

Across urban and rural areas, and across land and water, human activity and the environment are linked. This is seen at a strategic level across different sectors, for example, transport, water, agriculture, waste, energy, housing, industry, planning and economic development.

Strategic Environmental Assessment (SEA) is conducted on plans and programmes for these sectors across Ireland. SEA identifies the likely significant effects on the environment of a plan or programme on, biodiversity, population, human health, fauna, flora, soil, water, air, climatic factors, material assets, cultural heritage and their interrelationship.

The environment, in all its forms, ...

Water Air Green space Blue space Chemicals Radiation Climate change Food Housing and more...

... can have beneficial and adverse effects on our health and wellbeing.

Plans or programmes that interact with our environment may also have beneficial and adverse effects on our health and wellbeing, such as, ...

Physical activity Traffic incidents Mental wellbeing Cancer Injuries Anti-Microbial resistance Respiratory health Cardiovascular health and more...

We are looking at how SEA ensures that strategic plans and programmes protect and improve health and wellbeing.

All Hands ,1993 Global Perspectives on Underutilized Crops Munir Ozturk,Khalid Rehman Hakeem,Muhammad Ashraf,Muhammad Sajid Aqeel Ahmad,2018-05-17 Increase in world population extreme weather conditions decrease in fresh water supplies and changes of dietary habits are major issues that affect global food security We are expected to face the challenges of land use by 2050 because population will reach 9 billion while agricultural productivity losses are expected due to overuse of lands How can we feed the next generations in a manner that respects our finite natural resources Managing our resources in a sustainable way have only begun for selected crops Much remains to be done to increase food yield Cropping practices capable of sustainable production need to be elaborated especially in fragile ecosystems Typical applications will include the improvement and use of genetic resources crop management and diversification diffusion of improved varieties development of cropping systems sustainable cropping systems for areas prone to environmental degradation use of agro ecological data for crop production forecasting and networks for regional coordination and data exchange The impetus behind this book is to bring attention to a cropping system that bears direct relevance to sustainable agriculture and food security Underutilized crops are found in numerous agricultural ecosystems and often survive mainly in marginal areas It is timely to review their status because in recent decades scientific and economic interests have emerged which focus on lesser known cultivated species Underutilized crops have a great potential to alleviate hunger directly through increasing food production in challenging environments where major crops are severely limited Global Perspectives on Underutilized Crops is therefore topical and highlights the unmet agricultural challenges that we face today This book is an important resource for students and researchers of crop science and agricultural policy makers

Economic Analysis of Environmental Impacts John Dixon, Louise Scura, Richard Carpenter, Paul Sherman, 2013-11-05 This revised and updated guide to the environmental economics of development projects demonstrates how the environmental impacts of projects can be translated into monetary values The theoretical bases are examined and the techniques themselves given detailed exposition supported by extensive case studies illustrating a wide range of applications The text should become a useful complement to all standard forms of project analysis The Clean Energy Transition Daniel J. Fiorino, 2022-09-12 Is the goal of a transition to clean energy at all realistic If so how could it be accomplished Climate change poses a formidable challenge for twenty first century governments Unless they can move to a clean energy system built on efficiency renewables electrification and possibly complementary technologies like nuclear energy and carbon capture and storage it will be all but impossible to avoid the worst impacts of climate change In this book Daniel Fiorino provides a comprehensive introduction to the politics and policies of a clean energy transition and how it may unfold nationally and globally Across its nine chapters he explores the current energy landscape and the different pathways and pitfalls on the road to decarbonization All scenarios for decarbonizing he argues rely on aggressive efficiency the rapid scale up of renewables and the electrification of most of what is left Yet this transition has to be accelerated and done effectively There is little time left for second chances if we are to decarbonize later this century The Clean Energy Transition will be an indispensable resource for students of energy politics environmental studies and public policy as well as anyone interested in the energy issues of the day Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress, Library of Congress.
