Eyes On The Land:

The Colonisation of Land Colin Little, 1983-12-15 The book traces the ways in which terrestrial animals have evolved from aquatic ancestors and discusses the means by which they are adapted to life on land The most important physiological adaptations are those involving salt and water balance the excretion of nitrogen reproductive mechanisms and the sense organ and these are given priority Evidence from fossil history is combined with that from the ecology and physiology of present day species to assess the probable routes along which various evolutionary lines had moved on to land Individual chapters are concerned with specific animal groups and emphasis is placed on comparisons of physiological mechanisms between closely related animals before attempting wider generalisations The book closes with a brief account of the recolonisation of the sea and fresh waters by terrestrial animals In Story-land Elizabeth Harrison, 1903 Collected papers Gladwyn Kingsley Noble, 1925 Distributed Vision Elke Buschbeck, Michael Bok, 2023-03-28 This volume explores the diversity of distributed eyes and other unusual visual systems in nature It compares the unique themes of optics neural processing and behavioral control that emerge from these visual systems with more canonical eyes This volume attempts to answer a number of questions about distributed visual systems What are distributed visual systems good for how do they function and why have they arisen independently in so many phyla Why are eye designs and visual system arrangements much more diverse in invertebrates Each chapter includes an overview of the visual systems that exist in their group of animals relates vision to ecology and takes a comparative approach A Spider's World Friedrich G. Barth, 2013-03-09 Spiders are wonderful creatures Their varied and complex range of behavior and highly developed sensory systems are excellently adapted to the environmental conditions as is proven by their evolutionary success Over 400 million years spiders have developed their sensory organs to a fascinating technical perfection and complexity In his intriguing book Professor Friedrich G Barth puts this technical perfection into the context of biology in which the interaction between environment and sensory organs and the selectivity of the senses as a link between environment and behavior play a major role Unity, 1898 The Voice of April-land Ella Higginson, 1903 New Land Otto Neumann Sverdrup, Per Schei, 1904 ????? John Minford, Joseph S. M. Lau, 2000 Presents translations of two thousand years of Chinese literature from its beginnings to the Tang Dynasty in the tenth century Proceedings of the Philological Society Philological Society (Great Britain), 1854 Eye Tracking in Second Language Acquisition and Bilingualism Aline Godfroid, 2019-10-31 Eye Tracking in Second Language Acquisition and Bilingualism provides foundational knowledge and hands on advice for designing conducting and analysing eye tracking research in applied linguistics Godfroid's research synthesis and methodological guide introduces the reader to fundamental facts about eye movements eye tracking paradigms for language scientists data analysis and the practicalities of building a lab This indispensable book will appeal to undergraduate students learning principles of experimental design graduate students developing their theoretical and statistical repertoires
