European Integration And Trade With The Developing World:

European Integration and Trade with the Developing World Gerhard Pohl, Piritta Sorsa, 1992 The types of preferences China, the European Union and the Developing World Jan Wouters, Jean-Christophe Defraigne, Matthieu Burnay, 2015-02-27 China the European Union and the Developing World provides a comparative analysis of Chinese and EU influence across five different regions of the developing world Asia Pacific South and Central Asia the Middle East and North Africa Sub Saharan Af

European Integration and Political Conflict Gary Marks, Marco R. Steenbergen, 2004-02-12 Over the past half century Europe has experienced the most radical reallocation of authority that has ever taken place in peace time yet the ideological conflicts that will emerge from this are only now becoming apparent The editors of this 2004 volume Gary Marks and Marco Steenbergen have brought together a formidable group of scholars of European and comparative politics to investigate patterns of conflict that are arising in the European Union Using diverse sources of data and examining a range of actors including citizens political parties members of the European Parliament social movements and interest groups the authors of this volume conclude that political contestation concerning European integration is indeed rooted in the basic conflicts that have shaped political life in Western Europe for many years This comprehensive volume provides an analysis of political conflict in the European Union

The Economics of European Integration Willem Molle, 2017-07-12 This title was first published in 2001 As economic integration touches ever more areas of society more and more people are confronted by the bewildering complexity of the functioning of the European Union Rather than merely focusing on the description of EU policies this study of the economics of European integration seeks to select the most relevant aspects and developments place the wide variety of issues in a robust conceptual structure integrate theoretical developments with the results of empirical research and of policy analysis explain the logic of the dynamic processes describe the structural features of the European economy highlight the response of private companies to changes in the regulatory environment depict the historical developments so as to give a sound basis for the understanding of the present situation and the likely future development and set the European developments in the light of global developments In practice Western Europe is the focus of major parts of this book

The European Union and Developing Countries C. Cosgrove-Sacks, 1999-05-17 This book examines the ways in which EU policies towards developing countries are changing in response to the new challenges of globalization and the end of the Cold War It analyses the patchwork of relationships between the fifteen Member States and more than 140 countries throughout Africa Asia Latin America and the Mediterranean

The European Union and the Developing Countries Olufemi Babarinde, Gerrit Faber, 2005-02-01 The relationships between the European Union and developing countries in Africa the Caribbean and the Pacific or ACP countries have been called a model for North South development cooperation The Lom Conventions were the embodiment of this model After 25 years the European Union and the ACP group signed a new partnership agreement the Cotonou Agreement

Given the disappointing results of the former conventions this book investigates the innovations in the EU ACP relationship. Authors from different backgrounds including law, political science and economics analyze the forces that gave rise to the new agreement as well as the negotiating process of the new agreement and the negotiations that are taking place to produce the planned Economic Partnership Agreements (EPAs) that are to replace the existing non-reciprocal trade preferences that are incompatible with WTO law. The potential benefits of EPAs are discussed as is the alternative in the shape of an improved and general preferential system. The amended mechanism for aid delivery, the increased stress on political dialogue between the partners and the introduction of more civil society participation in the cooperation are extensively analyzed and discussed. The effects of the introduction of the Euro and the effect of the planned stimuli on Direct Foreign Investment in ACP economies make this volume very complete in coverage of the ACP-EU relations. Its relevance extends far beyond the ACP-EU relationship as it shows and discusses particular solutions for problems that occur in North-South relations in general.

The European Union and International Organizations Knud Erik Jørgensen, 2009-01-08. This volume seeks to explore the complex relationship between the European Union and International Organizations and to fill a remarkably wide gap in existing literature on the topic. Analysing the way in which the EU engages in some of the most important international organizations, this book outlines a framework for analysis within this thriving subject of study. By demonstrating how the EU supports effective multilateralism and global governance as well as furthering developments within foreign policy, this volume adopts a novel perspective on the EU as an international player. Seeking to move the focus of study beyond the European Union as itself an international organization, contributors set out to demonstrate EU aspirations to act within international organizations. The volume's key features include the first comprehensive study on this topic, eight case studies of the EU including its role within the UN, WTO, NATO and the ICC, contributions from both internationally renowned political scientists and economists. The European Union and International Organizations will be of vital interest to students and scholars of international relations, European Politics, Political Science and International Organisations. It will also be of interest to a wider readership including policy makers, diplomats and journalists.

The European Union and South Asia Dr Rajendra K Jain, 2015-02-15. Despite a long historical experience of cultural, economic, political and social interaction with Europe, South Asia has never been a region of frontline policy for the European Union, which has gradually emerged as the largest trading partner of most South Asian economies, a major contributor of developmental aid and home to a large diaspora, mostly in the United Kingdom. Containing nine chapters by emerging and leading scholars in the field, this volume critically examines the motivations, objectives and impact of the European Union's development cooperation, economic and foreign policy towards South Asia. It raises and seeks to answer questions like: What role can the EU play in easing tensions between India and Pakistan in times of crisis? Is there an official EU policy regarding Kashmir or the challenge of terrorism? What is the nature and prospects of the India-EU strategic partnership? The book explores the European Union's concerns and policies towards fostering democracy in the region It assesses the crisis management capabilities of the EU in Afghanistan its role in conflict resolution in Sri Lanka and the patterns characteristics and challenges confronted by the South Asian diaspora in the United Kingdom The study will be of interest to all those engaged in the fields of political science international relations European politics and foreign policy and Indian and South Asian foreign policy

The European Union and Emerging Powers in the 21st Century Sven Biscop, 2016-02-11 The emergence of new powers fundamentally questions the traditional views on international relations multilateralism or security as a range of countries now competes for regional and global leadership economically politically technologically and militarily As the focus of international attention shifts from the Atlantic to the Pacific the European states in particular are seen to lose influence relative to the emerging economic powerhouses of China Russia India and Brazil European nations find themselves too small to engage meaningfully with these continent sized powers and in an increasingly multipolar world are concerned their influence can only continue to decline This book analyses the shifts in the structure of global power and examines the threats and opportunities they bring to Europe Leading European Contributors reflect on how the EU can utilise collective strength to engage and compete with rapidly developing nations They examine perceptions of the EU among the emerging powers and the true meaning and nature of any strategic partnerships negotiated Finally they explore the shape and structure of the international system in the 21st century and how the EU can contribute to and shape it

The European Union's Africa Policies Daniela Sicurelli, 2016-12-05 The European Union EU is a key partner for African regional organizations and a major promoter of economic and political integration in the region Several studies have interpreted the EU's role in Africa as either a self interested hegemonic actor or as a value oriented normative power In this volume Daniela Sicurelli challenges these views by taking a closer look at Europe's policies towards Sub Saharan Africa in the area of peacekeeping trade and development and environmental protection Using fresh empirical evidence including interviews with both European and African officials she argues that the EU is far from becoming a unitary player in Africa Lacking a clear strategy and coherent normative framework the EU should be considered a multi level actor where national and supranational institutions have different interests and push forward contrasting views of what role Europe should play in Africa The ability of single institutions to frame an issue as requiring either intergovernmental or supranational procedures appears crucial for shaping the content of European Africa policies An original contribution to the growing literature on the EU as an international actor this book is extremely useful to scholars researchers and policy makers demanding critical work in the field of EU Africa policy
