Spring Term LKS2	Key Knowledge - Bold is on the knowledge mat	Key Vocabulary
NC Objectives Pupils should be taught: To describe and understand key aspects of physical geography, including climate zones, biomes, vegetation belts, rivers, mountains, volcanoes and earthquakes and the water cycle To use maps, atlases and globes and digital/computer mapping to locate countries and describe features studied	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The earth's surface is subject to continual long-term change Volcanoes and mountains build up the land creating high mountain ranges. Meanwhile, forces of erosion wear them away Mountain building is driven by forces deep beneath the earth's surface If no mountain building happens then the earth would be worn flat over time The interaction of rocks and water happens in many different ways over extended periods of time and this results in the variety of physical landscapes around the world Convection currents move heat and cooler material to/from the surface. These areas collide or slide past each other. These currents carry the continents and mark the fault lines Fault lines mark where earthquakes or volcanoes are more likely to occur In some places the land is raised up, in others magma breaks out onto the surface creating islands or mountain ranges Erosion wears the land away in multiple ways Rivers cut back into mountain and upland areas, glaciers grind away at rocks to gouge deep mountain valleys, wind blasts exposed surfaces Changes in temperature cause rocks to crack, exposing them to erosion from ice, wind and water Some rock strata are also vulnerable to chemical processes. Limestone, for example, dissolves slowly as it reacts with rainwater resulting in dramatic landscapes with cliffs, gorges and caves Mountains create a barrier for road and rail routes Locate mountain ranges and its continent on a map or atlas (including digital/computer based) I know that many of the world's highest mountains can be found in the Himalayas I can name a mountain range and can say which continent it can be found on I can list different types of erosion and what it affects I can describe how a mountain is formed I know the difference between a mountain and a hill I can compare a mountainous area in the UK to one abroad (in the Himalayas) 	Rivers - a large natural stream of water flowing in a channel to the sea, a lake, or another river Mountains - a mountain is an elevated portion of the Earth's crust, generally with steep sides that show significant exposed bedrock Volcanoes - a mountain or hill, typically conical, having a crater or vent through which lava, rock fragments, hot vapour, and gas are or have been erupted from the earth's crust Earthquakes - a sudden violent shaking of the ground, typically causing great destruction, because of movements within the earth's crust or volcanic action Water cycle - the water cycle shows the continuous movement of water within the Earth and atmosphere Convection currents - A system of heat transfer under the earth's surface Magma - hot fluid or semi-fluid material below or within the earth's crust from which lava and other igneous rock is formed on cooling Fault lines - a line on a rock surface or the ground that traces a geological fault Erosion - the process of eroding or being eroded by wind, water, or other natural agents Strata - a layer or a series of layers of rock in the ground
