Working Group 7, 1980 Published by the American Geophysical Union as part of the Geodynamics Series Volume 1 The focus of the International Geodynamics Project 1970 1979 was the movements of the surface and upper part of the earth's interior and it was recognized that most of the deformation occurs along narrow belts between the lithospheric plates Also important to understanding earth process were those motions primarily vertical that occurred within the plates remote from plate boundaries For this reason one of the 10 working groups set up in 1971 was working group 7 with the title Eperogenic movements of regional extent under the chairmanship of Dr J Tuzo Wilson In 1974 after Dr Wilson resigned following his retirement as Principal of Erindale College University of Toronto the Bureau of the Inter Union Commission on Geodynamics appointed Dr R I Walcott as chairman and the name of his working group was changed to Dynamics of Plate Interiors The objective of its programme was to determine the nature and origin of the dynamics of the more stable regions of the earth

Nicholas, 1981 Published by the American Geophysical Union as part of the Geodynamics Series Volume 4 The fact that the materials in the solid parts of the Earth depart from perfectly elastic behaviour is now central to fundamental geophysical studies Slow deformation creep by the processes of mantle convection has been widely recognised for about 25 years it has been realised for much longer that seismic waves are attenuated but more recently there has developed a general if vague awareness of a probable correlation between high attenuation and low resistance to creep and in the last few years seismic attenuation has received much greater attention because it implies a first order dispersion of body waves frequency dependence of elasticity
