Chinese Food and Foodways in Southeast Asia and Beyond

Tan Chee-Beng, 2012-08-01 Chinese cuisine has had a deep impact on culinary traditions in Southeast Asia where the lack of certain ingredients and access to new ingredients along with the culinary knowledge of local people led Chinese migrants to modify traditional dishes and to invent new foods This process brought the cuisine of southern China considered by some writers to be the finest in the world into contact with a wide range of local and global cuisines and ingredients When Chinese from Southeast Asia moved on to other parts of the world they brought these variants of Chinese food with them completing a cycle of culinary reproduction localization and invention and globalization The process does not end there for the new context offers yet another set of ingredients and culinary traditions and the embedding and fusing of foods continues creating additional hybrid forms Written by scholars whose deep familiarity with Chinese cuisine is both personal and academic Chinese Food and Foodways in Southeast Asia and Beyond is a book that anyone who has been fortunate enough to encounter Southeast Asian food will savour and it provides a window on this world for those who have yet to discover it

Eating Her Curries and Kway Nicole Tarulevicz, 2013-12-15 Discovering Singaporean identity through cooking and cuisine While eating is a universal experience for Singaporeans it carries strong national connotations The popular Singaporean English phrase Die die must try is not so much hyperbole as it is a reflection of the lengths that Singaporeans will go to find great dishes In Eating Her Curries and Kway A Cultural History of Food in Singapore Nicole Tarulevicz argues that in a society that has undergone substantial change in a relatively short amount of time food serves Singaporeans as a poignant connection to the past Eating has provided a unifying practice for a diverse society a metaphor for multiracialism and recognizable national symbols for a fledgling state Covering the period from British settlement in 1819 to the present and focusing on the post 1965 postcolonial era Tarulevicz tells the story of Singapore through the production and consumption of food Analyzing a variety of sources that range from cookbooks to architectural and city plans Tarulevicz offer a thematic history of this unusual country which was colonized by the British and operated as a port within Malaya Connecting food culture to the larger history of Singapore she discusses various topics including domesticity and home economics housing and architecture advertising and the regulation of food related manners and public behavior such as hawking littering and chewing gum Moving away from the predominantly political and economic focus of other histories of Singapore Eating Her Curries and Kway provides an important alternative reading of Singaporean society
