Mayfield, 2012-11-14 Have you ever wondered 1 Who built the Pyramids of Egypt and who are their descendents today 2 Why does the author challenge the great Greek historian Herodotus by auguring that Egypt is more a gift from the Fellahin than a gift of the Nile 3 What great event happened in the early 1960s that completely changed the life of the peasants of Egypt 4 Why did the peasants fellahin of Egypt not engage in a massive revolt in the 1990s when the Government allowed landowners to reclaim their land that the peasants had been cultivating for over 30 years 5 Do you know the story of the village of Dinshaway that precipitated a national crisis and that eventually forced Great Britain to leave Egypt after over fifty years of colonial rule 6 Are the villagers of Egypt prone to violence or to submissiveness and what does that tell us about the future of Egypt 7 Which farmers in the world have the highest yields in wheat rice and corn 8 Are the villagers of Egypt favorable to the Islamic extremist or more favorable to some form of democracy based upon moderate Islam 9 Where do villagers say they want to live if they could live any place in the world 10 Why did a friend email the author

hagiographies the Life of Antony the Life of Paul the Hermit and the Life of Mary of Egypt in conjunction with Gloria Anzald's ideas about the US Mexican borderlands la frontera Mena shows readers how descriptions of the desert in these texts are replete with spaces and inhabitants that render the desert a borderland or frontier space in Anzald's terms As a borderland space the desert functions as a device for the creation of an emerging identity in late antiquity the desert ascetic Simultaneously the space of the desert is created through the image of the saint Literary critical religious studies and historical methodologies converge in this work in order to illuminate a heuristic tool for interpreting the desert in late antiquity and its importance for the development of desert asceticism Anzald's theories help guide a reading especially attuned to the important relationship between space and subjectivity

The Struggle for Freedom from Fear Alison Brysk, 2018-08-08 How can we understand and contest the global wave of violence against women In this book Alison Brysk shows that gender violence across countries tends to change as countries develop and liberalize but not in the ways that we might predict She shows how liberalizing authoritarian countries and transitional democracies may experience more shifting patterns and greater levels of violence than less developed and democratic countries due to changes and uncertainties in economic and political structures Accordingly Brysk analyzes the experience of semi liberal developing countries at the frontiers of globalization Brazil India South Africa Mexico the Philippines and Turkey to map out patterns of gender violence and what can be done to change those patterns As the book shows gender violence is not static nor can it be attributed to culture or individual pathology rather it varies across a continuum that tracks economic political and social change While a combination of international action law public policy civil society mobilization and changes in social values work to decrease gender violence Brysk assesses the potential limits and balance of these measures Brysk shows that a human rights approach is necessary but not sufficient to address gender violence and that insights from feminist and development approaches are essential
