An Analysis of John Rawls's A Theory of Justice Filippo Dionigi, Jeremy Kleidosty, 2017-07-05 John Rawls's A Theory of Justice is one of the most influential works of legal and political theory published since the Second World War It provides a memorably well constructed and sustained argument in favour of a new social contract version of the meaning of social justice In setting out this argument Rawls aims to construct a viable systematic doctrine designed to ensure that the process of maximizing good is both conscious and coherent and the result is a work that foregrounds the critical thinking skill of reasoning Rawls's focus falls equally on discussions of the failings of existing systems not least among them Marxism and Utilitarianism and on explanation of his own new theory of justice By illustrating how he arrived at his conclusions and by clearly explaining and justifying his own liberal pluralist values Rawls is able to produce a well structured argument that is fully focused on the need to persuade Rawls explicitly explains his goals He discusses other ways of conceptualizing a just society and deals with counter arguments by explaining his objections to them Then carefully and methodically he defines a number of concepts and tools thought experiments that help the reader to follow his reasoning and test his ideas Rawls's hypothesis is that his ideas about justice can be universally applied they can be accepted as rational in any society at any time

Ecomuseums and Climate Change Nunzia Borrelli, Raul Dal Santo, Peter Davis, 2023-06-15

Climate change is a reality and communities around the world are now facing significant environmental problems: rising global temperatures leading to increased risk of flooding, fire and sea level rise resulting in the destruction of property and social infrastructure, loss of biodiversity and tangible and intangible cultural heritage and damage to economies. Little wonder then that the online conference held on 30 September 2021 with the title Ecomuseums and Climate Action attracted more than one hundred participants from countries whose communities are facing these problems. This book presents the results of this conference where heritage experts, community activists, curators, politicians and academics from several countries explored how ecomuseums and community museums are acting as catalysts for transition, renewal and sustainable development and how they might effectively contribute to the UN's Sustainable Development Goals and climate action. How can these organisations best contribute to the debate about the climate crisis and promote local action? Central to those actions are encouraging local people to recognise how important their cultural, natural and intangible cultural heritage is in making places special and giving a sense of belonging; why that heritage should be sustained and how heritage assets can be used to promote climate action. This book, with its remarkable collection of essays from around the world, demonstrates how small local actions considered together can have a dramatic and far reaching impact It will be warmly welcomed by anyone interested in climate action heritage and museum studies and environmental issues
