Quantitative Models for Performance Evaluation and Benchmarking

Joe Zhu,2008-10-20 Managers are often under great pressure to improve the performance of their organizations To improve performance one needs to constantly evaluate operations or processes related to producing products providing services and marketing and selling products Performance evaluation and benchmarking are a widely used method to identify and adopt best practices as a means to improve performance and increase productivity and are particularly valuable when no objective or engineered standard is available to define efficient and effective performance For this reason benchmarking is often used in managing service operations because service standards benchmarks are more difficult to define than manufacturing standards Benchmarks can be established but they are somewhat limited as they work with single measurements one at a time It is difficult to evaluate an organization s performance when there are multiple inputs and outputs to the system The difficulties are further enhanced when the relationships between the inputs and the outputs are complex and involve unknown tradeoffs It is critical to show benchmarks where multiple measurements exist The current book introduces the methodology of data envelopment analysis DEA and its uses in performance evaluation and benchmarking under the context of multiple performance measures kinds of investment funds Performance Measurement of Hedge Funds Using Data Envelopment Analysis Martin Eling, 2013 Data envelopment analysis DEA is a nonparametric method from the area of operations research that measures the relationship of produced outputs to assigned inputs and determines an efficiency score This efficiency score can be interpreted as a performance measure in investment analysis Recent literature contains intensive discussion of using DEA to measure the performance of hedge funds as this approach yields some advantages compared to classic performance measures This paper extends the current discussion in three aspects First we present different DEA models and analyze their suitability for hedge fund performance measurement Second we systematize possible inputs and outputs for DEA and again examine their suitability for hedge fund performance measurement Third two rules are developed to select inputs and outputs in DEA of hedge funds Using this framework we find a completely new ranking of hedge funds compared to classic performance measures and compared to previously proposed DEA applications Thus we propose that classic performance measures should be supplemented with DEA based on the suggested rules to fully capture hedge fund risk and return characteristics Measuring Commodity Hedge Funds Performance by Applying Data Envelopment Analysis, DEA. Michel Guirguis, 2019 CTA commodity trading advisers or managed futures managers trade in the commodity market The hedge funds invest in commodity futures currencies bonds and shares The portfolio is leveraged and the risk is quite high Forward and futures contracts have similarities in terms that they involve two parties to exchange a commodity a currency or a bond at a specified price in the future The costs of carry that characterize these contracts are insurance storage and interest costs Measuring efficiency have been made using non parametric mathematical linear programming approaches such as data envelopment analysis DEA that enable efficiencies for each firm in an industry to be estimated relative to a dominant set of efficient firms with similar characteristics The overall degree of efficiency in terms of risk and return in the commodity trading funds sectors is assessed by applying data envelopment analysis DEA DEA estimates efficiency in firms with multiple inputs and outputs In our case we are testing one input and one output We are testing a sample of 10 different commodity hedge funds As an input we use the annual standard deviations as a measure of risk and as an output we use logarithmic monthly returns We try to find which commodity hedge funds companies lies on the efficient frontier in terms of increasing return to scale constant return to scale and decreasing return to scale Performance Evaluation of Hedge Funds Greg N.
