03-05 This book investigates how monuments have been used in Africa as tools of oppression and dominance from the colonial period up to the present day The book asks what the decolonisation of historical monuments and geographies might entail and how this could contribute to the creation of a post imperial world In recent times African movements to overthrow the symbols and monuments of the colonial era have gathered pace as a means of renaming reclassifying and reimagining colonial identities and spaces Movements such as RhodesMustFall in South Africa have sprung up around the world connected by a history of Black life struggles erasures oppression suppression and the depression of Black biopolitics This book provides an important multidisciplinary intervention in the discourse on monuments and memories asking what they are what they have been used to represent and ultimately what they can reveal about past and present forms of pain and oppression Drawing on insights from philosophy historical sociology politics museum and literary studies this book will be of interest to a range of scholars with an interest in the decolonisation of global African history

Moral Mappings of South and North Peter Wagner, 2017-06-02 The term Global South marks a new attempt at providing order and meaning in the current global political constellation replacing the term Third World But the term Global South is fraught with many ambiguities This book explores the possible meanings of this new distinction and assesses the advantages and disadvantages of adopting it for understanding the contemporary world It casts a wide exploratory net addressing historical transformations of world interpretation and wider cultural intellectual meanings

Modern Sports in Asia Younghan Cho, Charles Leary, 2016-04-14 Modern sports were introduced to Asia in the late nineteenth century as an innovation from the West concurrently with the development of modern society in Asia This book traces the historical developments of sporting cultures in Asia in specific local contexts including Singapore China Myanmar Taiwan the Philippines and India and their intersections with larger social developments of colonialism postcolonialism nationalism and the building of modern Asia and its place in a globalized world The case studies herein present the social history of modern team sports with standardized rules such as basketball and cricket and less familiar sports such as fives and chinlone as they vacillate between global and local perspectives This book also shows that modern sports have had an important influence on the makeup of everyday life in Asia and the essays here also consider sports impact on gender body culture and celebrity culture among other concerns This book painstakingly bridges the gaps between Asian Studies and Sports Studies in a way that reflects the historicity and multiplicity of sports in Asian societies By adopting multi disciplinary approaches this book innovatively offers significant intersection between sociology cultural studies and Asian studies of sport in Asia This book was published as a special issue of Sport in Society Working with A Secular Age Florian Zemmin,Colin Jager,Guido Vanheeswijck,2016-03-21 Charles Taylor s monumental book A Secular Age has been extensively discussed criticized and worked on This volume by contrast explores ways of working with Taylor s book especially its potentials and limits for individual research projects Due to its wide reception it has initiated a truly interdisciplinary object of study with essays drawn from various research fields this volume fosters substantial conversation across disciplines Crossing the Bay of Bengal Sunil S. Amrith,2013-10-07 For centuries the Bay of Bengal served as a maritime highway between India and China and as a battleground for European empires while being shaped by monsoons and human migration Integrating environmental history and mining a wealth of sources Sunil S Amrith offers insights to the many challenges facing Asia in the decades ahead Reimagining Dinosaurs in Late Victorian and Edwardian Literature Richard Fallon,2021-11-04 Reimagining Dinosaurs argues that transatlantic popular literature was critical for transforming the dinosaur into a cultural icon between 1880 and 1920 Terrestrial Lessons Sumathi Ramaswamy,2017-10-03 Prologue Global itineraries Earth inscriptions In pursuit of a global thing As you live in the world you ought to know something of the world The global pandit Down to Earth Of girls and globes It s called a globe It is the Earth Our Earth Epilogue The conquest of the world as globe Gender in the Making ,2024-06-24 The Routledge Handbook of Literature and Space Robert Tally Jr.,2017-01-06 The spatial turn in literary studies is transforming the way we think of the field The Routledge Handbook of Literature and Space maps the key areas of spatiality within literary studies offering a comprehensive overview but also pointing towards new and exciting directions of study The interdisciplinary and global approach provides a thorough introduction and includes thirty two essays on topics such as Spatial theory and practice Critical methodologies Work sites Cities and the geography of urban experience Maps territories readings The contributors to this volume demonstrate how a variety of romantic realist modernist and postmodernist narratives represent the changing social spaces of their world and of our own world system today The Global South and Literature Russell West-Pavlov,2018-03-08 The Global South has largely supplanted the Third World in discussions of development studies postcolonial studies world literature and comparative literature respectively The concept registers a new set of relationships between nations of the once colonized world as their connections to nations of the North diminish in significance Such relationships register particularly clearly in contemporary cultural theory and literary production The Global South and Literature explores the historical cultural and literary applications of the term for twenty first century flows of transnational cultural influence tracing their manifestations across the Global Southern traditions of Africa Asia and Latin America This collection of interdisciplinary contributions examines the origins development and applications of this emergent term employed at the nexus of the critical social sciences and developments in literary humanities and cultural studies This book will be a key resource for students graduates and researchers working in the field of postcolonial studies and world literature Contesting Earth's History in Transatlantic Literary Culture, 1860-1935 Richard Fallon, 2025-02-14 By the mid nineteenth century geologists and palaeontologists had reconstructed an authoritative narrative of Earth's deep history from the planet's molten origins to the rise of humanity. Many figures in transatlantic science across subsequent decades however had problems with this narrative: it was too secular, inhuman and evolutionary, or controlled too exclusively by elite scientists. Speaking from palaeoscience's unevenly professionalized and controversy-racked borders, Christian fundamentalists, charismatic psychics and respected scholars alike voiced their objections. Until now, no study has brought their work together for detailed comparative analysis. Spanning from the 1860s to the interwar decades, Contesting Earth's History examines the fascinating stories of five significant examples of fringe or borderline palaeoscience: old and young earth creationism, hollow earth theory, clairvoyant time travel and sunken continent catastrophism. Innovatively combining methods from literary studies with the history of science, this book attends not just to the conceptual content of these strange sciences but also to their proponents' communication of truth claims through diverse genres ranging from the scientific textbook and the technical monograph to the lost world romance and the epic poem. By paying close attention to the hitherto overlooked textual forms and literary strategies of these works of pseudoscience, this volume throws into relief the variant conceptions of audience, evidence and method that jostled and competed in wider scientific culture during this period. It also demonstrates that for all their diversity, authors of borderline palaeoscience shared the desire to shift the balance of power, creating textual spaces where exclusive hierarchies of scientific expertise could be levelled away. These conjurors of lost worlds often captivated wide audiences, and many of their bizarre, astonishing and iconoclastic ideas remain with us to this day. Some even inspired early science fiction by the likes of H.P. Lovecraft and Edgar Rice Burroughs. Hijacking geologists and palaeontologists' longstanding effort at making the prehistoric past visible, authors on the borderlines of palaeoscience asserted their right to scientific authority and encouraged readers to gaze into time's abyss with bold new eyes.

Reassembling the Strange Thomas Anderson, 2018-10-15 This book examines how Westerners understood and processed Madagascar and its environment during the nineteenth century. Madagascar's unique ecosystem crafted its reputation as a strange place full of unusual species. Westerners however often minimized Madagascar's peculiar features to stress the commonality of its fauna and flora with the world. The attempt to understand the island through science led to a domestication of its environment that created the image of a tame and known world capable of being controlled and used by Western powers. At the heart of the exploration of Madagascar and its transformation in Western eyes from a strange world to a cash crop colony were missionaries and naturalists who relied upon global experiences to master the island by normalizing the peculiar qualities of Madagascar's environment. This book reveals how the environment played a dominant role in understanding the island and its people, and how current environmental debates have evolved from earlier policies and discussions about the environment.
