Football Supporters and the Commercialisation of Football Peter Kennedy, David Kennedy, 2014-07-16 As football clubs have become luxury investments their decisions increasingly mirror those of any other business organisation Football supporters have been encouraged to express their club loyalty by thinking business acting as consumers and generating money deemed necessary for their clubs to compete at the highest levels In critical studies supporters have been portrayed as passive or reluctant consumers who imprisoned by enduring club loyalties embody a fatalistic attitude to their own exploitation As this book aims to show however such expressions of loyalty are far from hegemonic and often interface haphazardly with traditional ideas about what constitutes the loyal fan While there is little doubt that professional football is experiencing commodification the reality is that football clubs are not simply businesses nor can they ever aspire to be organisations driven solely by expanding or protecting economic value Rather clubs hover uncertainly between being businesses and community assets Football Supporters and the Commercialisation of Football explores the implications of this uncertainty for understanding supporter resistance to and compromise with commodification Every club and its supporters exist in their own unique national and local contexts In this respect this book offers a Euro wide comparison of supporter reactions to commercialisation and provides unique insight into how football supporters actively mediate regional local and national contexts as they intersect with the universalistic presumptions of commerce This book was previously published as a special issue of Soccer and Society

Globalised Football Nina Clara Tiesler, Joao Nuno Coelho, 2013-10-31 When studying the social phenomena in and around football five major aspects of globalisation processes become evident international migration the global flow of capital the syncretistic nature of tradition and modernity in contemporary culture new experiences of time and space and the revolution in information technologies In an exploration of these themes the collection provides insight into academic studies of football in Portugal Germany England Spain Brazil Angola Mozambique China Japan South Korea Russia and the USA At examining football related phenomena under the headings of nations and migration myths and business the city and the dream it shows how modernised football itself is object and subject in processes of both neo liberal globalisation and counter hegemonic globalisation While the contributions highlight characteristics of particular local and national contexts the volume focuses on global centre periphery relations and migration trajectories of football professionals by analysing recent developments in post colonial Portuguese speaking areas The high ranking of Portuguese football not only serves in nationalist discourses or in order to emancipate the country from a marginal position it also turns Portugal into a football talent exporter confronting it partly with the same ambiguous consequences as Brazil and the African countries who lose their football talents to the European centre The receiving countries again include Portugal This book was previously published as a special issue of Soccer in Society
