Dhalla, Arun Chockalingam, H. Ivan Berkowitz, Pawan K. Singal, 2012-12-06 The Frontiers in Cardiovascular Health varies between and within nations depending upon the level at which the battle is fought for better cardiovascular health According to the 1997 World Health Report 15 million deaths i.e. 30% of the total number of deaths were attributable to cardiovascular diseases and this number is on the rise The projection for the year 2020 is quite alarming with an expected cardiovascular mortality reaching 50 million Much of this burden is projected to occur in developing countries more specifically in the most populous countries of the world namely China and India These countries are already burdened with infectious and parasitic diseases and are trying to eradicate such diseases With increasing life expectancies people all over the world especially in developing countries are exposed to degenerative atherosclerosis resulting in increased cardiovascular mortality and morbidity In developing countries resources available for health care are very limited For example many of the African countries spend less than 10 per person per year on his/her entire health care let alone cardiovascular health The average health care budget for nearly two thirds of the global population is well below 100 per year on a per capita basis Therefore in developing countries health promotion and primary prevention are the frontiers by necessity Improving awareness and health education is not only a matter of choice but is an absolute necessity      Epidemiology and Prevention of Cardiovascular Diseases: A Global Challenge Labarthe, 2010-03-23 This book provides a comprehensive epidemiological perspective on cardiovascular diseases and analysis of measures for their prevention and control in community and clinical settings Perfect for both students and practitioners the second edition includes over 300 tables figures and exhibits and has been thoroughly updated to reflect the most recent research in the field Epidemiology and Prevention of Cardiovascular Disease A Global Challenge Second Edition provides an in depth examination of epidemiologic research and prevention measures for the full range of cardiovascular diseases CVD This authoritative text on the world's leading causes of death describes in detail the nature of atherosclerotic and hypertensive diseases including their determinants prevention and

This book provides an introduction to the principles of both cardiovascular epidemiology and molecular pathophysiology as a unique aspect it also outlines and discusses the molecular concepts underlying epidemiological observations This first volume is focused on the genetic and molecular basis of pathogenesis and the role of environmental factors triggering cardiovascular dysfunctions The book promotes the use of interdisciplinary approaches in the field of preventive medicine based on recent advances in molecular and cellular pathophysiology The book offers a valuable resource for researchers in basic biomedical fields and clinical scientists alike as well as guidelines for novel avenues of research in both basic pathophysiology and cardiovascular therapy and prevention Cardiovascular Health Jay N. Cohn, 2017-05-05 We all think we are well informed about cardiovascular health But is what we think we know really accurate Here a renowned cardiologist describes the biological processes leading to heart and blood vessel disease He challenges the conventional view that risk factors poor diet and lack of exercise are the biggest culprits Each of these widely described risk factors is individually discussed and Dr Cohn concludes that their role in affecting cardiovascular health is often overstated He promotes a greater emphasis on an individual's personal and largely inherited cardiovascular health by simple assessment of the function and structure of the arteries and heart By identifying early disease likely to progress he advocates for early intervention often with drug therapy to slow disease progression and prevent symptoms of cardiovascular disease ThroHe concludes that health care providers can better treat patients with medications that slow the biological processes that contribute to the development of artery and heart disease These medications lower blood pressure and cholesterol but their main effect is to slow progression of disease even in those whose blood pressure and cholesterol levels are not elevated He describes a strategy for identifying and treating these early abnormalities before symptoms develop Ultimately early diagnosis and treatment he argues can contribute to better prevention and the slowing of cardiovascular disease progression that would otherwise shorten our lives
