The Farther Shore Don Gifford, 1990-01-01     E.A. Dupont and His Contribution to British Film Paul Matthew St. Pierre, 2010     Cinematography in the Weimar Republic Paul Matthew St. Pierre, 2016-08-15

In film history director cinematographer collaborations were on a labor spectrum with the model of the contracted camera operator in the silent era and that of the cinematographer in the sound era. But in Weimar era German filmmaking 1919-33 a short period of intense artistic activity and political and economic instability these models existed side by side due to the emergence of camera operators as independent visual artists and collaborators with directors. Berlin in the 1920s was the chief site of the interdisciplinary avant garde of the Modernist movement in the visual literary architectural design typographical sartorial and performance arts in Europe. The Weimar Revolution that arose in the aftermath of the November 1918 Armistice and that established the Weimar Republic informed and agitated all of the art movements such as Expressionism Dada the Bauhaus Minimalism Objectivism Verism and Neue Sachlichkeit New Objectivity. Among the avant garde forms of these new stylistically and culturally negotiated arts the cinema was foremost and since its inception had been a radical experimental practice in new visual technologies that proved instrumental in changing how human beings perceived movement structure perspective light exposure temporal duration continuity spatial orientation human postural facial vocal and gestural displays and their own spectatorship as well as conventions of storytelling like narrative setting theme character and structure. Whereas most of the arts mobilized into schools movements institutions and other structures cinema a collaborative art tended to organize around its ensembles of practitioners. Historically the silent film era 1895-1927 is associated with auteurs the precursors of François Truffaut and other filmmakers in the 1960s actuality filmmakers and pioneers like R.W. Paul and Fred and Joe Evans in England Auguste and Louis Lumière and Georges Méliès in France and Charles Chaplin and Buster Keaton in America who by managing all the compositional executional and editorial facets of film production scripting directing acting photographing set costume and lighting design editing and marketing imposed their personal vision or authorship on the film. The dichotomy of the auteur and the production ensemble established a production hierarchy in most filmmaking. In formative German silent film however this hierarchy was less rank or class driven because collaborative partnerships took precedence over single authorship. Whereas in silent film production in most countries the terms filmmaker and director were synonymous in German silent film the plural term filmemacherin connoted both directors and cinematographers along with the rest of the filmmaking crew. Thus German silent filmmakers' principle contribution to the new medium and art of film was less the representational iconographies of Expressionist New Objective and Naturalist styles than the executional practice of co-authorship and co-production in distinctive cinematographer-director partnerships such as those of cinematographer Theodor Sparkuhl and director Ernst Lubitsch Fritz Arno Wagner with F.W. Murnau Fritz Lang and G.W. Pabst Rudolf Mat with Carl Theodor Dreyer Guido Seeber with Lang and Pabst and Carl Hoffmann with Lang and challenges posed by the new ideal of objectivity not by rejecting the scientific worldview but by humanizing it for himself Tauber portrays Thoreau as a man whose moral vision guided his life's work Each of Thoreau's projects reflected a self-proclaimed metaphysical ethics an articulated program of self-discovery and self-knowing By writing by combining precision with poetry in his naturalist pursuits and simplicity with mystical fervor in his daily activity Thoreau sought to live a life of virtue one he would characterize as marked by deliberate choice This unique vision of human agency and responsibility will still seem fresh and contemporary to readers at the start of the twenty-first century Discover Design Pattern Thinking DR. RUDY A. MAGNAN, 2013-07-18 Thinking skill is unquestionably the fundamental human resource We need to do much more about developing this skill because the complexity of modern life demands more than routine reactions There is an even bigger need for productive constructive and generative thinking I hope that everyone concerned with the future direction of education will pay attention to these important matters which you raise in this book Dr Edward de Bono WORLDS LEADING AUTHORITY ON THINKING AS A DELIBERATE SKILL Zones of Re-membering Don Gifford, 2011-03 Don Gifford in Zones of Re-membering shows clearly thoughtfully yet entertainingly how no one explanation will account for the depth and complexity of human experience and its grounding in Memory Because consciousness is a function of Memory life without Memory is no life at all as Alzheimer's all too frequently demonstrates Both our individual and collective Memory is stored in the arts he contends which in turn provide a way of knowing and of nourishing Memory and consciousness Memory like language is never really stable or accurate but appears as narrative and these narratives collectively form our entire culture For Gifford the profoundest explorer of the human consciousness time and memory is James Joyce and in its range of reference wit and humanity the spirit of Joyce permeates this book The Challenges of Ivan Illich Lee Hoinacki, Carl Mitcham, 2012-02-01 This unique collection examines the man Utne Reader has called the greatest social critic of the twentieth century The essays all by people Illich has influenced personally discuss how his life and thought have affected conceptualization study and practice of psychotherapy notions about education ideas concerning the historical development of the text perceptions of technology as well as other topics All of Illich's books are discussed and his ideas on education theology technology anarchism and society are examined in relationship to those of Ren Girard Karl Polanyi Emmanuel Levinas and Jacques Ellul Illich's previously unpublished paper offering a new view of conspiracy in European history is included The Conduct of Inquiry in International Relations Patrick Thaddeus Jackson, 2016-03-31 The Conduct of Inquiry in International Relations first edition was winner of the ISA Northeast's Yale H. Ferguson Award and the ISA Theory Section's Best Book of the Year award The Conduct of Inquiry in International Relations provides an introduction to the philosophy of science issues and their implications for the study of global politics The author draws attention to the problems caused by the misleading notion of a single unified scientific method and proposes a framework that clarifies the variety of ways that IR scholars establish the authority and validity of their empirical claims Jackson connects philosophical considerations with concrete issues of research design within neopositivist critical realist analyticist and reflexive approaches to the study of world politics Envisioning a pluralist science for a global IR field this volume organizes the significant differences between methodological stances so as to promote internal consistency public discussion and worldly insight as the hallmarks of any scientific study of world politics In this second edition Jackson has centralised the philosophical history of the science question into a single chapter providing a clearer picture of the connections between contemporary concerns about the status of knowledge and classic philosophical debates about the relationship between human beings and the world they inhabit The central chapters feature more detailed and pedagogically useful illustrations of the methodological positions discussed making the book even better suited to clarify the philosophical distinctions with respect to which a scientific researcher must locate herself The second edition will continue to be essential reading for all students and scholars of International Relations Political Science and Philosophy of Science

Closing an Era Richard J. Cox, 2000-09-30 The importance of records in modern society is explored by re examining some of the historical antecedents for critical functions in the modern records professions The motivation for writing this book comes from a conviction of the importance of records and records professionals in organizations and society as well as the need to possess a stronger sense of the events trends people debates and controversies producing the modern records professions Archivists and records managers have tended to discount the importance of their historical antecedents ignoring the fact that many of the current debates and issues before the profession are not new but embedded in the historical evolution of the records professions Re examining some of the historical origins helps records professionals to re examine their mission to manage records for the benefit of organizations and of all of society Such re evaluation also helps to remind records professionals and others that the concerns generated by new electronic recordkeeping technologies are not new at all but built deep within the fabric of traditional records creation and administration

The Nineteenth-Century Novel and the Pre-Cinematic Imagination Alberto Gabriele, 2024-11-14 This book fills a gap in existing scholarship on the history of the novel in relation to visual culture by discussing the visual fascination that novelists such as Nathaniel Hawthorne Herman Melville Honor de Balzac and George Eliot show for several types of pre cinematic spectacle It also identifies a so far neglected aspect of novel theory that nineteenth century authors elaborated by incorporating suggestions from pre cinematic visual spectacles By shedding light on forms of visibility that were not entertained by the dominant aesthetic modes of painting and photography The Nineteenth Century Novel and the Pre Cinematic Imagination argues that the presence of nineteenth century pre cinematic optical illusions in works of fiction redefines the notion of mimesis as animated movement and points to a continuity between pre cinema the literary imagination and the structures of knowledge production of the modern episteme

The Unknown Genius Creative Abilities of Leonardo Da Vinci Dr. Rudy A. Magnan, 2020-10-01 This publication was written in the belief that Leonardo's study of his natural surroundings his advanced perceptual skills and his continued interest in learning all played a significant role in developing his creativity He challenged established mindsets with the conviction that all earthly things are connected He spent years observing nature s secrets documenting his observations and the creative thinking that resulted While much has been written about Leonardo s incredible scientific discoveries his futuristic inventions and his great works of art we fail to realize that Leonardo da Vinci developed incredible creative thinking that needs to be understood and applied in this new creative paradigm where creative ideas are the currency of the future
