Case-studies in Economic Development ,1999 Evaluating Economic Liberalization Mark McGillivray, Oliver Morrissey, 1999 Liberalization economics policy reforms to render economies more market oriented is a central issue in most countries of the world This volume contributes to the literature on liberalization The first five chapters are concerned with general issues Existing approaches to evaluating the effects of reform are reviewed difficulties of measuring liberalization are discussed the complex ways in which reforms can impact on individuals and groups are illustrated and the importance of political concerns are addressed The final four chapters offer case studies Development Centre Studies Policy Ownership and Aid Conditionality in the Light of the Financial Crisis A Critical Review OECD, 2009-08-26 This study evaluates controversies that persist with respect to aid conditionality how successful donors have been in stemming aid conditionality and how the financial crisis has made it difficult to maintain traditional conditionality frameworks African Conceptions of Human Dignity Brett G. Scharffs, M. Christian Green, Simeon O. Ilesanmi, Contributors join together in this tenth ACLARS volume to propose a framing of human rights in terms of African conceptions of human dignity Following on the signing of the Punta del Este and Botswana Declarations of Human Dignity for Everyone Everywhere in 2018 and 2023 contributors discuss human dignity as an African and indigenous concept grounded in relationship community and an overarching ethic of Ubuntu Chapters further explore human dignity s many meanings and relation to other rights in the African context as well as human dignity s connection to basic human needs state obligations religion and theology gender and age and the environment Journal of Economic Literature ,2005 Sustainable Development Principles in the Decisions of International Courts and Tribunals Marie-Claire Cordonier Segger, Judge C.G. Weeramantry, 2017-05-08 The 2002 New Delhi Declaration of Principles of International Law relating to Sustainable Development set out seven principles on sustainable development as agreed in treaties and soft law instruments from before the 1992 Rio Earth Summit UNCED to the 2002 Johannesburg World Summit on Sustainable Development to the 2012 Rio UNCS Recognition of the New Delhi principles is shaping the decisions of dispute settlement bodies with jurisdiction over many subjects the environment human rights trade investment and crime among others This book explores the expanding international jurisprudence incorporating principles of international law on sustainable development Through chapters by respected experts the volume documents the application and interpretation of these principles demonstrating how courts and tribunals are contributing to the world's Sustainable Development Goals by peacefully resolving disputes. It charts the evolution of these principles in international law from soft law standards towards recognition as customary law in certain instances, assessing key challenges to further judicial consideration of the principles and discussing for instance how their relevance for compliance and disputes related to the 2015 Paris Agreement on climate change. The volume provides a unique contribution of great interest to law and policy makers, judges, academics, students, civil society and practitioners concerned with sustainable development and the law globally.

Sustainable Justice Marie-Claire Cordonier Segger, C.G. Weeramantry, 2004-11-01. This book offers a cutting edge scholarly discussion of judicial and legal methods to reconcile national and international economic, social and environmental law for sustainable development. A diverse anthology of perspectives from developed and developing countries, the book contains contributions from judges, international lawyers and other experts with a wealth of experience in the emerging field of sustainable development law. It presents negotiators, scholars and jurists with a lively, thought-provoking and highly current discussion of international legal debates related to sustainable development. The final part discusses future developments in sustainable development law based on the results of three recent international processes. Sustainable Justice weaves a diverse and intriguing collection reflecting a vigorous yet practical international legal debate of crucial importance to our common future.

Economic Growth and the Third World, 1987. Sustainable Development in World Trade Law Markus W. Gehring, Marie-Claire Cordonier Segger, 2005-01-01. In Johannesburg at the World Summit on Sustainable Development in 2002, over one hundred and eighty states assumed a collective responsibility to advance and strengthen the interdependent and mutually reinforcing pillars of sustainable development: economic development, social development, an environmental protection at the local, national, regional and global levels. This remarkable collection of papers sponsored by the Centre for International Sustainable Development Law (CISDL) demonstrates that sustainable development serves as a unifying concept with the potential to facilitate much needed respect for international law and timely implementation of diverse and overlapping international commitments. It builds on the substance of a rich and complex debate at the intersections among economic, social and environmental law, bringing together a broad cross-section of viewpoints and voices. The authors review recent developments in WTO discussions and negotiations and in the recent decisions of the WTO Appellate Body from a sustainable development law perspective. They also survey relevant new developments in trade and economic agreements at regional, inter-regional and bi-lateral levels. The various essays focus on sustainable development aspects of key issues in recent trade negotiations such as the Singapore Issues, investment, competition, trade facilitation and government procurement, intellectual property rights, investment arbitration and the linkage between the WTO and multilateral environmental accords (MEAs). Among the specific topics covered are the following: Emerging areas of law and policy in trade and sustainable development. The underlying development agendas in global trade law negotiations Cooperation and potential negotiation on international competition law Sustainable development aspects of intellectual property rights negotiations Overlaps between multilateral environmental accords MEAs and the WTO Recent developments in WTO dispute settlement procedures and proceedings Human rights and environmental opportunities from trade liberalisation and increased market access Human rights and environment impact assessment techniques used to analyse trade agreements Recent developments in bilateral and regional trade agreements Trade investment and competition law practitioners and negotiators in developed and developing countries will find this book of great value as will development and environment law professionals with responsibility for trade and WTO law related matters With rich contributions from leading trade law practitioners academics and WTO panel and appellate body roster members Sustainable Developments in World Trade Law offers a constructive timely and accessible expert analysis of recent discussions and advances in the field providing an integrated and essential guide to some of the most important issues in international economic law today

Handbook on Integrated Assessment of Trade-related Measures, 2005 The World Summit on Sustainable Development has identified trade as a tool for achieving sustainable development and adopted a plan of action which includes elements aimed at reducing poverty changing unsustainable patterns of production and consumption and protecting and managing the environment and the natural resource base for economic and social development This handbook focuses on the agricultural sector and presents a range of economic environmental and social issues that can be taken into consideration when assessing the impact of trade related policies

The Political Economy of Foreign Aid to Pakistan Mumtaz Anwar, 2007 All political decision making processes reflect the interaction of different utility maximising actors politicians voters bureaucrats and interest groups Theoretical literature on the subject is not conclusive and thus far little empirical work exists This study presents an econometric analysis of the allocation of development aid to Pakistan based on a political economic framework of aid allocation Looking at bi and multilateral aid to Pakistan from 1960 to 2002 results suggest that aid flows to Pakistan are highly motivated by special interests within donor countries and international financial institutions IFIs Looking more specifically at bilateral aid and especially aid by the single largest donor to Pakistan i.e the US analysis suggests that Pakistan and Indian ethnic lobbies could play a role in aid flows and in the passage of two important amendments the Pressler and Brown Amendments in US aid authorisation bills regarding aid to Pakistan Analysis of multilateral financial flows to Pakistan shows that Pakistan receives a large amount of lending but with considerable variations over time To some extent personal contacts of Pakistani international civil servants appear to play a role in multilateral lending to Pakistan along with major shareholders economic interests

The Companion to Development Studies Vandana Desai, Rob Potter, 2014-03-21 The Companion to Development Studies contains over a hundred chapters written by leading international experts within the field to provide a concise and authoritative overview of the key theoretical and practical issues dominating contemporary development studies Covering a wide range of disciplines the book is divided
