Reading Time in Music Sarah Cash,2023-03-27 In this book Sarah Cash examines the intersection of music and temporality in British literature of the long nineteenth century The sound spaces created at these intersections function as antimimetic resistance to hegemonic structures Through its temporal multiplicity music resonates in excess of linear time revealing a metaphoric soundedness in the text that subverts reader expectation and reveals how seemingly realist nineteenth century novels transgress the limitations of their classic narratological structures In even the most apparently realist texts the most extravagant excessive and hyperbolic elements exceed the bounds of what we often consider real disrupting mimetic bias Cash argues that music offers the most dynamic way to expose this vexed temporality in the text Through scholarly intervention a disruption of historic classifications show that Victorians are heirs of Romanticism s musical ideals including the power of music to penetrate and transform space and time and the permanence of sound as it reverberates beyond human perception Scholars of nineteenth century literature temporality and gender studies will find this book of particular interest
