Making the Human Corinne Mitsuye Sugino, 2024-11-15. From the debate over affirmative action to the increasingly visible racism amidst the COVID 19 pandemic, Asian Americans have emerged as key figures in a number of contemporary social controversies. In Making the Human, Race Allegory and Asian Americans, Corinne Mitsuye Sugino offers the lens of racial allegory to consider how media, institutional and cultural narratives mobilize difference to normalize a white Western conception of the human. Rather than focusing on a singular arena of society, Sugino considers contemporary sources across media, law and popular culture to understand how they interact as dynamic sites of meaning making. Drawing on scholarship in Asian American studies, Black studies, cultural studies, communication and gender and sexuality studies, Sugino argues that Asian American racialization and gendering plays a key role in shoring up abstract concepts such as meritocracy, family, justice, diversity and nation in ways that naturalize hierarchy. In doing so, Making the Human grapples with anti Asian racism's entanglements with colonialism, antiblackness, capitalism and gendered violence.

The New World Order Vikram S. Bobbili, 2019-02-01. Human history has produced hundreds of epic writers, poets, novelists and historians to narrate what's occurred in the past 5 000 years of human beings' cultural history. There's abundant information about social habits, religious beliefs and political and economic institutions established and perfected by the human species through the ages from the beginning days of human civilization to today. In The New World Order, author Vikram S. Bobbili analyzes this history concluding that differences among human races are superficial transitory in nature and subject to continuous change. He asserts the oneness of human populations by examining the origin of the human species and his journey from the nuclear zone in Africa 1.5 million years ago, his ordeals through different ages: prehistoric, the ancient, the medieval, and the modern times, and his onward journey in the conquest of space. Bobbili also explores the challenges humans have faced in the past, the possible changes and problems he is apt to address in the future, and the measures he must institute to ensure his continuous survival. The New World Order emphasizes the need to invent new faiths and adopt new policies to see a near homogeneity in political, economic, religious, and social institutions for achieving the ultimate goal: establishment of a great human society.
