Postcolonial Geographies Alison Blunt, Cheryl McEwan, 2003-02-01 Postcolonialism and geography are intimately linked through the spatiality of colonial discourse as well as the material effects of colonialism and decolonization Geographical ideas about space place landscape and location have helped to articulate different experiences of colonialism both in the past and present and the here and there At the same time while spatial images such as mobility margins and exile abound in postcolonial writings more material geographies have often been overlooked Postcolonial Geographies presents the first sustained geographical analysis of postcolonialism Exploring and developing the connections between postcolonialism and geography the essays in this book ranging across Europe Australia Asia Africa and North America investigate the geographies of postcolonialism and chart the contours of a postcolonial geography Contributors Morag Bell Claire Dwyer Haydie Gooder Jane M Jacobs M Satish Kumar Alan Lester Mark McGuinness Karen M Morin Richard Phillips Marcus Power Jenny Robinson James D Sidaway John Wylie

Postcolonialism Tariq Jazeel, 2019-02-22 Postcolonialism is a book that examines the influence of postcolonial theory in critical geographical thought and scholarship Aimed at advanced level students and researchers the book is a lively stimulating and relevant introduction to postcolonial geography that elaborates on the critical interventions in social cultural and political life this important subfield is poised to make The book is structured around three intersecting parts Spaces Identity hybridity Knowledge that broadly follow the trajectory of postcolonial studies since the late 1970s It comprises ten main chapters each of which is situated at the intersections of postcolonialism and critical human geography In doing so Postcolonialism develops three key arguments First that postcolonialism is best conceived as an intellectually creative and practical set of methodologies or approaches for critically engaging existing manifestations of power and exclusion in everyday life and in taken as given spaces Second that postcolonialism is at its core concerned with the politics of representation both in terms of how people and space are represented but also the politics surrounding who is able to represent themselves and on what whose terms Third the book argues that postcolonialism itself is an inherently geographical intellectual enterprise despite its origins in literary theory In developing these arguments and addressing a series of relevant and international case studies and examples throughout Postcolonialism not only demonstrates the importance of postcolonial theory to the contemporary critical geographical imagination It also argues that geographers have much to offer to continued theorizations and workings of postcolonial theory politics and intellectual debates going forward This is a book that brings critical analyses of the continued and omnipresent legacies of colonialism and imperialism to the heart of human geography but also one that returns an avowedly critical geographical disposition to the core of interdisciplinary postcolonial studies

Collective Action in Post-colonial Societies Sepetla Molapo, 2025-02-11 This book offers an exploration of collective action by bringing together the themes of sovereignty and solidarity in post colonial societies in Africa and beyond It does so against a common tradition of writing about collective action that assumes an opposition between the state as a legal framework of unity and social movements that express the aspirations of marginalized people The book s examination of collective action resists this binary division It states that sovereignty can be imagined beyond the confines of the law and consequently beyond the centrality of the state Power therefore appears as a construct of forces and factors that signal or gesture to a complex but fascinating way of imagining collective action These forces and factors open our eyes to the dynamics of life in post colonial societies in ways that the understanding of sovereignty centred on law conceals Brought into an intimacy with solidarity sovereignty opens collective action to nuanced complex and multiple configurations that surpass binary thinking This is an innovative approach and of interest to students and scholars from across the social sciences

stage Turkey and the West offers a unique approach to this transformation and considers questions of Turkish national identity and its relations with the West through the lens of gender studies From the Ottoman Empire to the present day the book constructs an image of Turkish foreign policy as reflecting a gendered insecurity one of a non Western Turkish masculinity subordinated to a Western hegemonic masculinity and shows how Turkey s subordination has in turn been internalised by its own politicians Across a diverse range of sources Bilgic takes advantage of new theories such as critical security studies CSS to paint a picture of a Turkish republic anxious to make its mark on the world stage yet perennially insecure about its position as a global power Turkey and the West is essential for students and researchers interested in Turkish politics and the international relations of the Middle East as well as those with an interest in gender and identity studies

Research Directions, Challenges and Achievements of Modern Geography Jerzy Bański, Michael Meadows, 2023-12-01 This book identifies and discusses research directions challenges and achievements in contemporary geography It also documents the most current theoretical and methodological considerations undertaken by scientists representing various sub disciplines of geography with particular reference to human geography It was assumed that the thematic structure of the currently active International Geographical Union IGU problem commissions corresponds to the most relevant and current research directions in geography Reflecting this assumption the book consists of 14 chapters contributed by geographers representing 14 problem commissions of the IGU which allows us to examine geography from different perspectives and to provide the reader with a complete overview of contemporary research issues in human geography. The first part discusses contemporary research problems and issues related to scientific methodology and achievements of selected geographical sub disciplines including urban geography, agricultural geography, transport geography and political geography among others. The second part focuses on the interdisciplinarity of geography and the topics of global dimension undertaken by geographers such as global change, GIS and geospatial technology, marginalization and environmental change. This part also discusses the internal relations between geographical specializations and their links with other related sciences including geology, sociology and economics. The third part discusses the holistic approaches of geography applied to particular regions, territories or conditions: Africa, coastal systems, geomorphology and local development.

Cities Under Siege Stephen Graham, 2011-11-01. Cities are the new battleground of our increasingly urban world. From the slums of the global South to the wealthy financial centers of the West, Cities Under Siege traces the spread of political violence through the sites, spaces, infrastructure and symbols of the world's rapidly expanding metropolitan areas. Drawing on a wealth of original research, Stephen Graham shows how Western militaries and security forces now perceive all urban terrain as a conflict zone inhabited by lurking shadow enemies. Urban inhabitants have become targets that need to be continually tracked, scanned and controlled. Graham examines the transformation of Western armies into high tech urban counter insurgency forces. He looks at the militarization and surveillance of international borders, the use of security concerns to suppress democratic dissent and the enacting of legislation to suspend civilian law. In doing so, he reveals how the New Military Urbanism permeates the entire fabric of urban life from subway and transport networks hardwired with high tech command and control systems to the insidious militarization of a popular culture corrupted by the all pervasive discourse of terrorism.

Anti-Fascism in a Global Perspective Kasper Braskén, Nigel Copsey, David J Featherstone, 2020-09-20. This book initiates a critical discussion on the varieties of global anti fascism and explores the cultural, political and practical articulations of anti fascism around the world. This volume brings together a group of leading scholars on the history of anti fascism to provide a comprehensive analysis of anti fascism from a transnational and global perspective and to reveal the abundance and complexity of anti fascist ideas, movements and practices. Through a number of interlinked case studies, they examine how different forms of global anti fascisms were embedded in various national and local contexts during the interwar period and investigate the interrelations between local articulations and the global movement. Contributions also explore the actions and impact of African, Asian, Latin American, Caribbean and Middle Eastern anti fascist voices that have often been ignored or rendered peripheral in international histories of anti fascism. Aimed at a postgraduate student audience, this book will be useful for modules on the extreme right, political history, political thought, political ideologies, political parties, social movements, political regimes, global politics, world history and sociology. Postcolonial Semantics Carsten Levisen, 2024-04-01

Global knowledge production increasingly happens through one particular language: modern Anglo-English. What does the Anglocentric reliance of English words and phrases mean for the way we make claims, formulate research questions and develop theories? In this monograph, these questions are scrutinized and explored through Postcolonial Semantics, a new framework that draws on advances in postcolonial linguistics and cognitive cultural semantics. Through original semantic work on Bislama words and Urban Pacific concepts, each chapter provides alternatives to Anglocentric linguistic framings of knowledge in the domains of language, communication, sociology, psychology and geopolitics. Highlighting the pluriversality of meaning-making and the multipolarity of knowledge, the book speaks into central themes in semantics, including the question of metalanguage and the representation of meaning, as well as contact zone semantics and the colonial matrix of power. All analyses are provided in both English and Bislama through a translatable semantic metalanguage of shared human concepts. Apart from semanticists and postcolonial language scholars, the monograph is of interest to researchers and research students in fields such as World Englishes, creole studies, linguistic anthropology, intercultural pragmatics and global discourse studies.
