History of Britain and the European Community, Vol. II Stephen Wall, 2012-09-10 This is the second volume in The Official History of Britain and the European Community and describes the events from 1963 up until the British referendum on the Common Market in 1975 In 1963 General de Gaulle dashed Prime Minister Macmillan's hopes of taking Britain into the European Community the Common Market When Labour Prime Minister Harold Wilson tried again de Gaulle again said no Six years later Prime Minister Edward Heath took Britain into the EEC But by then the country was split and Harold Wilson to keep the Labour Party from voting to leave undertook to renegotiate Britain's membership When Labour won the 1974 election that renegotiation culminated in the first nationwide referendum ever held in the United Kingdom The British people voted by two to one to stay in the European Community but British membership has been controversial ever since. This is the story of why three very different Prime Ministers all concluded that in the British national interest there was no viable alternative to joining the Common Market. In the words and documents of the time those of politicians, diplomats and journalists from Britain, France and Germany it relives the frustrations, successes and humiliations of British politicians as they wrestled with the most important issue of their generation. It shows with the authority of the Government papers of the day where and why today's European controversy started and why yesterday's challenges and the way they were confronted hold valid lessons for our time. This book will be of much interest to students of British political history, European Union politics, Diplomatic History and International Relations in general.
