Fundamentals of Integrated Design for Sustainable Building offers an introduction to green building concepts as well as design approaches that reduce and can eventually eliminate the need for fossil fuel use in buildings while also conserving materials maximizing their efficiency protecting the indoor air from chemical intrusion and reducing the introduction of toxic materials into the environment It represents a necessary road map to the future designers builders and planners of a post carbon world from the Foreword by Ed Mazria A rich sourcebook covering the breadth of environmental building
Fundamentals of Integrated Design for Sustainable Building introduces the student and practitioner to the history theory and technology of green building Using an active learning approach the concepts of sustainable architecture are explained and reinforced through design problems research exercises study questions team projects and discussion topics Chapters by specialists in the green movement round out this survey of all the important issues and developments that students and professionals need to know From history and philosophy to design technologies and practice this sweeping resource is sure to be referenced until worn out      Cities and Nature Lisa Benton-Short,John Rennie Short,2013-05-29 Cities and Nature connects environmental processes with social and political actions The book reconnects science and social science to demonstrate how the city is part of the environment and how it is subject to environmental constraints and opportunities This second edition has been extensively revised and updated with in depth examination of theory and critical themes Greater discussion is given to urbanization trends and megacities the post industrial city and global economic changes developing cities and slums urban political ecology the role of the city in climate change and sustainability The book explores the historical relationship between cities and nature contemporary challenges to this relationship and attempts taken to create more sustainable cities The historical context situates urban development and its impact on the environment and in turn the environmental impact on people in cities This provides a foundation from which to understand contemporary issues such as urban political ecology hazards and disasters water quality and supply air pollution and climate change The book then considers sustainability and how it has been informed by different theoretical approaches Issues of environmental justice and the role of gender and race are explored The final chapter examines the ways in which cities are practicing sustainability from light greening efforts such as planting trees to more comprehensive sustainability plans that integrate the multiple dimensions of sustainability The text contains case studies from around the globe with many drawn from cities in the developing world as well as reviews of recent research updated and expanded further reading to highlight relevant films websites and journal articles This book is an asset to students and researchers in geography environmental studies urban studies and planning and sustainability      Environmental Policy Tools ,1995      Environmental policy tools : a user's guide. ,1995 The search for smarter ways to prevent or control pollution has generated heated debate on almost every conceivable topic related to setting goals improving institutional arrangements and choosing the most effective means for achieving those goals This last issue choosing the means or policy instruments to meet environmental goals can be a surprisingly complex task for decision makers given the need to balance other competing concerns The environmental policy toolbox contains many and varied instruments but lacks a clear set of instructions for their use This OTA report fills that need The guide is organized into three major sections 1 The Environmental Policy Toolbox a discussion of 12 major policy tools their frequency of use and key strengths and weaknesses 2 The Criteria for Comparing Tools our evaluation of how effective these instruments are in achieving the values and interests or criteria decision makers are likely to weigh 3 Choosing Tools a series of questions for matching a tool or tools to a specific problem Choosing tools that satisfy several much less all of these criteria for a specific problem is the challenge Unfortunately no perfect policy tool exists to meet everyone s expectations for every problem EPA 200-B. ,1996-10 EPA National Publications Catalog United States. Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications ,1995 *Environmental Policy Processes Surrounding South Africa*s Plastic Bags Regulations: Tensions, Debates and Responses in Waste Product Regulation Godwell

Nhamo,2008-01-31 This study was conducted in South Africa South Africa is the first country within the Southern African Development Community to have regulated plastic shopping bags waste through the imposition of both a standard on thickness and a levy Given this scenario the Plastic Bags Regulations present an illustrative case for researching complexity uncertainty and controversies surrounding a new trend in environmental policy making namely waste product regulation The thesis focuses on understanding and investigating tensions debates and responses emerging from the policy process as actors and actor networks put not only the Plastic Bags Regulations into circulation as focal actant token but also other actants and actant networks as well To this end a research question that addressed environmental policies tensions debates and responses that informed the development of South Africa s Plastic Bags Regulations was spelt out The research objectives included the need to 1 analyse selected international environmental policy processes surrounding plastic shopping bags litter and waste regulation and how these influenced developments in South Africa 2 identify actors actants and actor actant networks that shaped and were being transformed by South Africa s Plastic Bags Regulations and explain the tensions debates and responses arising in the policy processes 3 identify environmental policy outputs and assess outcomes emerging from the formulation and implementation of South Africa's Plastic Bags Regulations and 4 establish patterns in environmental policy process reforms around South Africa's Plastic Bags Regulations. The language of actors, human actants, non-human and actor-actant networks brings to the fore the aspects of processes and relationships that exist around them. As such, insights from the actor-actant network theory (AANT) were drawn upon to inform the research. AANT enquiry framework collapses binaries such as nature/society, art/science, structure/agency and global/local, historically associated with a particular type of social theory. AANT also denies that purely technical/scientific or social relations are possible; the notion of quasi-objects or tokens. Data sets were generated following the Plastic Bags Regulations as token actant with time frames ranging from prior to, during and after the formulation of the regulations. Similarly, data analysis drew insights from AANT's four moments of translation, namely: problematisation, interessement, enrolment and mobilisation, with the intervention theory providing an evaluative perspective that complemented AANT. The findings were that after the promulgation of the first draft of the Plastic Bags Regulations in May 2000, tensions emerged around the nature of regulation: whether command and control preferred by government or self-regulation preferred by industry and labour. In this regard, the latter group raised concerns about jobs, income and equipment loss, as well as the need to have a holistic approach to waste management rather than targeting a single product at a time, whilst the former maintained that this would not be so. As such, education, awareness and stringent anti-litter penalties were proposed by industry and labour as sustainable responses to the problem of plastic shopping bags waste rather than regulation. These debates continued and resulted in minor amendments to the original regulations as finalised by Government in May 2002. However, industry and labour continued lobbying government, resulting in the conclusion of the Plastic Bags Agreement in September 2002 and the ultimate repulsion of the May 2002 regulations in May 2003. As revealed by this research, these responses led to broader social responses and further tensions as demand for plastic shopping bags went down by about 80% although an estimated 1000 jobs were lost and a number of companies lost equipment and business with some closing down following the implementation of
