Agricultural Waste Management Raymond Loehr, 2012-12-02 Agricultural Waste Management Problems Processes and Approaches is a summary of the processes and approaches applicable to the solution of agricultural waste management problems. This book is organized into three parts encompassing 13 chapters that is intended as a bridge between theory and practice as well as between the many disciplines that are involved in agricultural waste management. The primary focus of agricultural waste management is on the obvious problems of odor control and feedlot runoff. The first part looks into the status of agricultural waste problem and the application of engineering and scientific fundamentals to the management of these wastes. This part also deals with the role of the land in waste management and then outlines the guidelines for the development of feasible waste management systems. The second part describes the fundamental principles and benefits of various waste management processes including biological processes, ponds and lagoons, aerobic, anaerobic, physical and chemical treatments, and nitrogen control, as well as treatment systems such as ponds, lagoons, and land disposal. The third part examines the integration of the most economical and equitable combination of alternative technologies into feasible waste management approaches. This work will be of great value to agricultural producers and manufacturers, scientists, and engineers.

Agroecological Practices To Enhance Resilience Of Farming Systems Fabio Gresta, Moritz Von Cossel, Danilo Scordia, 2025-08-19 Resource over exploitation coupled with climate change has increased the urgency to act for preserving agroecosystems and their sustainability. Unlike conventional agriculture, agroecology addresses the current challenges of farming systems harnessing synergy with natural social and human resources in both time and space to produce food sustainably. Several strategies addressing climate and environmental specific objectives call for agroecological practices to enhance the resilience of agroecosystems and to formulate transition pathways towards sustainable food systems. In the coming decades, the resilience of agriculture will be challenged by extreme climate change events such as increased temperature, drought, evapotranspiration, and wind among others, altering the conditions for cropland species. This Research Topic will explore this hypothesis aiming to disseminate insights from research as evidence of the effectiveness of agroecological practices to enhance the resiliency of agroecosystems and counteract the detrimental effects of climate change.
