It is difficult to exaggerate Louis Bouyer's contribution to Catholic theology and his behind-the-scenes role in certain important twentieth-century events in the life of the Church. A French convert from Lutheranism, a priest of the Oratory, an expert on Scripture, liturgy, the history of spirituality, Newman ecclesiology, and Reformation theology, and a twice-appointed member of the International Theological Commission, Bouyer was a man of immense theological vision and profound depth of knowledge and insight. He was both a major theological contributor to the renewed vision that led to the Second Vatican Council and a staunch critic of its misunderstanding in the decades that followed it. Bouyer recounts the story of his life and learning, the people, places, events, and ideas that shaped his profoundly Catholic life. He tells of his relationships and encounters with such theological and Church notables as Yves Congar, Jean Danielou, Henri de Lubac, Joseph Ratzinger (later Pope Benedict XVI), Hans Urs von Balthasar, and Karl Rahner. A disciple of the Lord and a man of great love for the Church, he often writes with parrhesia.

pastoral frankness and wit about the shortcomings of Catholic institutions and life especially with respect to changes undertaken in the name of reform but which did not truly partake of the sources of the Church's life and mission About the writing of his memoir Bouyer said In the pages that follow what I would like to recall is what on final or undoubtedly very nearly final reflection seems to me to have the most meaning I hope that those who read them and especially my friends both known and unknown for a writer are not many of these latter often among the closest will also draw some profit from them perhaps more than I do myself I hasten to add that the entertainment that these pages could at least I hope provide them is an integral part in my eyes of that potential profit For it is a too little known but to me unquestionable fact that Providence has a great and of course the best sense of humor
