The Impact of WTO SPS Law on EU Food Regulations Chris Downes, 2014-03-20 This book brings a fresh perspective on the emerging field of international food law with the first detailed analysis of the process and implications of domestic compliance with the World Trade Organisation WTO Sanitary and Phytosanitary SPS Agreement It investigates the influence of WTO disciplines on the domestic policy making process and examines the extent to which international trade law determines European Union EU food regulations Following controversial WTO rulings on genetically modified foods and growth hormones in beef awareness and criticism of global rules governing food has grown considerably Yet the real impact of this international legal meta framework on domestic regulations has remained obscure to practitioners and largely unexplored by legal commentators This book examines the emergence of transnational governance practices set in motion by the SPS Agreement and their role in facilitating agricultural trade In so doing it complements and challenges conventional accounts of the SPS regime dominated by analysis of WTO disputes It reviews legal commentary of the SPS Agreement to understand why WTO rules are so commonly characterised as a significant threat to domestic food policy preferences It then takes on these assumptions through an in depth review of food policies and decision making practices in the EU revealing both the potential and limits of WTO law to shape EU policies It finally examines two important venues for the generation of global food norms the WTO SPS Committee and Codex Alimentarius to evaluate the practice and significance of transnational governance in this domain Through detailed case studies including novel foods food additives vitamin and mineral supplements and transparency and equivalence procedures this book provides a richer account of compliance and exposes the subtle but important influence of WTO obligations

Food Safety Standards in International Trade Onsando Osiemo, 2016-09-15 Food safety has become a major concern for consumers in the developed world and Europe in particular This has been highlighted by the recent spate of food scares ranging from the BSE mad cow crisis to Chinese melamine contamination of baby formula To ensure food safety throughout Europe stringent food safety standards have been put in place from farm to fork At the same time poor African countries in the COMESA rely on their food exports to the European market to achieve their development goals yet have difficulty meeting the EU food safety standards This book examines the impact of EU food safety standards on food imports from COMESA countries It also critically examines both EU and COMESA food safety standards in light of the WTO SPS Agreement and the jurisprudence of the WTO panels and Appellate Body The book makes ground breaking proposals on how the standards divide between the EU and the COMESA can be bridged and discusses the impact of EU food safety standards on food imports from poor African countries

Rethinking Participation in Global Governance Joost

Pauwelyn, Martino Maggetti, Tim Büthe, Ayelet Berman, 2022-05-05 International organizations and other global governance bodies often make rules and decisions without input from many of the individuals groups firms and governments that are affected by them The standards of the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision for instance developed by a small number of states govern financial markets and the safety of bank deposits in over a hundred jurisdictions Historically the interests of developing countries as well as non commercial and diffuse interests within countries have been excluded or disregarded in global governance Scholars and practitioners have criticised this democratic deficit and called for greater participation of such marginalized stakeholders Against this background international institutions have introduced a variety of reforms with the goal of increasing and facilitating the participation of these excluded stakeholders This book brings together an expert group of scholars and practitioners to investigate the consequences of stakeholder participation reforms in the global governance of health and finance What reforms have been introduced Have these reforms given previously marginalized stakeholders a voice in global governance bodies What effect have these reforms had on the legitimacy and effectiveness of global governance To answer these questions the book examines treaty based intergovernmental organizations alongside newer forms of global governance such as trans governmental regulatory networks multi stakeholder partnerships and private standard setting bodies Through a series of paired comparative analyses the book provides insights into the experiences of large emerging and smaller or lower income developing countries Brazil v Argentina China v Vietnam India v the Philippines in a diverse set of organizations including the World Bank and the World Health Organization the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision the Global Fund to Fight AIDS Tuberculosis and Malaria the International Accounting Standards Board Codex Alimentarius Commission and more
