Trade-related Agricultural Policy Analysis David Orden, 2015 Trade Related Agricultural Policy Analysis brings together several aspects of agricultural policy analysis in an international context A unique dimension of this book is a focus not on traditional border measures tariffs quotas and export subsidies or restrictions but on behind the border measures that reflect the political economy of agriculture as a primary sector in context of its historical roots and relevant issues within each country Macroeconomic policies interact with agricultural prices and trade and thus with farm support programs There is an intense political economy of agricultural policy in the United States as set in recurring farm bills This recurring legislation has direct effects on world markets and indirect effects by setting the conditions and tone for international negotiations Policy interventions directed at agriculture do not occur in isolation so their impacts have to be weighed against one another Moreover seeking an open global trading system for agricultural and food products has to be balanced with some public good regulation to ensure health and safety as products cross borders Each of these issues is explored in several chapters of this volume

The Fault Lines of Farm Policy Jonathan

Coppess, 2018-12-01 At the intersection of the growing national conversation about our food system and the long running debate about our government's role in society is the complex farm bill American farm policy built on a political coalition of related interests with competing and conflicting demands has proven incredibly resilient despite development and growth In The Fault Lines of Farm Policy Jonathan Coppess analyzes the legislative and political history of the farm bill including the evolution of congressional politics for farm policy Disputes among the South the Great Plains and the Midwest form the primordial fault line that has defined the debate throughout farm policy's history Because these regions formed the original farm coalition and have played the predominant roles throughout this study concentrates on the three major commodities produced in these regions cotton wheat and corn Coppess examines policy development by the political and congressional interests representing these commodities including basic drivers such as coalition building external and internal pressures on the coalition and its fault lines and the impact of commodity prices This exploration of the political fault lines provides perspectives for future policy discussions and more effective policy outcomes
