The Psychology of Taste: Why We Crave Certain Flavors Ahmed Musa, 2025-01-06 Have you ever wondered why chocolate feels like a hug or why a tart lemon makes your mouth water The Psychology of Taste dives deep into the science behind why we crave certain flavors and how our brains memories and emotions intertwine to shape our preferences This book explores the biology of taste the cultural nuances of flavor and the psychological tricks food companies use to keep us hooked on their products With insights from neuroscience and psychology this book is both an enlightening read and a practical guide to understanding your own cravings Whether you re a foodie a scientist or just curious about why you reach for a bag of chips instead of an apple The Psychology of Taste will inspire you to approach food with greater awareness and curiosity

Genetic Variation and Nutrition A. P. Simopoulos, B. Childs, 1990-06-20

Flavour in Food Andree Voilley, Patrick Etiévant, 2006-03-08 Annotation The flavour of a food is one of its most important qualities Edited by two leading authorities in the field and with a distinguished international team of contributors this important collection summarises the wealth of recent research on how flavour develops in food and is then perceived by the consumer The first part of the book reviews ways of measuring flavour Part 2 looks at the ways flavour is retained and released in food It considers the way flavour is retained in particular food matrices how flavour is released during the process of eating and the range of influences governing how flavour is perceived by the consumer Flavour in food guides the reader through a complex subject and provides the essential foundation in both understanding and controlling food flavour

CONTENTS Part 1 Characterisation of aroma compounds Choosing the correct analytical technique Gaschromatography olfactometry Human perception of taste compounds Sensory analysis of food flavour Matching sensory and instrumental data Part 2 Flavour retention and release in the food matrix Flavour binding Emulsion flavour interactions Carbohydrate flavour interactions Modelling aroma interactions The process of flavour release Odour/taste interactions in flavour perception Modulation of taste by flavour preferences Handbook of Olfaction and Gustation Richard L. Doty, 2015-07-20 The largest collection of basic clinical and applied knowledge on the chemical senses ever compiled in one volume the third edition of Handbook of Olfaction and Gustation encompasses recent developments in all fields of chemosensory science particularly the most recent advances in neurobiology neuroscience molecular biology and modern functional imaging techniques Divided into five main sections the text covers the senses of smell and taste as well as sensory integration industrial applications and other chemosensory systems This is essential reading for clinicians and academic researchers interested in basic and applied chemosensory perception Neurobiology of Food and Fluid Intake Edward M. Stricker, Stephen Woods, 2006-05-04 Like previous handbooks the present volume is an authoritative and up to date compendium of information and perspective on the neurobiology of ingestive behaviors It is intended to be stimulating and informative to the practitioner whether neophyte or senior scholar It is also intended to be accessible to others who do not investigate the biological bases of food and fluid ingestion who may teach aspects of this material or simply wonder about the current state of the field To all readers we present this handbook as a progress report recognizing that the present state of the field is much farther along than it was the last time a handbook was published but mindful of the likelihood that it is not as far along as it will be when the next handbook is prepared This field has witnessed a spectacular accretion of scientific information since the first handbook was published in 1967 During the generation of science between then and the publication of the second handbook in 1990 numerous scientific reports have substantially changed the perspective and informational base of the field Precision Nutrition and Metabolic Syndrome Management Alfredo J. Martínez, Angeles M.
