A Heritage of Ruins William R. Chapman, 2013-07-31 The ancient ruins of Southeast Asia have long sparked curiosity and romance in the world s imagination They appear in accounts of nineteenth century French explorers as props for Indiana Jones adventures and more recently as the scene of Lady Lara Croft s fantastical battle with the forces of evil They have been featured in National Geographic magazine and serve as backdrops for popular television travel and reality shows Now William Chapman s expansive new study explores the varied roles these monumental remains have played in the histories of Southeast Asia s modern nations Based on more than fifteen years of travel research and visits to hundreds of ancient sites A Heritage of Ruins shows the close connection between ruins conservation and both colonialism and nation building It also demonstrates the profound impact of European derived ideas of historic and aesthetic significance on ancient ruins and how these continue to color the management and presentation of sites in Southeast Asia today Angkor Pagan Bagan Borobudur and Ayutthaya lie at the center of this cultural and architectural tour but less visited sites including Laos's stunning Vat Phu the small temple platforms of Malaysia's Lembah Bujang Valley the candi of the Dieng Plateau in Java and the ruins of Mingun in Burma and Wiang Kum Kam near Chiang Mai in northern Thailand are also discussed All share a relative isolation from modern urban centers of population sitting in park like settings serving as objects of tourism and as lynchpins for local and even national economies Chapman argues that these sites also remain important to surrounding residents both as a means of income and as continuing sources of spiritual meaning He examines the complexities of heritage efforts in the context of present day expectations by focusing on the roles of both outside and indigenous experts in conservation and management and on attempts by local populations to reclaim their patrimony and play a larger role in protection and interpretation Tracing the history of interventions aimed at halting time's decay Chapman provides a chronicle of conservation efforts over a century and a half highlighting the significant part foreign expertise has played in the region and the ways that national programs have in recent years begun to break from earlier models The book ends with suggestions for how Southeast Asian managers and officials might best protect their incomparable heritage of art and architecture and how this legacy might be preserved for future generations

Mien Relations Hjørleifur Jonsson, 2018-07-05 Thailand's hill tribes have been the object of anthropological research cultural tourism and government intervention for a century in large part because these groups are held to have preserved distinctive ethnic traditions despite their contacts with modern culture Hjørleifur Jonsson rejects the conventional notion that the worlds of traditional peoples are being transformed or undone by the forces of modernity Among the Mien people of northern Thailand he finds a complex highlander identity that has been shaped by a thousand years of interaction in a multiethnic contact zone In Mien Relations Jonsson suggests that as early as the thirteenth century the growing influence of Chinese and Thai state authority had led to a peculiarly urban understanding of the hinterlands the forests and the mountains as an area beyond state control and the rhetoric of civilization Mountain peoples became understood as a distinct social type an idea elaborated by government classification systems in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Their discovery by Western anthropologists is he suggests merely one more episode influencing Mien identity Jonsson questions traditional ethnography's focus on fieldwork and personal observation and its concomitant blindness to political manipulation and to historical formation Throughout Mien Relations he revisits long neglected connections between China and Southeast Asia combines ancient history and contemporary ethnography engages with the serious politics of representation without abandoning the quest to write ethnographically about particular communities and keeps state control in view without assuming its success or coherence

Extraordinary Animals Ross Piper, 2007-08-30 Animals have existed on Earth for many hundreds of millions of years In that time they have evolved into a great variety of forms exploiting nearly every habitat the planet has to offer In the dark depths of the oceans in the seemingly inhospitable Polar Regions in the driest deserts even within the bodies of other animals there are animal species that have developed unique and extraordinary means of surviving and thriving

Extraordinary Animals An Encyclopedia of Curious and Unusual Animals is an exploration of those members of the animal kingdom who possess strange and bizarre adaptations that allow them to survive in the most extreme environments or whose complex lives can only be said to be bewildering From the tar baby termite to the blue whale from the harpy eagle to the naked mole rat these species reflect the exceptionally broad spectrum of life showing just how diverse the animal kingdom is

Extraordinary Animals has been thoroughly researched for scientific accuracy but is accessibly written in everyday language Each entry includes a description of the animal an explanation of its odd behavior other interesting scientific and trivial facts and black and white illustrations In addition a fun and interactive Go Look section encourages readers to go look for the animals in the outside world

Museums, Heritage and International Development Paul Basu, Wayne Modest, 2014-10-03

While many claims are made regarding the power of cultural heritage as a driver and enabler of sustainable development the relationship between museums heritage and development has received little academic scrutiny This book stages a critical conversation between the interdisciplinary fields of museum studies heritage studies and development studies to explore this under researched sphere of development intervention In an agenda setting introduction the editors explore the seemingly oppositional temporalities and values represented by these past making and future making projects arguing that these provide a framework for mutual critique Contributors to the volume bring insights from a wide range of academic and practitioner perspectives on a series of international case studies which each raise challenging questions that reach beyond merely cultural concerns and fully engage with both the legacies of colonial power inequalities and the shifting geopolitical dynamics of contemporary international relations Cultural heritage embodies different values and can be instrumentalized to serve different economic social and political objectives within development contexts but the past is also intrinsic to the present and is foundational to people s aspirations for the future

Museums Heritage and International Development explores the problematics as well as potentials the politics as well as possibilities in this fascinating nexus
