Big Food Simon Williams, Marion Nestle, 2017-10-02 Obesity is a global public health problem of crucial importance Obesity rates remain high in high income countries and are rapidly increasing in low and middle income countries Concurrently the global consumption of unhealthy products such as soft drinks and processed foods continues to rise The ongoing expansion of multinational food and beverage companies or Big Food is a key factor behind these trends This collection provides critical insight into the global expansion of Big Food including its incursion into low and middle income countries It examines the changing dynamics of the global food supply and discusses how low income countries can alter the Big Food diet from the bottom up It examines a number of issues related to Big Food marketing strategies including the way in which they advertise to youths and the rural poor These issues are discussed in terms of their public health implications and their relation to public health activities for example soda taxes and the promotion of nutritionally healthier products This book was originally published as a special issue of Critical Public Health

Eating in Theory Annemarie Mol,2021-03-01 As we taste chew swallow digest and excrete our foods transform us while our eating in its turn affects the wider earthly environment In Eating in Theory Annemarie Mol takes inspiration from these transformative entanglements to rethink what it is to be human Drawing on fieldwork at food conferences research labs health care facilities restaurants and her own kitchen table Mol reassesses the work of authors such as Hannah Arendt Maurice Merleau Ponty Hans Jonas and Emmanuel Levinas They celebrated the allegedly unique capability of humans to rise above their immediate bodily needs Mol by contrast appreciates that as humans we share our fleshy substance with other living beings whom we cultivate cut into pieces transport prepare and incorporate and to whom we leave our excesses This has far reaching philosophical consequences Taking human eating seriously suggests a reappraisal of being as transformative knowing as entangling doing as dispersed and relating as a matter of inescapable dependence

Lessons for Social Change in the Global Economy Sky Croeser,Shae Garwood,Christalla Yakinthou,2013-12-16 Discussion questions developed by the authors can be found here In the face of globalization s massive social and economic transformations and the resulting persistent inequality activists labor organizers and advocacy NGOs are seeking and creating change beyond the confines of formal state politics and across national borders Given the breadth of local issues activists face the ways they define the problem and seek redress vary widely This book provides a unique perspective on these efforts gathering into one volume concrete examples of the implementation of different strategies for social change that highlight the challenges involved This provides useful lessons for those involved in social change as well as for those studying it Contributors to the volume are scholars and practitioners around the world and they draw on strong connections with people working in the field to improve working conditions and environmental standards of global production systems This allows readers to develop a more comprehensive and grounded understanding of strategies for social change This book maintains a strong balance between breadth and specificity It provides an overview of the themes of social change which contextualizes and draws common threads from the chapters grounded in specific geographic locations and political spaces of change The chapters analyze environmental and social problems and the varying degrees of success activists have had in regulating industries containing environmental hazards and or harnessing aspects of an industry for positive social and economic change Contributors draw upon different ways of creating change which include corporate social responsibility schemes fair trade regimes and community radio By providing insight into the potential and limitations of actions taken at different levels the book encourages a critical perspective on efforts for social change grounded in an understanding of how conditions around the world can affect these activities

European Food Regulation After Enlargement Karolina ?urek, 2011-11-11 Combining an empirical analysis of the evolution of EU food regulation with a theoretical study of selected mechanisms used in governing food this book provides a critical outlook on the capacity of the regulatory system to accommodate increased post enlargement diversity of socio economic concerns Public Health Rob Baggott,2010-12-09 Incorporating the latest developments from the field

this eagerly awaited new edition once again provides an important and comprehensive analysis of the key issues in public health Exploring the underlying political context and policy processes this text is core reading for all those interested in the essentials of this area Farmers' Cooperatives and Sustainable Food Systems in Europe Raquel Ajates

Gonzalez,2018-06-13 Farmers cooperatives are very prevalent in the European Union where they account for approximately half of agricultural trade and thus are key to articulating rural realities and in shaping the sustainability credentials of European food and farming This book analyses to what extent farmers cooperatives are working to benefit their members are showing concern for their communities and are promoting cooperative economies It offers a multilevel set of theoretical disciplinary methodological empirical and social perspectives using the UK and Spain as contrasting examples and analyses whether agricultural cooperatives contribute to achieving sustainable food systems The book presents empirical data from diverse and rich case studies from large international cooperatives to small multi stakeholder initiatives This provides an alternative viewpoint to that of economics which tends to dominate the study of agricultural cooperatives The author presents a new theoretical framework that provides a novel lens to study farmers cooperatives as organisations deeply embedded in power dynamics of the food system and agricultural policy that shape and constraint their potential to adopt cooperative and sustainable practices The book is a major addition to the study of agricultural cooperatives and their impact in the development of fairer and more sustainable food systems and it is one of the first detailed accounts of multi stakeholder food and farming cooperatives in Europe It is a valuable resource for all scholars working on cooperatives as well as for students studying agricultural and food policy environmental justice and rural sociology Consumer Perceptions and Food Diana Bogueva,2024-10-23 This book is a timely overview of the various aspects of consumer perception related to food

This book explores consumer perceptions that are vital to marketers and often underlie the success or failure of products in the marketplace Perception is the process of selecting organizing and interpreting sensations into a meaningful whole and this book highlights how human perceptions are unique highly subjective and easily distorted These perceptions are influenced by our senses sight hearing taste smell and touch as well as our beliefs emotions opinions and experiences This book states that this is related to food and perceptions are also guided by beliefs thoughts emotions feelings and opinions about or preferences expectations and knowledge of and the sensory experience the fear and the relationships built between the consumers and the food over time This book aims to further the understanding of the fundamental mechanisms which determine individual responses to existing and emerging food issues This book provides insights into consumer behaviour e g consumer decision making promoting behaviour change factors influencing consumers food and meal choices confidence in the safety of food perception of health related messages and food laws and regulations sustainable and responsible consumer behaviour e.g. food waste, acceptability of new food alternatives, innovations and technologies integrating consumer insight and communication challenges in cross functional communications in innovation processes.

Consumer Perceptions and Food delves into how these perceptions shape consumer behavior from decision making and behavior change to meal choices and confidence in food safety. It explores the impact of health related messages, food laws and regulations and examines the acceptability of new food alternatives and technologies. The book also addresses the importance of sustainable and responsible consumer behavior including food waste and ethical consumption. Through a rich array of insights, this book provides a deep understanding of the fundamental mechanisms that drive individual responses to food issues. It emphasizes the importance of mindful eating, making conscious food choices that benefit our health, the environment and the planet. This involves considering the origins of our food, its production methods and the broader impacts of our choices on public health and ecosystems. This book is a call to action for consumers to rethink their relationship with food, fostering deeper connections and appreciation for sustainable practices and ethical consumption. It is a crucial step in the ongoing journey of shaping the future of food, guided by informed and mindful consumers.

Encyclopedia of Consumer Culture Dale Southerton, 2011-09-15. The Encyclopedia of Consumer Culture is the first reference work to outline the parameters of consumer culture and provide a critical scholarly resource on consumption and consumerism.

Sustainable Diets Barbara Burlingame, Sandro Dernini, 2018-12-10. This book takes a transdisciplinary approach and considers multisectoral actions integrating health, agriculture, environment, economy and socio cultural issues to comprehensively explore the topic of sustainable diets. Consideration is given to the multi dimensional nature of diets and food systems and the book explores the challenging issues connecting food security and nutrition to sustainability, culture, tradition and a broader range of scientific topics. The first section, Grand Challenges, chapters 1-9 positions sustainable diets in the multi perspective context of food systems. Within the current international debate, it introduces some overarching wicked problems resistant to resolution in spite of the dire consequences of inaction. The chapters cover multi sectoral policy, public health, sustainable food systems, climate change, biodiversity loss, agro ecology, indigenous peoples, the role of cities and food and waste. The contributions in the second section, Qualitative and Quantitative Approaches, chapters 10-17 discuss the topic of sustainable diets from different cultural, sectoral and disciplinary angles. The issues are analysed with data and methods derived from social sciences, clinical sciences and experimental sciences. Perspectives and solutions with evidence are presented to underpin policies and interventions. The last section, Moving Forward, chapters 18-29 deals with selected innovations, initiatives, projects, case studies and programmes enhancing sustainable diets by linking nutrition to food systems.

Geographies of Food Moya Kneafsey, Damian Maye, Lewis Holloway, Michael K. Goodman, 2021-01-28. What is the future of food in light of growing threats from the climate emergency and natural resource depletion as well as economic and social inequality? This textbook engages with this question and considers the complex relationships between food, place and space, providing students with an introduction to the contemporary and future geographies of food and the powerful role that food plays in our everyday lives Geographies of Food explores contemporary food issues and crises in all their dimensions as well as the many solutions currently being proposed Drawing on global case studies from the Majority and Minority Worlds it analyses the complex relationships operating between people and processes at a range of geographical scales from the shopping decisions of consumers in a British or US supermarket to food insecurity in Sub Saharan Africa to the high level political negotiations at the World Trade Organization and the strategies of giant American and European agri businesses whose activities span several continents With over 60 color images and a range of lively pedagogical features Geographies of Food is essential reading for undergraduates studying food and geography Food and Development E.M. Young, 2013-06-19 The relationship between food and development has always been controversial Over the last thirty years development in the north and south has failed to deliver people a decent diet While some people have too little food and die as a consequence some people have too much food and die from associated diseases Furthermore some methods of food production create social dislocation and deadly environments where biodiversity is eroded and pollution is rampant While guaranteeing enough food for the world s inhabitants continues to be a serious challenge new issues about food have emerged Food and Development is a lively and lucidly written text which provides a clear and accessible introduction to these complex and diverse food related problems It explores the continued prevalence of mass under nutrition in the developing world acute food crises in some places associated with conflict the emergence of over nutrition in the developing world and the vulnerability of the contemporary global food production system The text identifies the major problems and analyzes factors at international national and local scales to understand their continued prevalence The book concludes by evaluating the potential of some oppositional forces to challenge the hegemony of the contemporary food system This timely and original text will be invaluable to undergraduates interested in the challenges surrounding food and development The text is richly filled with case studies from the Global North and South to illustrate the nature and extent of these urgent issues and their interrelated nature Each chapter contains a range of features to assist undergraduate learning including learning objective key concepts summaries discussion questions further reading and websites and follow up activities Food, risk and politics Ed Randall, 2013-07-19 This is a book about the risk politics of food safety Food related risks regularly grab the headlines in ways that threaten reasoned debate and obstruct sensible policy making In this book Ed Randall explains why this is the case He goes on to make the case for a properly informed and fully open public debate about food safety issues He argues that this is the true antidote to the politics of scare scandal and crisis The book skilfully weaves together the many different threads of food safety and risk politics and offers a particularly rewarding read for academics and students in the fields of politics and media studies It will also appeal to scholars from other disciplines particularly social psychology and the food sciences The book is a lively and exceptionally readable account of food safety and risk politics that will engage policy makers and the general reader It promises to help us all manage food safety issues more intelligently and successfully
